BANDIT BRUTALLY ATTACKS WOMAN

SAVED BY QUICK ACTION OF ESCORT; ASSAILANT FLEES

Miss Betty Bateman of Orange is said to be in a serious condition from shock as the result of a brutal attack made upon her by a bandit who attempted to assault her after he had held up and robbed her companion, Dr. F. Greenberg, an optometrist, of East Fourth street. The attack was made while they were driving through Elysian Park late last evening.

Police officers of Lincoln Heights Division, after receiving report of the robbery and attempted assault, immediately searched the various roads throughout the park in an endeavor to capture the assailant.

Miss Bateman was perhaps saved from serious injury, the police stated, by the quick action of Dr. Greenberg when the latter, after being driven away by the bandit with a revolver, returned and fought the man. According to the police report, Dr. Greenberg and Miss Bateman were ordered to handover their valuables. Miss Bateman had nothing with her. The doctor had $3.

Enraged at the meager haul, the bandit ordered Dr. Greenberg to walk away. When he had gone a short distance, the bandit attacked Miss Bateman, knocking her down and tearing off her clothing. It was then Dr. Greenberg returned. She fainted as he reached her side.

Avoiding the doctor as the latter stooped to help Miss Bateman, the bandit jumped in the doctor's car and drove hurriedly away. Dr. Greenberg managed to take Miss Bateman to the Barlow Sanatorium near by and telephoned for police aid.

The bandit, according to the police description, is an American about 25 years of age, five feet eight inches in height, weighs about 180 pounds, and wore a long black overcoat and dark cap.

"WE ARE THROUGH" ADMISSION MADE BY CHURCH'S ATTORNEYS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 2.—"We are through," said the attorneys of Harvey W. Church, double murderer, this afternoon when Federal Judge Carpenter refused a writ of habeas corpus. Frantic telegrams were then sent to Gov. Small, who had left Springfield. He was located tonight at Kankakee, but declined to have anything further to do with the case.

Church's attorneys contemplated asking the United States Supreme Court to intervene, but instead decided late tonight to make one last desperate appeal to Judge Scanlan to grant a further stay of ten days.

The Illinois Board of Pardons and every other body that could possibly interfere with the hanging, had been appealed to in vain. The public is reported anxious that the murderer of Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl O. Ausmus pay the penalty for his atrocious crimes. So, unless Judge Scanlan grants another stay, Church will pay the penalty for his crimes tomorrow afternoon.

PUBLIC FEELING HIGH.

Public feeling rose to a high point when Gene Geary, a notorious killer with three shocking murders against him, escaped the noose via the "insanity" dodge and now is laughing at the law, secure in comfortable quarters in the "paper jail" at Chester, Ill. Then came the extreme efforts to save the neck of Carl O. Wanderer, who slew his girl wife, her unborn baby and a stranger. Following this, extraordinary efforts were put forth to save Frank Lligenal, who murdered his wife because she would not support him. Almost on top of these came the "escape" of "Terrible Tommy" O'Connor, who is still at large and laughing at the law and the relatives of the men he slew. Unusual efforts have been put forth to save the neck of Church. His parents have been praying that he might die in jail before the day of executive and he did attempt to starve himself. However, he has been forcibly fed and is in good physical condition.

PORTO RICO POT BOILS.

Gov. Reily is Denounced by Resident Commissioner in Heated Debate.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Felix Cordova Davila, Resident Commissioner of Porto Rico, declared in the House today that Gov. Reily "is a thief, and knows he lies," if he denied that his official act as Governor of the island was the vetoing by an illegal act of the Legislature by which the Commissioner was to have received $20,000 in added salary during a four-year term of office.

The flare-up over the row between the Governor and some of the residents came at the conclusion of an hour's speech by Mr. Davila, who sits as a delegate in the House. In his speech the Commissioner demanded a Congressional investigation of the Governor's conduct, looking to his removal from office. He presented a series of charges and told how the people had appealed to the retiring administration "for relief from Reily methods."

PERSONAL ANIMOSITY.

Taking the floor in Gov. Reily's behalf, Representative Tincher, (Rep.), Kan., threw the House into turmoil by charging that Mr. Davila's animosity was personal and that the Governor had stopped the latter's hand before he could take $20,000 from the treasury. Instantly denying the charge, Mr. Davila vainly sought a chance to speak. He was cut off by the expiration of his allotted time, but

Compromise Bill in Favor.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A compromise soldiers' bonus plan under which the cash feature would be eliminated where the former service men would be entitled to more than $50 adjusted service pay, was agreed upon today, tentatively, but unanimously, by a special subcommittee of the Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee.

In the nature of a substitute for the eliminated cash feature there would be added to the adjusted service certificate title, a provision which would enable the men selecting the certificate option to obtain immediately from banks a loan equal to one-half of the adjusted service pay to which they would be entitled on the basis of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for overseas service.

SUCCESS PREDICTED.

In announcing the compromise agreement, Chairman Fordney said it probably would be a week before all details of the loan provision could be worked out and the original bill amended to conform to it. He expressed the opinion that the plan would be so well received by House members generally that it would not be necessary to submit the new bill to a party conference, thus speeding up the time of its submission to the House. For the first time since the Ways and Means Committee majority began consideration of the bonus problem, an official statement of what happened behind the closed doors was issued. It was prepared by Chairman Fordney and Representative Howley of New York, and said:

"The subcommittee consisting of Chairman Fordney, Messrs. Green, Longworth, Hawley, Treadway and Copely has tentatively agreed upon and prepared a provision to be submitted, which in substance is as follows:

"The elimination of the cash feature of the bonus bill wherein the veterans are entitled to more than $50 adjusted service pay, but adding a new loan provision to the adjusted service certificate title, which will enable holders of such certificates to borrow from any national bank, or bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of any State, 50 per cent of the sum of the adjusted service pay prior to Sept. 30, 1925. This date was fixed because, after that time, the bill as originally drafted by the committee provides for a larger percentage of loan by the government and has not been changed by the subcommittee."

Chairman Fordney and other committeemen said they believed the new plan would meet with general favor, in and out of Congress, for three reasons. They were summarized as follows, in a formal statement issued by Representative Green of Iowa, ranking Republican on the committee:

"(1.) The needy veteran can obtain money as soon as his certificate is issued, and in greater amount than is provided by the cash plan of the original bill.

"(2.) No large drafts to be made on the treasury until the expiration of three years.

"(3.) No new taxes required."

Word went around House members that the compromise plan was acceptable both to President Harding and to officers of the American Legion, and late in the day after there had been informal exchanges of views among members in cloakrooms and corridors, it was said that apparently a strong sentiment in favor of the new proposal was developing.

TO EXPAND CREDITS.

Representative Gardner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee, said that while there probably would be some opposition from the Democratic side, it was his opinion that a majority of the Democrats would support the amended bill. He thought the loan feature would tend to expand credits to the extent of half a billion dollars, and thus result in some increase in the cost of living during the expansion period.

SACRAMENTO WOMAN SLAIN.

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Mrs. Emma Rust, 38, a wealthy widow of this city, was shot and killed tonight by Earl Clark, 24, a crippled elevator operator, according to the police. After firing two shots into the woman's body, Clark went to a rear bedroom and sent a bullet through his own brain.

YOUNG MURDERER IS PUT TO DEATH.

OSSINING (N. Y.) March 2.—George McCormick, 21 years old, murderer of his chum, Edward Shannon, whom he killed in New York after a quarrel over a $5 bet, was put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison tonight. He prayed audibly as the current was turned on. The condemned man steadfastly refused to permit his mother and brother to visit him in the death house.

GIRL CHOIR SINGER IS SHOT.

PORTLAND (Or.) March 2.—Mrs. Williamene Fuller, 17, a member of St. Stephens Pro-Cathedral choir, was shot and supposedly wounded tonight at the church by a masked man who entered while the choir was practicing, ordered its members to put their hands up and then fired without waiting for them to do it. The man fled the building and escaped.

ROPE READY FOR CROOK

Report O'Connor is Taken.

Criminal Who Escaped from Cook County Jail Said to be in Toils.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 2.—"Lucky Tommy" O'Connor is reported to have fallen into the hands of a country policeman in Oskaloosa, Iowa.

A flash from the Chief of Police of the Iowa town reports that a freight-car vagabond whom they believe to be the missing O'Connor is being held there for identification. He is said to resemble "Tommy the Immune," even to a scar above his left eye and a limping walk. The man himself claims his name is John Clark and his home Detroit.

Chicago police have sent copies of O'Connor's Bertillon measurements and are awaiting verification. This is the second time that the man who escaped from the Cook County Jail just four days before he was to have been hanged is reported to have been seen in Iowa. Two months ago he was believed to have been the bandit who held up a railway train near Hawarden, Iowa.

SLIPPED OFF CAR.

The man whom the Oskaloosa police are holding slipped off the "blind baggage" of a Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific passenger train Monday night as it neared Oskaloosa, bound from Des Moines. Trainmen, noticing the resemblance, notified the authorities. They arrested the suspect a short distance from town. He was nearly exhausted from cold and carried no weapons.

He is said to fit closely the description of "Tommy the Immune," which was sent broadcast by the local police, following his sensational escape from murderers' row. Among his effects was a torn calendar on which the date, December 14 was marked. O'Connor was scheduled to hang December 15 for the murder of Detective Sergeant Patrick O'Neill.

RIDING THE "BLIND."

That "Tommy" was riding the "blind" on the Iowa train is logical, in view of the reports that have come in consistently since his escape three months ago that he has been seen here and there on freight trains plying through Northwestern Iowa, Northeastern Nebraska and the southern tip of South Dakota. Oskaloosa is about fifty miles distant from Des Moines.

"Tommy" was originally captured before his trial that led to the death sentence while trying to hold up a train singlehanded in St. Paul on July 14. He escaped from jail with three comrades by using a pistol which had been

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON March 2.—The political crisis projected by the Prime Minister yesterday has made no progress toward solution, and nobody ventures a prediction as to how it will be solved. It is less a personal conflict between Mr. Lloyd George and Sir George Younger, leader of the Conservative secessionists, than a symptom of the struggle on the part of the three principal political parties, Conservative, Liberal and Labor, to abandon the coalition system, which is generally considered to have outlived its usefulness, and get back to the old party system.

In this struggle, Mr. Lloyd George occupies a somewhat anomalous position, inasmuch, although head of the government, he has no direct control of the party funds or the electoral machinery, since he is the accepted leader of neither the Conservative nor the Liberal party, each wing of the coalition having retained its own party machinery.

YOUNGER CONTROLS FUNDS.

Sir George Younger is chairman of the Unionist organization, which controls the party funds, and represents the whole Conservative party of the country. He was appointed to that position by Andrew Bonar Law, who, although he retired from the leadership of the House of Commons on account of ill health, is still titular leader of the Conservative party as a whole. Younger, therefore, cannot be dethroned except by a vote of the whole party, and if he elects to stand firm, will continue to control the party's funds.

The revolt includes about fifty of the "die-hard" members of the House of Commons, but it has the sympathy of a great number of the other Conservative members and their following in the country. Presumably, therefore, the crisis will continue until a meeting of the whole Conservative party is held.

SEEK TO WITHDRAW.

Sir George Younger and his adherents are credited with being fully aware that they stand no chance at present with the electorate, but would prefer to be in opposition rather than continue an arrangement in which they are powerless to advance their own policy in the coalition. On the other hand, the ministers, both Conservative and Liberal, are anxious to maintain the coalition government in power, because they consider there is little prospect of the government being returned to power in the event of dissolution and election.

Much is held to depend upon whether the Conservative statesmen, A. J. Balfour, Lord Birkenhead and Austen Chamberlain, will be able to exert sufficient pressure on the Youngerites to mend the schism in the party. If they cannot, it is believed certain that the Prime Minister will resign, leaving the Conservatives to form a government. Probably Mr. Chamberlain would head such an administration, because Mr. Balfour is supposed to be content with the laurels brought from Washington and would not seek another Premiership under such precarious conditions.

DISSOLUTION IMMINENT.

While a new Conservative administration, thus formed, was engaged in clearing up the legislative business of the parliamentary session, Mr. Lloyd George would be free to devote himself to the work of forming a national party of Centrist-Liberal complexion. Whether he could regain his former ascendancy in the Liberals or would be compelled to form a new party from the moderate elements in both conservative and liberal ranks is a theme of keen speculation.

While everything is yet in the realm of speculation, there is one indication tonight of the swift approach of either dissolution or some new development. It is announced that the King has accepted the resignation of Lord Trevethin (formerly Sir Alfred T. Lawrence) from the office of Lord Chief Justice. Lord Trevethin was appointed to this position only a year ago. The natural successor to the Chief Justiceship at that time was Sir Gordon Haw-

Buttermilk and Irish Stew Diet Why They Fight

BOSTON, March 2.—Too much buttermilk and Irish stew with a preponderance of vegetables over meat is responsible for the fighting Irish nature, according to Dr. Martin Edwards, who spoke before the Boston University School of Theology on "Diets."

Dr. Edwards said that for many years the peasants of Ireland had lived largely on vegetables, potatoes and buttermilk, while most of the meat and eggs produced were sent to England. He declared that the British diet, heavy with proteins, was responsible for the English characteristics.

MARY VICTOR IN COURT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—The verdict reached last night by the jury which tried the claim of Mrs. Cora Clara Wilkenning that Mary Pickford owed her $108,000 in contract commissions was opened today. The foreman pave: Mary won; Douglas Fairbanks cheered and Mary's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, who had passed a sleepless night, beamed proudly.

News of the verdict came over a telephone from the Federal court. Mary was perched on top of a wardrobe trunk, her husband was walking up and down, puffing cigarettes, and Mrs. Pickford was in an adjoining room endeavoring to sleep.

Mary awaited the verdict in the fetching gown of her "trial wardrobe." It was a symphony in dark velvet, with here and there the crashing note of turkey red silk in the sleeves at the cuffs of the full-length sleeves, supplemented by cuffets of ecru lace. A row of the flaming ribbon, with the narrow streamers reaching to the waist, topped the ecru lace of the gown's neck. Scattered over the skirt of the gown were turkey red silken designs in what Mary called "a Chink laundry ticket" pattern.

Mary after a "celebration" over the verdict for the benefit of the reporters and camera squad, Mary talked about Hollywood morality. She is unfortunate that the Taylor case should have happened

NEW PARTY IN MEXICO.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The formal organization March 1 of the Great Liberal Party in Mexico, which will seek to eliminate obstacles to American recognition, probably will have no immediate effect on the policy of the Obregon administration, it was stated today at the Mexican Embassy. Just if the new party secures popular support for which it is bidding, amendments to the constitution of the republic may be effected, even during the life of the present administration.

The fact that the new party is not hostile to President Obregon and that its leader, Fernando Iglesias Calderon, is one of the most intimate friends of the Mexican executive, was emphasized today by Senor Don Manuel C. Tellez, charge d'affaires of the Mexican Embassy.

The platform of the Great Liberal Party, just made public, provides for a moderate policy between the conservative constitution of 1857 and the somewhat radical document adopted at Queretaro in 1917.

If the new party comes into power it will carry into effect certain changes in the present organic law with regard to the ownership of lands within the republic by foreigners and the regulation of labor. One plank is the declaration in favor of absolute freedom in the exercise of religious worship.

"So far as the State is concerned," it declares, "all religious denominations, of whatsoever faith, should be placed on a basis of serene equality."

The founders of the Gran Partido Liberals, as it is called officially in Mexican, proposes, if it is placed in power, to eliminate all obstacles which now stand in the way of recognition by the United States government. Recognition must be secured, they assert, not only for the betterment of foreign relations generally, but in order to remove causes of internal disaffection and strife.

FUEL BINS FILLED BY INDUSTRIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 2.—In anticipation of a coal strike April 1, the railroads, the gas and electric utilities and some large industries are filling up the fuel bins. A sixty to ninety days' supply is being stored up by utilities in general throughout the Middle West.

Coal operators appear to regard the strike as a certainty. Secretary Hoover has for weeks been saying the stage is all set for a great industrial struggle; the miners themselves seem to regard the strike as inevitable unless there is government intervention. Fuel experts who have been scouting over the country for large consumers to learn the actual situation, report a prevalent belief that if the strike comes it will last at least until the beginning of August. It is on this basis that many wise virgins are filling their lamps.

Dealers report that among ordinary industrial consumers, orders are much smaller than looked for. Some declare if they run out of fuel they will close up their plants for a time. Dealers say that ordinary manufacturers in general are averse to storing up coal when mine prices and freight rates may come down before many months.

Meanwhile more than 60,000,000 tons of fuel, hard and soft coal and coke, are in storage, or about a seven weeks' supply at the current rate of consumption. Counting upon what can be produced in the nonunion fields, experts estimate the country would not feel any real fuel pinch until August or September, unless industry should hit up a fast clip during the summer.

WOMEN PERISH IN FIRE.

WAUPIN (Wis.) March 2.—Three women employees of the C. H. Shaller Vulcanizing Company perished here tonight when the entire plant was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at more than $300,000. The fire followed an explosion in the punch press room, and in less than five minutes after the blast, the entire building was a mass of flames.

MADSEN QUITS HIS JOB.

Governor's Private Secretary to Become Head of New Oakland Corporation.

OAKLAND, March 2.—Martin Madsen, private secretary to Gov. Stephens, has resigned that position to become general manager of the East Bay Corporation, which is erecting a large free market here. Norman De Vaux, head of the corporation, announced today. The resignation will be effective "within a month," De Vaux said.

De Vaux is former superintendent of the Chevrolet Motor Company factory here. The corporation will later engage in enterprises other than the free market and Madsen will have a directing share in these new enterprises, De Vaux said.

CONFIRMS ANNOUNCEMENT.

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Announcement made in Oakland today that Martin C. Madsen, secretary to Gov. Stephens, would resign to become general manager of the East Bay Corporation, was confirmed by Madsen in a statement issued tonight. The resignation will be effective within a few days, it was stated.

Madsen's statement in part follows:

"I am terminating more than eight years of service as a Governor's secretary. I have received an offer in a private enterprise from Mr. Norman De Vaux of Oakland. Such an opportunity comes seldom in one's lifetime and when it beckons the decision must be made. I have reached an age when I must make the endeavor to obtain a measure of the world's goods and, in justice to my family, I cannot refuse to accept Mr. De Vaux's proposal.

"I am leaving in ample time for Gov. Stephens to make such readjustment as may be necessary in preparing for the State campaign, in the event of his candidacy for re-election. Of that result there can be no doubt. His re-election would be assured.

"I indeed have regrets at leaving the public service, for it is very attractive. To be exact, I have given just eight and one-half years to it. I am made to realize, however, that there can be no permanent career in it, and that it is high time I avail myself of a business opportunity."

FOUR-POWER PACIFIC PACT FIGHT STARTS.

Hitchcock Declares Against Treaty in Senate, Following Dinner Powwow With Leaders.

BY GRAFTON S. WILCOX.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Opposition to the four-power Pacific pact grew more formidable today following an important powwow of Democratic chieftains at a dinner given by Joseph P. Tumulty last night to ex-Gov. Cox of Ohio, Democratic Presidential nominee in 1920.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking Democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee, who led the fight in the Senate in favor of the League of Nations, and who participated in last night's conference, rose in the Senate this afternoon and declared against the four-power pact.

His action created something of a stir, because heretofore, he had been counted as one of the friends of the treaty. In the course of the debate Senator Jones of New Mexico, Democrat, also classed as a supporter of the pact, heretofore, indicated that he would join the opposition.

PREDICT CONVERTS.

With these and other reported additions to their ranks, the anti-treaty forces, believed they had within three votes of enough to defeat the pact, and they predicted further converts. Thirty-three votes are necessary for rejection, and the opposition votes now number about thirty, according to anti-treaty leaders. Half a dozen or more Senators are listed as doubtful.

Administration leaders insist that the Democratic revolt will lose, rather than gain, in strength, and maintain there is no serious danger of rejecting the four-power pact or any other conference treaty.

Only four Republican Senators, Borah, Johnson, La Follette and France, are committed to the reservation, and Republican stalwarts are confident that there will be no further defections. This means that Senator Underwood, the Democratic leader, must deliver only eight votes to assure the ratification of the pact.

The Pacific treaties came in for considerable discussion at the Tumulty-Cox dinner. The list of guests included A. Mitchell Palmer, former Attorney-General; Cordell Hull, Democratic National Chairman; Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska; Senator Pittman of Nevada, Senator Harrison of Mississippi, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Representative Garrett of Tennessee, Democratic leader in the House; Representative Garner of Texas, leading Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee; Judge W. F. Connelly of Michigan, ex-Gov. Folk of Missouri, G. C. Carlin of Virginia, Francis P. Garvan, former Alien Property Custodian; Daniel C. Roper, former Internal Revenue Collector and McAdoo's right-hand man; Raymond T. Baker, Director of the Mint; Arthur B. Rouse, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, and Angus McLean of North Carolina.

Mr. Cox, it was explained, just happened to be passing through Washington on his way South for a few weeks' visit. Mr. Tumulty thought it would be just the thing to have a little dinner in his honor. The dinner resulted in an exceedingly profitable exchange of ideas bearing on the issues of the approaching Congressional campaign. There were no formal speeches, but almost everyone present participated in the general discussion.

COX TO STUMP.

Mr. Cox let it be known that he was at the service of the party for stump-speaking during the coming campaign, and received grateful thanks.

One of the most significant things about the dinner was the absence of two Democratic leaders, Senator Underwood of Alabama and Senator Pomerene of Ohio, both of whom are doing their utmost to aid the Republicans in getting the four-power pact ratified.

Considering the fact that Senator Underwood is the Democratic leader in the Senate, and that Senator Pomerene is the Democratic member of the Senate from Cox's home State, their absence was the cause of some comment. Whether it indicated disapproval of their attitude in the treaty fight could not be ascertained.

"Dismantling is proceeding," said Representative Fess. "The pay roll in the Capitol alone has been reduced by the dropping from the rolls from 119,000 in 1919 to 73,000. There have been dropped throughout the entire country 136,578.

"The budget was enacted into law July 1, last, which puts an end to pork-barrel legislation. Appropriations for 1923 showed a reduction of $1,000,000,000 in the estimates submitted by a Democratic administration.

ANOTHER CUT SEEN.

"Estimated appropriations for the year 1923 are $3,853,000,000, while it is estimated by the chairman of the Appropriations Committee that this will be reduced to $2,500,000,000.

"Fixed charges such as interest on the public debt, sinking fund and veterans' bureau, all unknown before the war, total $2,000,000,000. Deducting this from the $2,500,000,000 estimated to be the aggregate appropriations for 1923, we have only $1,500,000,000 for the conduct of every activity of the government, including army and navy, which is only $250,000,000 more than the cost of the government before the war.

"If the figures I have estimated as being the cost for 1923 are developed into fact, we will be the only country in the world that is living within its revenues."

FESS TALKS EXPENDITURES.

If Estimates Are Adhered to, This Will Be Only Nation Living Within Its Revenues.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The United States will be the only government in the world living within its revenues next year if it can keep within the estimates outlined by the Republican administration, according to Representative Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, in an address to the House today.

The Harding administration, he said, which had come into office finding a public debt of $25,000,000,000, had outlined and was executing the following program:

WHERE CASH IS SAVED.

Providing guards against duplication and waste.

art, but the Premier wished to retain Sir Gordon as Attorney-General in his government.

It is unofficially announced now that he will succeed Lord Trevethin and this would involve changes in the ministry, or might be considered in some quarters as an indication of the coming end of the present government.

ABANDONS CAMPAIGN.

It is announced that the Premier's projected political campaign in the Provinces has been temporarily suspended.

The political parties antagonistic to the coalition and to the Premier are playing up the crisis liberally, while all the afternoon newspapers are featuring the crisis under such captions as "Premier's Resignation in the Balance — Developments Imminent, "Will Coalition Survive?" and "Can Unionist Leader Fulfill Premier's Demand?"

The outcome of meetings today is interestedly awaited and is expected to clarify the situation somewhat. It is believed that Mr. Balfour's influence will be largely used to smooth matters over, at least until a meeting of the Junior Constitutional Club, called for March 11, "to clear the position of the Conservative party in relation to the coalition."

NEW CHARGE MADE AGAINST LINDSAY.

ALLEGED SWINDLER PLANNED NEW CAMPAIGN, STATES OFFICIAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—Alfred E. Lindsay, under indictment for swindling wealthy women in fictitious stock transactions, was about to launch a Philadelphia campaign on the eve of his arrest. This was disclosed tonight by Richard C. Murphy, assistant District Attorney, who said his informant was Maurice Wood, proprietor of the Green Hill Farm Hotel at Overbrook, Pa., Wood told him Lindsay had engaged the hotel's most luxurious suite, apparently to be in touch with persons of means and social standing who were guests of the hotel.

In canvassing New York City with a line of jewelry that Lindsay's woman dupes said they gave him as security in bogus stock deals, the police discovered that he had pawned hundreds of valuable trinkets, also bonds and stock certificates in the name of "Al Lind." Other assumed names were used in the pawnshops, Mr. Murphy said.

Pawn tickets found in Lindsay's possession on his arrest led detectives to the stolen articles. Lindsay frankly admitted, Mr. Murphy declared, that he had pawned numerous articles belonging to his victims, even informing him that more tickets could be found in his home at Nyack, N. Y.

MOST MURDERERS GET BEST OF LAW.

ONLY SIX OF 225 ACCUSED IN COOK COUNTY GET DEATH SENTENCE.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Of 225 persons convicted of murder in Cook county (including Chicago) last year, there were only six death sentences, and one of these was allowed to escape, according to figures given by the Rev. Frederick Siedenburg of Loyola University in a speech before the Chicago Medical Society tonight.

"In the case of manslaughter," he said, "97 per cent of those accused escaped punishment."

The speaker advocated a change in legal procedure and especially in the jury system to reduce crime. "Our juries," he said, "are open to mediocre injustice and maudlin sentiment, not to mention undue influence."

LADY RHONDDA IS SEATED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 2.—The petition of Lady Rhondda to sit in the House of Lords was granted by the Committee on Privileges of the House of Lords today. If she takes the seat awarded her by this ruling she will be the first woman to sit in the upper house of the British Parliament, as Lady Astor was in the lower house.

Lady Rhondda is the daughter of Viscount Rhondda, Great Britain's wartime Food Controller, who died in 1918 from an illness brought on by overwork. His only child was the daughter, now the wife of Sir Humphrey Mackworth.

NO OPPOSITION.

After Lady Rhondda's right to the present title was established, her counsel argued that the sex disqualification removal act had clearly applied to a case like the present and that the disability existing in the past now being removed Lady Rhondda was entitled to sit in the House of Lords.

After further argument, the attorney on behalf of the crown said he raised no objection to the petition, which was therefore granted.

Lady Rhondda thus becomes the first woman to sit in the House of Lords.

Interviewed after the decision, Lady Rhondda expressed her delight that the case had gone in her favor.

"Today's decision, it is presumed, affects all the peeresses in their own right in the United Kingdom. There are twenty-three of these.

LEADING FIGURE.

Viscountess Rhondda is one of the leading figures in the world of business in Great Britain. She succeeded her father, the late Viscount Rhondda, long known as the British coal king in the direction of numerous of his large business enterprises, and herself has been alluded to as the "coal queen." She recently was listed as a member of the directorates of thirty-six companies, being chairman of several of the boards.

Lady Rhondda was especially active in business and industrial activities in connection with the war and in 1918 was chief controller of the women's recruiting service. During the fight for the ballot, in prewar days, she was a militant suffragist.

In 1915 she was a passenger on the Lusitania when the big Cunarder was torpedoed and sank, and had a narrow escape from drowning. Early this year she filed a petition in the divorce court seeking restitution of conjugal rights against her husband, Sir Humphrey Mackworth.

THREE ARE KILLED IN ACCIDENTS.

Two Are Victims of Trains, While Third is Suffocated in Mine.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TACOMA (Wash.) March 2.—Two men and one woman met violent deaths in Pierce county yesterday, trains being accountable for two tragedies and a mine accident for the other. The dead are:

A. YOUNGBLOOD, Ortling, Wash., killed by train.

T. L. BONTAG, Seattle, killed at Wilkeson, Wash.

Mrs. Erickson, 28, an inmate of the Western Washington Hospital for the Insane at Fort Steilacoom, had wandered away and was walking along the railroad tracks near Nisqually when struck. She died within a few minutes.

Youngblood, who was 95 years of age and an Indian war veteran, was instantly killed by a logging train while crossing the tracks at Orting yesterday afternoon.

Bontag, whose home is said to be in Seattle, a coke oven charger at the Wilkeson Coal and Coke Company mine, met death shortly before noon by suffocation when he was running coal down a chute from the washers. According to the Coroner the coal evidently became stuck in the chute and Bontag, climbing to the top of the bunkers to find the trouble, slipped and fell, the coal falling on top of him. He was discovered by one of the other workers who saw his feet sticking through the heap of coal.

MANY BILLS ATTACKED IN ARIZONA SENATE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, March 2.—The Senate today finished its attack upon a number of popular election provisions of the State Constitution following recommendations of seven subjects offered by the Arizona Industrial Congress. There was an amendment of the original mainly in permitting indorsement of referred measures from the Legislature by a bare majority of the votes cast on the measure. Constitutional measures on initiated bills must have a majority of the total votes cast at the election.

Senator Larson of Cochonin, Republican, spoke strongly in opposition to the changes.

A resolution that passed both Houses requests the President to cancel the order for the abandonment of Fort Apache, stating that the post is necessary to insure security to the settlers of Northeastern Arizona, who are surrounded by Indian reservations.

A memorial was introduced asking Congress to continue the War Finance Act granting loans to farmers.

A new House bill would permit session of the Superior Court anywhere in the counties, this for special benefit of Mesa, Maricopa county.

Another bill would abolish highway commissions in counties where highway improvements are to cost less than $2,000,000 and places the responsibility on the county supervisors. This would change the system in all counties except Maricopa.

Adverse report was made in the House on bills that would divert automobile license fees and the gasoline tax to the counties.

HYLAN GETS AFTER TRANSIT COMPANY.

SAYS COMPLAINTS JUSTIFIABLE; SUBWAY MENACE TO HEALTH AND MORALS.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Mayor Hylan, taking the position that complaints of congestion and insanitation in the subways are justifiable, today wrote Frank Hedley, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, that unless use was made of all available equipment so as to end the "abominable conditions," the city would resort to "severe means."

The Mayor reminded Mr. Hedley that he had admitted under oath that the company had reduced the number of trains as an economy measure, notwithstanding traffic increases. The Mayor held that the company was making a profit under the 5-cent fare.

"This trimming of service, to use your own language, is another form of trimming the public," his letter continued, "and it not only violates your contract with the city, but produces a traffic menace which is a menace to the life, health and morals of the public and the community."

SHOP FORCE INCREASED.

CUMBERLAND (Md.) March 2. Operations at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad heavy repair shop here were brought to an almost normal basis yesterday, when 200 men returned to work. Officials said improved traffic conditions necessitated the larger force.

Fraternity on Probation.

ANN HARBOR (Mich.) March 2.—The local chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was placed on probation for one year, yesterday, following investigation by the Senate committee on student affairs, University of Michigan, that drinking was permitted at a house party February 11.

READY TO HANG FAMOUS CROOK.

HOW HE ESCAPED.

"I got a shiny .32-caliber gun from a friend of 'Tommy's' and hid it in my wooden leg. Then I got back in jail again on a vagrancy charge and we passed the gun along from one prisoner to another from the old wing over to Tommy in the new jail. That's the way he got the gun to get out with."

Such was the story told by George Cassidy, alias Emmet Kane, prisoner at the Bridewell, today, in answer to questions about his part in O'Connor's escape.

Cassidy was located following a telegraphic "tip" from Stanton, Mich., that he had been instrumental in the escape. He is wanted for breaking jail at Stanton. He was questioned at the Bridewell.

FEAR OF MOBBING.

Fear of being mobbed by fellow-prisoners if he "squawked" deterred Cassidy from speaking, he said. He refused to name others in his story. He was released from jail a few days before O'Connor's escape and returned almost immediately. He got $100 for the gun, he said.

At the Bridewell Cassidy admitted he was Kane. He said he had been a constant companion of O'Connor in the jail, and that they "exercised together every day."

"I can tell the whole story and corroborate my tale by prisoners now in the jail if they will let me go," said Cassidy.

PORTO RICAN IN HOUSE TURMOIL.

was later given time to answer the Tincher allegations and shouted his denunciation of the Governor.

The Commissioner explained that several years ago the Legislature, over his published protests, passed a bill giving him $5000 a year in addition to his salary as a delegate, that he refused to accept it and so announced in the newspapers. A year later, he said, the Legislature again passed the bill which he opposed and Judge Bonner, the Auditor, held in May, 1919, that it was unconstitutional.

"That was long before President Harding's election and long before Reily was thought of as Governor of the Island," Mr. Davila explained.

"When he said it was brought to his attention and that he vetoed the bill, I am compelled to say he lies, and he knows he lies."

Mr. Tincher, interrupting the Commissioner, explained that his statement as to the veto was based on a statement in a letter over the Governor's signature. As he made this explanation, Mr. Tincher held up a letter, which members took to be from the Governor, but which was not read.

"I think it only fair that I should say this," said Mr. Tincher.

"And that of itself is enough to cause the removal of Gov. Reily," Mr. Davila shouted.

The Commissioner at the outset of his speech presented a message from President Barcelo, of the Porto Rican Senate, saying it had refused to confirm the Governor's appointments and that the Governor had made recess appointments. The resolution of the Senate asking for an investigation also was put in. There were reports that a resolution calling for an investigation would be introduced today but none was forthcoming.

AGREE ON NEW BONUS SCHEME.

compromise was described by officials as "the lesser of two evils." It was indicated that Secretary Mellon still was opposed to the enactment of any bonus legislation at this time that would cause a serious drain on the treasury, but officials said this plan would make the financing much less difficult than would have been the case under the original cash plan.

Members of the subcommittee estimated that the cash payments proposed in the case of service men, entitled to not more than $50 would total $16,000,000. To this would be added several millions in administration costs and in putting under way the three other options in the bill: Vocational training, home and farm aid and land settlement. It was stated, however, that the total would be only a drop in the bucket compared to the $300,000,000 estimate for cash payments as first proposed.

WILL DRAFT FORM.

Gov. Harding of the Federal Reserve Board was invited before the subcommittee today to discuss the proposed loan provision, and he agreed to draft a form of this plan which is expected to be ready for the subcommittee tomorrow.

Chairman Fordney, in an informal statement, said it was the purpose so to safeguard the certificates so they could not fall into the hands of pawnbrokers or "shylocks," and to restrict the banks in the amount of interest that could be charged.

There was a suggestion that the interest rate be fixed at a sum equal to the rediscount rate charged by the regional Federal reserve bank, plus 2 per cent. This is one of the details on which Gov. Harding is working. Another is the fixing of a penalty against banks charging more than the interest rate fixed in the bill.

Where banks had loaned money to the service men and the loan with interest had not been paid by Sept. 30, 1925, the banks could make a demand on the treasury for the amounts due them. The government then would take over the loan under conditions similar to those fixed in the original bill for the Federal loans to the soldiers.

LARGE ARIZONA ROAD CONTRACT AWARDED.

PORTLAND (Or.) March 2.—A $4,000,000 contract to lay 180 miles of concrete pavement in Maricopa county, Arizona, has been awarded to Twohy Brothers, contractors of Portland, according to word received here. The contract is said to be one of the largest awards of its kind ever made in the West.

SEA BOTTOM WHISKIFIED.

WASHINGTON, March 2. Florida rum smugglers hide their wares upon the bottom of the sea when Federal agents approach, high treasury officials said today, explaining the enforcement difficulties there. There are vast expanses of shoal water and practice of dumping liquor out of rum-running boats has become so common that the Florida shallows were said to have become almost carpeted with whisky.

SUBSIDY HEARINGS WILL BEGIN SOON.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Hearings on ship subsidy legislation probably will commence before the House committee on merchant marine and fisheries and the Senate commerce committee early in the week of March 13. The exact date, which may be either March 13 or 14, will be fixed within the next few days.

Members of the two committees discussed the program for consideration of the legislation at separate sessions today. Representative Greene of Massachusetts, chairman of the House committee, and Senator Jones of Washington, chairman of the Senate committee, were authorized to arrange the date of joint hearings.

The House committee on merchant marine and fisheries gave a hearing today to the bill introduced by Representative Rahn of Ohio, embodying the plan of Jacob S Coxey, Sr., of Massillon, Ohio, of Coxey's army fame, under which the government would turn over to Mr. Coxey and Theodore D. Wells, naval architect and engineer of New York, 112 idle vessels to be reconditioned under their direction, the government footing all the bills and issuing treasury notes to the amount of $40,384,000 to provide the ready cash.

Mr. Coxey informed the committee that his scheme would help to relieve unemployment as well as to promote the American merchant marine. He expressed confidence that he would be able to sell stock amounting to $50,000,000 to organize an operating company.

BANK THIEVES USE ACETYLENE TORCH.

EVERETT (Wash.) March 2.—The Oak Harbor State Bank at Oak Harbor, on Widby Island, near here, was robbed last night by thieves who cut through the vault door with an acetylene torch and obtained $700 in nickels and dimes and some securities, the total amount not yet ascertained.

SNOWSTORM DOESN'T HEAD OFF BURGLARS.

EUREKA (Kan.) March 2.—Working in a blinding snowstorm, and with the thermometer near zero, robbers early Tuesday tunneled into the vault of the Piedmont State Bank at Piedmont, twenty miles southwest of here, and stole Liberty Bonds believed to total $50,000 in value.

LARGEST HOTEL IN WORLD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 2.—Chicago is to have the largest hotel in the world. It will be known as the Stevens, will occupy an entire block and cost $15,000,000, exclusive of furnishings, which are to be obtainable.

This announcement clears up the mystery as to the purchasers of the block of land just south of the Blackstone Hotel, bounded on the north by Seventh street and facing on Michigan avenue on the east, and Wabash avenue on the west. It had been thought the land had passed to an eastern syndicate of hotel men, but the statement this evening shows it was bought by James W. Stevens, president of the Hotel La Salle Company, who paid $2,500,000 for the land. Building will be begun as soon as labor conditions are further straightened out and it is hoped to complete the structure within eighteen months.

MANY GUEST ROOMS.

The hotel will contain 3600 guest rooms as against 2200 in the Pennsylvania, New York's largest hotel, and 1928 in the La Salle, Chicago's largest.

The convention hall will seat 4000 people and the banquet hall, also to be the largest in the world, will seat 1945 persons. The exposition floor, with 55,000 square feet, will be the same size as the Coliseum. The dining-room proper will seat 1000, but can be thrown open with lounge and private dining-rooms, so as to make one dining-room, seating 3500—also the world's largest.

ITS DIMENSIONS.

The hotel will cover ground 402 by 276 feet, and will rise 260 feet, or twenty-five stories, with higher towers set back. The guest rooms will be in six wings, giving all outside windows. The Michigan-avenue frontage will be of Bedford stone and the rear will be of gray brick. The design will be modified Louis XVI.

The total cost, including the furnishings, will not fall under $25,000,000, and the new hotel will relieve the congestion in the hotels of Chicago and also provide additional convention room, which is badly needed.

There are intimations in real estate circles that two or three other great hotel projects are contemplated for the South Side, and it is regarded as certain that a mammoth new convention hall will soon be erected.

ATTACKS DRY AGENTS, GETS YEAR IN JAIL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Emil Marcelli was sentenced by Federal Judge Dooling yesterday to one year in the County Jail when convicted of having attacked with a knife Federal prohibition agents who raided the hotel where he was working. The raid took place last November and Marcelli has been in jail awaiting trial. He pleaded not guilty, declaring he thought the agents were robbers.

BANKER IS SENTENCED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MINOT (N. D.) March 2.—Judge Andrew Miller today sentenced David Ugland, former banker of Knox, N. D., to a year and a day in the Leavenworth (Kan.) Federal prison. Ugland was accused of irregularities involving around $500,000.

BEAUTY SHOPS KEEPING BUSY.

Moscow Reds Perfume and Clean Up.

Other Russ Merchants Fail to Make Salt.

High Taxes and Lack of Supplies Cause.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MOSCOW, March 3.—Russian markets lack nearly every sort of manufactured article the world can afford, unless it be artificial hair, perfumes and toilet articles. The beauty parlors seem to have adequate supplies and are doing a thriving business.

GERMAN DEBRIS.

The man who loses a collar button in Moscow is ruined. It is a tragedy when collars and shirts wear out. The odds and ends in the shops are chiefly the sizes for very small boys and giants. The neckties are patterns which German dealers couldn't sell at home.

Shopkeepers put everything attractive they have in their windows. Inquiry within always demonstrates that they have no stock in regular sizes.

Government taxes on merchants are increasing daily and the merchants add the taxes to their prices. Small notion shops on side streets in Moscow are charged 60,000,000 paper rubles a year for their licenses, which at the government rate is 600 gold rubles, or about $300.

EAGER FOR MEETING.

The news that Russia had been invited to participate in the Genoa conference came as a great relief to merchants who are having great difficulty in acquiring new stock. One merchant who formerly had a great dry-goods store in Moscow and is now running a combination shop where both old and new clothing and household effects are sold made the prediction, upon hearing of the Genoa invitation, that three months after Russia receives foreign credit it will be one of the best places in the world for merchants.

"We haven't any goods. We can't get stocks," he exclaimed, pointing to his odd assortment of wearing apparel and job ends of notions. "There are plenty of customers in Russia. All we need is stocks."

MAURICE IS TO DO TALKING NEXT TIME.

BASHFUL SWAIN WANTS RING BACK WHEN LOVE IS NOT RETURNED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Because Maurice Herschowitz let a $600 diamond solitaire do all the talking, he found himself facing his supposed fiancee Miss Sadie Nuedlman, across the bar in Justice Caffrey's courtroom today. He wanted the ring back, he said, since Miss Nuedlman had threatened to have her big brother throw him out, when he finally got his courage up to the point of asking her to name the day.

Miss Neudlman testified she had regarded Herschowitz's mute presentation at its face value — a mere gift and nothing more.

"Do you want this precious stone or this precious girl?" inquired Justice Caffrey, indicating the two treasures. "The girl," Herschowitz gulped. "And you?" asked the justice, turning to Miss Neudlman.

"Well—I'll have to think it over," she said.

Justice Caffrey gave her the romantic months of spring—until June 25, to be exact — to say whether she would accept the ring with what he held was its implied bondage.

STANDARD OF INDIANA 1921 EARNINGS LARGE.

CHICAGO, March 3.—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana made net earnings of $21,288,348 during 1921, according to the annual statement made public after a meeting of the board of directors today. The gross earnings were approximately $3,000,000 greater, the difference being used for Federal taxes and similar items.

The surplus earnings in the company's reserve fund now amount to $92,327,261, about $5,403,224 being added to the fund this year. The balance of the earnings was paid out in cash dividends to stockholders during the year, these dividends totaling approximately $15,-684,132.

N OVATICAN ORDER AGINST TORLONIA.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, March 3.—No order excommunicating Prince Marino Torlonia from the Catholic Church because of his recent duel with Count Loveatelli, a sculptor, has been issued. An ancient law of the church, which has not been abrogated, provided for the excommunication of any person engaging in a duel.

Nowadays, however, only the "black aristocracy," or persons connected with the Vatican, are restrained by the law. The branch of the Torlonia family to which Prince Marino belongs is included in the "white aristocracy."

Seattle Police Judge Frees Man Who Had Liquor in Machine.

SEATTLE, March 3.—Holding that the two police officers who seized the automobile of Edward Wyard without a search warrant February 9, acted in an unlawful manner, Police Judge Gordon yesterday dismissed the case against Wyard. Following the discovery of twenty-four quarts of liquor in the machine, Wyard was arrested. The police officers saw him carry two full gunnysacks out of a building and place them in the machine. They followed him and searched the automobile.

FAVORS LICENSING OF STOCK BROKERS.

EXCHANGE PRESIDENT OFFERS SUPPORT TO NEW YORK DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 3.—With forty-one New York stock brokers under indictment for bucketshopping or grand larceny following numerous failures in the last few weeks, W. S. Silkworth, president of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, today offered Dist.-Atty. Banton his support in obtaining legislation which would compel brokers to be licensed.

The list of Wall-street brokerage house failures climbed toward the fifty mark today.

Scott & Stump, a Consolidated Exchange house, went into bankruptcy shortly after the market opened, and a short time later Alphonse Deschamps, successor to Friedman, Markelson & Co., announced an assignment.

Friedman, Markelson & Co. recently suspended operations and the three partners were arrested on charges of grand larceny preferred by Deschamps, who also instituted civil action to recover $16,000.

Deschamps, in Montreal, had brokerage offices under the name of Deschamps & Co., and it is said that Fred Beauvais, co-respondent in the Stillman divorce case, was in his employ as office man.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy without an estimate of liabilities or assets, was filed against M. E. and J. W. Da Aguero, Broadway stock brokers.

CAPPER STATEMENT DENIED BY LEGION.

MATTER OF PROMOTION OF MAJOR PECK NEVER CONSIDERED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, March 3.—A statement attributed to Senator Arthur Capper, to the effect that the American Legion was urging the defeat of Maj. Robert G. Peck's nomination for promotion in the Army, was denied in a statement issued here today by Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the Legion. Mr. Bolles said the matter of Maj. Peck's promotion "has never been brought before the national organization, which consequently has taken no action nor expressed any opinion in the matter."

The case is said to be an outgrowth of an adverse report made by Maj. Peck, who was Inspector-General of the First Army Corps, on the conduct of the Thirty-fifth Division, composed of Missouri and Kansas National Guard troops, during the fighting in the Argonne.

SACRAMENTO GROWERS SIGN TO RAISE RICE.

WILLOWS, March 3.—There are 250,000 acres of land in the Sacramento Valley of California, adapted to rice growing, according to Ralph P. Merritt, president-manager of the California Rice Growers' Association, who was in Willows last night and today. He estimated that if these 250,000 acres were devoted to rice the product would be worth approximately $10,000,000 annually.

At a meeting of rice growers here last night, Mr. Merritt signed contracts with growers for a total of 27,000 acres of rice land. They entered into five-year contracts with the association, which, according to Mr. Merritt, has as its object, the establishment of rice growing as a permanent industry, and stabilizing production and marketing of the product.

Prisión del Rebelde N. Rodrigues.

EL PASO (Tex.) marzo 3.—El jefe rebelde mexicano, Nicolás Rodríguez, que cruzó la línea divisoria con México cerca de esta ciudad el 8 de febrero próximo pasado, a la cabeza de algunos hombres armados, fué reducido a prisión ayer por agentes del Departamento de Justicia.

Rodrigues fué encontrado en una casa del barrio mexicano, sufriendo de dos heridas de arma de fuego, calificadas de leves. Ante el Comisionado de los Estados Unidos, donde fué llevado a declaración, confesó su culpabilidad del cargo que se le hizo de conducir a pie una expedición militar en contra de un país amigo. Se le exigieron $10,000 de fianza, las que no pudo conseguir.

NOTAS LOCALES.

Piden el Reconocimiento.

En una junta que tuvo ayer el Consejo de Administración de la Cámara de Comercio, se resolvió interpelar al Presidente al Departamento de Estado, en el sentido de que se reconozca al gobierno de Obregón, de México.

La resolución da cuenta con el hecho de que, los residentes del Sur de California y territorio adyacente, consideran como necesario y conveniente estrechar las relaciones comerciales, industriales y sociales con el pueblo mexicano; que el Presidente Obregón ha demonstrado con sus actos personales y con sus decisiones administrativas, su buena voluntad hacia el Gobierno de Estados Unidos; que ha logrado restablecer el orden en la República vecina, y ha demostrado su deseo de proteger las vidas y propiedades de los ciudadanos de otros países residentes en México. Por estas razones, dicen en parte las resoluciones: "la Cámara de Comercio de Los Angeles considera oportuno el que se dé la debida consideración al reconocimiento de la República de México, representada por el gobierno de Obregón.

HOUSE TALKS OF NAVY FUEL.

Chairman Madden Believes Cut Justified.

Department Officials See Great Deficiency.

Must Keep Ships Idle Until Fiscal Year Ends.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 2. — The discussion of the amount of fuel the Navy will need for the rest of the fiscal year reached the floor of the House today when Chairman Madden of the Appropriations Committee, in opening debate on the government's second deficiency bill for the year, declared in reference to the dispute over fuel oil that this was the first time in framing the measure that naval experts had failed to raise the specter of an impending war with Japan.

Mr. Madden added that in cutting the figure for fuel oil from around $19,000,000 to $6,000,000 the committee had reached its conclusions on a basis of $1,250,000 a month which, according to one of the best men in the Navy, whose name I will not mention, will suffice."

OFFICIALS DISAGREE.

Navy Department officials, however, disagreed with this estimate, asserting that even if every ship in the Navy at home or abroad were brought to anchor immediately and kept idle until July 1, the fuel bill at the end of the year would exceed the limit the appropriations committee has proposed by at least $600,000.

It was made clear by department officials that the general order directing that all naval vessels except those in the Far East, the Near East and in Mexican and South American waters stop steaming where they are, and remain at anchor or at dock until the end of the fiscal year, could not be delayed many days without greatly increasing the probable fuel deficiency beyond the limit proposed by the House committee. Ships that will be permitted to operate under steam, if the order is issued, will be only those engaged on missions abroad to which they were sent at the request of the State Department.

MUST BE EFFICIENT.

Secretary Denby told the appropriations subcommittee that he regarded it "his trust and duty" to maintain the Navy efficiently and pointed out that the only authorization he had given for use of fuel to the fleets in connection with the spring maneuvers was that permitting the ships to run past targets in order that the crews of the guns might have actual practice with their weapons.

The department was still withholding the ship-steaming order tonight in the hope that the situation would clear itself in Congress before such action became necessary.

CANADIAN PACIFIC'S FINE SERVICE TO EUROPE

Los Angeles is now linked directly with London, Paris and Berlin. Only 11 days from Los Angeles to London and Paris—13 days from Los Angeles to Berlin. Fast and high-class service right from Chicago to the capitals of Europe—that is what the Canadian Pacific will inaugurate this spring. The railroad operating between Los Angeles and Chicago will make a direct connection at Chicago with this new service.

Only 4 days to open sea on the Canadian Pacific route to Europe is a feature which will appeal to nearly everyone who crosses the Atlantic. The Canadian Pacific takes its passengers in fast express trains from Chicago to Montreal or old French Quebec, then by steamship 2 days down the picturesque St. Lawrence River and Gulf, and only 4 days at sea—and land at Cherbourg, Southampton, and Hamburg.

The S. S. Empress of Scotland, Empress of France, and a great fleet of splendid passenger ships will be leaving and arriving on both sides of the Atlantic almost daily.

In addition to above named ports, Canadian Pacific ships will also make direct connection with Liverpool, Glasgow, and Antwerp. At the same time the Canadian Pacific Empress ships are making the fastest time across the Pacific ocean to the Orient.

There are Canadian Pacific agents all over the world, for this great transportation system spans the world.

The Canadian Pacific is represented by a number of steamship agents in Southern California, or complete sailing schedules may be obtained by writing or applying to A. A. Polhamus Canadian Steamship Passenger Agent, 605 So. Spring St., Los Angeles.

COLOMBIA DISPUTE IS ENDED.

Ratifications of Treaty Exchanged; United States Pays $25,000,000.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Ratifications of the treaty between the United States and Colombia, whereby the American government pays Colombia $25,000,000 as compensation for the loss of Panama, were exchanged yesterday in Bogota, according to advices received today by the Colombian Legation.

The exchange of ratifications brings to a close a chapter in American diplomatic history that was started in the Colombian capital April 6, 1914, when the treaty was signed in behalf of both governments.

The treaty was submitted to the United States Senate for ratification on June 16, 1914, by President Wilson. There it was pigeonholed until June 3, 1920, when it was reported back, with certain amendments. President Harding, on assuming office, recommended ratification and this was accomplished last April 20.

The United States government engages to pay to Colombia a sum of $25,000,000 gold in full accord of all claims against this government growing out of the formation of the Republic of Panama and construction of the Panama Canal. The first payment, $5,000,000, is to be made within six months after the exchange of ratifications and the remainder in four annual installments.

The treaty also provides that Colombia shall have the right to take materials of war and ships of war through the Panama Canal without charge, except in the case of war between Colombia and another power. It also is provided that Colombia's products of soil and industry, as well as Colombian mails, shall have passage through the canal on the same terms as products and mails of the United States.

Coal, petroleum and sea salt are to be taken through the canal on payment of the actual cost of handling, provided that shipments originate in Colombia and are intended for Colombian consumption.

On its part, the Republic of Colombia promises to recognize the Republic of Panama as an independent nation.

The American government pledges its good offices in having Panama dispatch an agent to Bogota to conclude with Colombia a treaty of peace and friendship and to adjust all questions of pecuniary liability as between the two countries.

MRS. FRADY, SHOT BY HUSBAND, DIES.

EXACTS PROMISE FROM HER BROTHER THAT HE WILL NOT HARM SLAYER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MIAMI (Fla.) March 2. — "I can forgive him for killing me, but I can't forgive him for the suffering he has caused me during the last five years," said Mrs. Dorothy Frady of her husband, a wealthy automobile man, just before she died today. Death came at 1:30 p.m. but before that she had made a final statement accusing her husband of having shot her, and exacting a promise from her brother, Harry C. Thompson, that he would not harm Frady.

This promise was made after she had said:

"Finally about noon he got the revolver, and although I tried to take it away from him, he shot me and then put his foot on me and shot me again while I was lying there on the floor."

"Dot," her brother said, "I am here to pay your debts."

"Don't do anything to him," she asked. "Let the law punish Edgar. We have enough trouble now without adding to it."

"All right, Dot," he promised. "If you want it that way."

But perhaps because he wanted to keep his promise, the brother was not present when Mrs. Frady died.

Meanwhile in another room was Frady. With him were several detectives. They were not there to keep him from another attempt at suicide, nor to prevent his escape, but to protect him in case Harry Thompson should forget his promise.

The shooting occurred last Sunday while the couple were in a room at a local hotel.

EUROPE'S BREWERS FEAR PROHIBITION.

MINUTES OF GERMAN-SWISS DRINK-MAKERS BRING THIS TO LIGHT.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, March 2.—Minutes which have just been published here of a recent secret convention of German and Swiss brewers disclose that the brewers admitted they feared prohibition would sweep Europe. It was decided at the convention to immediately send a representative of the brewers, Dr. Neumann, to the United States to study the effects of prohibition there and to start a campaign in the newspapers of Europe.

Dr. Koerty, president of the Swiss Anti-Prohibition Association, asserted that it was necessary for the brewery interests of the world to unite in a campaign against the antialcohol movement, and particularly to fight together against the antagonists of beer. The newspaper advertisements, he added, must represent the viewpoint of the users of the beverages, and not overestimate the beneficial effects of alcohol lest there should be a reaction against the brewing interests.

HOOVER IS HONORARY CITIZEN OF POLAND.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WARSAW, March 2.—The Polish Diet voted Herbert Hoover an honorary citizen of Poland at its opening session last night. A resolution also was adopted, praising America's help in Polish relief. This followed discussion attendant upon the matter of the relief to the Polish government.

The Wonderful Book "The World in 1931"
SPECIAL 98 cts.

In order to advertise this remarkable book and quickly bring the attention of the reading and thinking public to it we will sell to all applicants on the dates named below, "The World in 1931," clothbound, gold embossed, for 98 cents (or paper edition 59 cents). This introduction price is only made possible by the author's foregoing royalties and the book seller reducing his profit materially.

"The World in 1931" is the book of the hour. It visualizes a new social and economic order, based on the principles of cooperation and profit-sharing, which replaces the evils of our present heart, body and soul destroying capitalistic system. This book not only destroys, with the fury of an avenging angel, but it points the way to justice, peace and plenty. It reads like a romance, yet it pulsates with the power of a cyclone. Every man and woman who desires to see the dawn of a new day for themselves and their children, should read this epoch-making book.

For "The World in 1931" at special introduction price of 98 and 59 cents, call from Saturday, March 4th, to Saturday, March 25th, at any Los Angeles Book Store, or mailed until March 30th on receipt of special price, by P. K. PEARL & COMPANY, Publishers, 130 West 24th St., New York.

BATTLE OVER FREE STATE.

Statement by Churchill is Cause of Storm.

Declares Amendment Would Kill Treaty.

Bitter Speeches Are Made by Ulster Members.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 2.—The committee stage of the Irish Free State bill in the House of Commons today developed a prolonged duel between the government and the "die hards." The discussion was quiet except at one point, where Winston Churchill, who was in charge of the bill, raised a storm by declaring: "If the House should modify, extend or amplify, or otherwise change the treaty, the bill would be dead, the treaty would be dead and the government would be dead."

This caused considerable laughter, and Sir Frederick Banbury, Unionist, retorted: "In that case I must persevere with my amendment."

CRIES OF "TRAITOR."

The discussion was on the Banbury amendment, proposing to make it plain that the treaty was between Great Britain and Southern Ireland, not between Great Britain and Ireland. Mr. Churchill resisted the amendment and argued that in the negotiations with the Irish delegates the government had desired for good or ill to consider the men they were negotiating with as representing the Irish nation. This statement led to an uproar and cries of "traitor."

Bitter speeches followed from Capt. Charles Craig and other Ulster members. Capt. Craig said he hoped the House would accept the challenge of Mr. Churchill, who was trying to frighten Parliament with threats of the death of the treaty and the government.

THREAT BY DE VALERA.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, March 2.—A threat to withdraw from the Dail Eireann was made by Eamonn de Valera today when Arthur Griffith refused, as president of the Dail, to answer a question regarding the plans for the future of the Haulbowline dockyard at Queenstown on the ground that this was strictly private government work.

The effort by the Republicans to shift the meetings of the Dail to the Mansion House so the public could attend was defeated by a vote of 49 to 40. This motion was thought to indicate that Mr. De Valera's party expected a prolonged meeting of the Dail, while the Griffith supporters, on the other hand, desired to terminate the session today if possible.

Before adjourning for luncheon, the Dail formally ratified the Ard Fheis agreement in so far as it concerned the Dail and the election to be on the issue of the treaty and the constitution of the Free State.

DEMAND SUPPORT FOR WATERWAYS.

RIVERS AND HARBORS CONGRESS WANTS ADEQUATE APPROPRIATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A "demand" was made on Congress in a resolution adopted today at the closing session of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress that it approve at this session not less than the amount of money recommended by the chief of Army Engineers as necessary for improvements of national rivers and harbors. President John H. Small of Washington, N. C., who was re-elected president of the congress by unanimous vote, called attention to the fact that this is an election year, and suggested that they go to their Congressman and demand adequate support.

Maj.-Gen. Lansing H. Beach, Chief of Army Engineers, addressed the congress today, and said that, in his opinion, "you cannot get a better argument for the waterways than the attitude of the railroads toward them."

"They won't prorate," he said; "they won't issue bills of lading. It seems to me to be one of the principles of modern business to put a competitor out of the running before the consumer comes into consideration. And much that has been done by the railroads toward the waterways is simply the question of eliminating a competitor."

The congress came to an end with the election of directors for the various States and a banquet tonight at which Vice-President Coolidge presided.

HARDING PASSES CRITICAL MUSTER.

"STOOD UP ALL THE TIME WE WAS THERE," SAYS BOY; IS "SORT OF STOUT."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 2.—President Harding tonight may have the satisfaction of knowing that he passed muster after undergoing the critical gaze of five small boys who called on him in Washington last Monday with a petition from 50,000 playfellows asking him to become honorary president of the Boys' Club Federation.

"He seemed like a nice man to us," solemnly declared 15-year-old Max Eber of the East Side, one of the delegation, who returned to his school desk today, reflecting with satisfaction on the success of his mission.

"He is a big man, sort of stout, and he stood up all the time we was there, and smiled."

Confessing a slight nervousness while sitting in the White House waiting to be ushered into the President's presence, Max said:

"Soon as we went in he started smiling and as soon as we saw that and he spoke to us so nice, we got over the fears.

"When it was all over he said to me, 'Well, good-by, Max; glad I met you. And you, Wilber, and you,' and he named 'em all off and never made a mistake.

"There was other people waiting there that never got in to see the President," Max added, importantly.

FIRE AT FUNERAL SERIOUS FOR FIVE.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Five mourners around the bier of 4-year-old Angelina Zarcarese were seriously burned in the family home in Brooklyn today when the draperies on the little coffin caught fire from lighted candles. Soon the whole room was blazing. When the firemen arrived they were driven back by the intense heat and thick smoke. The bodies of the mourners lay on the floor.

Playing their hoses in front of them and stumbling through the smoke, the firemen finally were able to reach and drag to safety the five adults and rescue the charred body of the little girl from the blazing coffin.

COST OF LIVING HAS DECLINED.

Figures Are Submitted at Investigation in Chicago.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 2.—The cost of living has gone 35 to 40 per cent below the post-war peak notch in Chicago, it was testified yesterday before the Illinois Commerce Commission, which is hearing evidence on the plea for lowering street-car fares.

A large firm of retail shoe dealers testified that they paid an average of $2.85 for shoes in the spring of 1917, an average of $6 in 1920, and an average of $3.78 in 1922.

A large manufacturer of clothing gave the average of all suits manufactured by them in 1920 at $43.83, while the average sale price had dropped to $30.77 in 1922.

Similar figures were submitted for groceries, paving materials, cement and food products.

MANUFACTURES OWN LIGHTNING.

Thunderstorm Perfected by Steinmetz.

Generator is Erected After Inspiration.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SCHENECTADY (N. Y.) March 2.—Schenectady has a modern Jove who sits on his throne in a laboratory of the General Electric Company and hurls thunderbolts at will. He is Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, electrical wizard, who announced today he has succeeded in producing and controlling an indoor thunder storm with all the characteristics of its natural brother except the thunder clouds.

LIGHTNING FLASHES.

At a demonstration of his lightning generator a few days ago, the familiar forked tongues flashed through the laboratory with a deafening crash, splintered a large block of wood, hurling the fragments twenty-five feet, and ripped a miniature tree from tip to base. The bolt carried the energy of 1,000,000 horsepower—about one five-hundredths of the energy of natural lightning bolts, Dr. Steinmetz estimates—and lasted for the one hundred-thousandth part of a second.

Dr. Steinmetz hopes his apparatus will contribute largely to the development of lightning arresters, as it provides an opportunity for the study at close range of the phenomenon that Benjamin Franklin began to investigate years ago with his kite, string and key.

His experiments have convinced him, however, that there is little likelihood of man's realizing his dream of harnessing thunder bolts and making them work. Despite their tremendous energy, he says their life is so short that harnessed they would be worth only a few cents each.

"In our lightning generator, he said, "we get a discharge of 10,000 amperes at over 100,000 volts, that is, power of over 1,000,000 horsepower, lasting for a hundred-thousandth part of a second. This gives us the explosive, tearing and shattering effect of real lightning so that, for instance a piece of wire struck by the flash vanishes in dust.

"The difference between lightning energy and ordinary electric current is similar to that between a pound of dynamite and a pint of gasoline.

"The pint of gasoline contains more energy and can do more work than the pound of dynamite, but the pint of gasoline gives off its energy slowly, at a moderate rate of power, while the pound of dynamite gives off its energy explosively, all at once, at an enormous rate of power, and thereby locally tears and destroys."

RECEIVES INSPIRATION.

The inspiration to produce artificial lightning came to Dr. Steinmetz two years ago when he arrived at his summer camp on the Mohawk River to find the heavenly visitor had preceded him by a few hours and left the camp in sad disarray.

The lightning had struck a tree overhanging the camp and after tearing some of its bark, it had jumped to the camp, where it divided. One branch passed to the ground through a post, while the other tore its way through a window, jumped to the lightning circuit and made a tour of the house, splintering a screen, a looking-glass and a bed in which Dr. Steinmetz might have been sleeping, had he arrived twenty-four hours earlier.

Instead of bemoaning the damage, Dr. Steinmetz got busy with a camera, a tapeline and a note-book and collected "evidence" which he says was of inestimable value in the production of his lightning generator.

POWER IN HANDS

If he wanted to, Dr. Steinmetz said, he could cut loose an artificial lightning bolt that would do as much damage as did the one which assailed his camp. But he is content with producing one five-hundredth as much "kick." Producing the large bolt would involve great expense and the bolt would be too dangerous to observe at close quarters.

Dr. Steinmetz's generator consists essentially of a high voltage condenser in the form of 200 glass plates. These are arranged in two rows, in groups of fifty, and are capable of holding 120,000 volts of electricity.

One end of the double row of condensers corresponds to the thunder cloud in the sky, in which an electrical current is gradually stored up and increased by the conglomeration of the rain drops, as Dr. Steinmetz has shown. The other end of the condenser plates corresponds to the earth.

When the tension of the stored electric energy becomes greater than the generator will hold, the discharge takes place, the lightning flashes, the thunder rolls—represented by a loud snapping sound—and the bolt strikes.

GUARDS STRIKE; THIEVES BUSY.

Watchmen's Union Quits Work; Show Windows Are Looted.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BRESLAU, March 2.—The members of the watchmen's union, who nightly patrol the streets and guard business houses, went on strike last night. Thieves immediately became busy and carried on their activities throughout the night in a well-organized manner. They emptied show windows and robbed a number of houses.

WHEAT CONFERENCE FORMS FEDERATION.

PRACTICALLY ALL OF COUNTRY'S PRODUCING TERRITORY REPRESENTED.

DENVER, March 2.—Plans for organizing a national federation of wheat-marketing associations on the contract-pooling basis, were adopted by a conference of State associations, covering practically the entire wheat-producing territory of the United States, at a meeting here today. The new federation, to be known as the American Wheat Growers, Associated, will be placed in operation as soon as the middle western co-operative societies begin the actual selling of wheat, it was announced.

The new organization will consist of a board of directors selected by the various State organizations. It is to have control of export sales of wheat and will co-ordinate the domestic activities, arrange plans to provide finances for wheat growers, who are members of the organization, establish a statistical department and advise in the general operations of the State organizations.

Plans for the formation of the federation will be further advanced at a meeting of the organizing committee in Kansas City, Mo., March 9. Members of the organizing committee are: George C. Jewett, general manager of the Northwest Wheat Growers, Associated, Portland, Or.; W. C. Landson, representative of the public, appointed to the board of the Kansas wheat-marketing associations by the Secretary of Agriculture, and G. D. Murley, president of the Oklahoma Wheat Growers' Association.

The first action of the committee was to pass a resolution declaring at an end the antagonism, which they declared, had existed between the United States Grain Growers, Inc., and the co-operative societies of the various States.

SENATORS CONFIRM WORK NOMINATION.

[PRIVATE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Dr. Hubert Work of Colorado was nominated by President Harding today to be Postmaster-General of the United States, and his nomination was immediately confirmed by the Senate in open executive session.

Dr. Work, who is now the First Assistant Postmaster-General, will assume the office of Postmaster-General on Saturday at noon, when the retiring Postmaster-General, Will H. Hays, will leave office.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY, BROKEN OUT SKIN

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.—[Advertisement.

NAVY CIRCUS IS "GOING GOOD."

Fleet Force Show Allures Los Angeles Folk.

Brass Bands Blare, Freak Attractions Shown.

"It's going over."

Just three words, expressed last night by Henry L. Lee, director of the Chief Petty Officers' Club of the United States Navy, but they hold a world of good news to 20,000 or more sailors of the Pacific Fleet and Submarine Base at the harbor, for they mean that the big C.P.O. circus and street carnival at Los Angeles Harbor is proving a success, financially.

TO BUILD CLUBHOUSE.

Launched Wednesday night for the purpose of raising $100,000 for the construction of a recreational building at the harbor for the sailors of the fleet and sponsored by the city mothers of Los Angeles, the show got away to a good start, thousands of Los Angeles folks journeying to San Pedro to take in the sights and spend a little money where it will do a world of good for the sailors.

Harbor Boulevard, from Fifth street to First street, took on a gala appearance Wednesday, hundreds of tents, side shows and concessions of every description lining both sides of the thoroughfare and electric lights, gaudy bunting and the blare of brass bands from the ships in the harbor giving the big crowds a rousing welcome.

CHAMBER FOLK ATTEND.

Last night was Chamber of Commerce night at the circus and carnival and more than three score officials and members of the Los Angeles chamber journeyed to the harbor and joined forces with chamber of commerce folks at San Pedro in visiting the various shows along the glittering midway. Hundreds of sailors from the battleships in the harbor, soldiers from Fort MacArthur, lent the brightness of their uniforms to the scene. Every show and concession along the midway did a rousing business. Men and women crowded the tents that house Minnie, the Aztec Girl, Don Fulamo, the acting horse, Buddie, the smallest pony in the world and the two-score or more other attractions. Children found a world of delight in the big Ferris wheel, the merry-go-round and the other riding amusement features. The Mississippi's brass band is one of the big out-door features.

ELKS TO SEE CIRCUS.

Tonight is Elks' night at the circus and carnival and the antlered herd of Los Angeles and San Pedro are planning to turn out in force to boost the show.

Speaking of the opening night and the crowds that attended, Director Lee said that with the continued support of the people of Los Angeles, Long Beach, the harbor district and surrounding towns, there is every indication that the big recreational center for the Navy men at San Pedro is assured.

The carnival and circus will run up to and including the night of the 7th inst., with half-hourly car service to and from Long Beach and Los Angeles.

ANGELENO WILL HAVE MILITARY FUNERAL.

CAPT. WHEELER'S REMAINS WILL BE CREMATED TOMORROW.

Military burial service will be conducted tomorrow at 10 a.m., for Capt. Edgar T. Wheeler, Los Angeles engineer, who died early yesterday morning of pneumonia at his home, 1038 West Twentieth street. The services will be at the residence, the chaplain of the Arcadia Balloon School officiating. The remains will be cremated at Rosedale Cemetery. Capt. Wheeler was 52 years old.

He was born at San Francisco, Nov. 3, 1870. His father, Samuel F. Wheeler, a pioneer California engineer, installed the San Francisco cable street-car system, said to be the first cable system in the United States. Capt. Wheeler was a resident of Los Angeles for twenty-eight years. Practically all of that time he was engaged in the engineer and contracting business. He was deputy city engineer in 1893. He also served as assistant engineer for the Pacific Electric Company and collaborated with Homer Hamlin in making the original survey for the Boulder Dam project. He was connected with the Mexican Central Railroad at one time and also acted as city engineer of San Diego. In 1913 he organized the Edgar T. Wheeler Company, a contracting and engineer firm, which he managed until the time of his death.

When the United States entered the war, Mr. Wheeler enlisted as a private. On account of his engineer experience he was commissioned a captain and served at Rockwell Aviation Field and Camp Forrest, Ga.

He was a member of the American Society of Military Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, Masons, Native Sons and Los Angeles Athletic Club. He took an active interest in military affairs as a reserve Army officer.

Capt. Wheeler leaves a widow, Mrs. Lyllian Wheeler, two sons, Howard, a former Army aviator, who is now teaching in the Riverdale High School, and Jean, a student at the University of Southern California, and three sisters, Mrs. John E. Murray, Mrs. A. G. Page and Miss Amy Wheeler, all of Los Angeles.

STOPS CHOWCHILLA IRRIGATION PROJECT.

FEDERAL JUDGE ENJOINS USE OF MONEY VOTED FOR MADERA DISTRICT.

The issuance of $700,000 worth of bonds for the proposed Chowchilla irrigation project was enjoined by U. S. Dist. Judge Trippet yesterday.

Action was brought by Miller & Lux to prevent the Madera Irrigation District from taking from a $28,000,000 bond issue the sum of $700,000 which it proposed to spend in diverting certain waters of the Chowchilla River.

Miller & Lux, owning 40,000 of the 250,000 acres to be irrigated by the Madera project, held that the proposition under which the bonds were voted called for development of waters from the Fresno and San Joaquin River territory only.

TRIES TO END HER LIFE.

Destitute and discouraged, an unidentified young woman last night took an overdose of veronal in a cafeteria between Fourth and Fifth streets on Hill street. She was removed to the Receiving Hospital where her condition was said to be serious. The woman is about 22 years old and of foreign birth. Her first name is Emmalita, but she was booked as Jane Doe.

CLUB ASSERTS WATER USED FOR IRRIGATION.

J. D. Fredericks of Fredericks & Hanna has submitted a brief to the Board of Public Service Commissioners in support of the contention of the Los Angeles Country Club and the Wilshire Country Club that their golf course watering service comes under the classification of irrigation and not domestic service, as ordered effective with this year. Mr. Fredericks argues that the service is "irrigation" in both the dictionary and popular sense of the word.

"We maintain," says the brief, "that the classification of this service as irrigation service, made to us by the board in June, 1915, was a condition precedent to many expenditures and undertakings which the club incurred and undertook; that the facts which determined this classification were identically the same as now."

Charles Cooley Boland, 69 years old, of 710 West Vernon avenue, died last night from the effects of drinking an antiseptic in a suicide attempt last week. Mr. Boland was despondent. He was an inspector for a New York life insurance company. The body was taken to the E. B. McCormick undertaking parlors. His widow and a daughter survive.

WIDOW IS HELD VAMP BY COURT.

Divorce Denied Wife and Husband; Trips to Beach Told in Anonymous Notes.

Mrs. Amaelica Jones, who declared at the trial of her divorce suit against George J. Jones that her husband paid more attention to his mother and a widow than he did to her, was denied a decree by Judge Hahn yesterday. The court also denied Mr. Jones a decree on his cross-complaint. Mrs. Jones was awarded $130 a month maintenance money, the custody of a child and the use of the Waterloo-street house. Mr. Jones also owns a house in Huntington Drive, Pasadena.

The court was satisfied that Mr. Jones did not violate his marriage vows, but was satisfied that the vamping was done by the widow.

It developed that while Mrs. Jones was in the East he went to the beach presumably to see his mother, but on these occasions the widow was visiting the mother for whom she apparently had developed friendship.

Mrs. Jones received several anonymous letters while in the East, the writer seemingly having kept tabs on Mr. Jones and the widow. She took the matter up with her husband upon her return. He exclaimed that the anonymous letters looked very much like the writing of the widow. He did not deny that the facts seemed to be the facts. The widow denied writing the letters.

LABOR OFFICIAL WILL INSTALL MOOSE LODGE

CAMPAIGN TO ENROLL LARGE MEMBERSHIP HERE IS OUTLINED.

E. J. Henning, First Assistant Secretary of Labor, will arrive in Los Angeles Wednesday morning from Washington for the purpose of attending to matters connected with the Department of Labor and also to officiate at the ceremonies to institute the Greater Los Angeles Lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose, it was announced.

The Greater Los Angeles Lodge will be instituted next Thursday evening at the new home of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, 246 South Hill street, with Mr. Henning, Past Supreme Dictator Mooseheart Governor, in charge of proceedings. At this meeting several leading citizens of Los Angeles will be accepted as charter members, the organizers announce, among them being Robert O'Connor, Dr. Lloyd E. Mace, Motley H. Flint, La Youngworth, Harry Chandler, A. E. Warmington, Postmaster O'Brien, Sheriff Traeger, U. S. Atty. Burke, Judges Summerfield, McCormick and Richardson, Capt. Charles T. Connell and a class of about 300 others.

On next Wednesday evening a banquet in honor of Mr. Henning will be given at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, with A. E. Warmington as host. Mr. Henning, formerly was Attorney-General of Wisconsin, and he was harbor commissioner at San Diego prior to his Labor Department appointment.

The campaign to enroll a membership of 10,000 for the Greater Los Angeles Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, was outlined yesterday by Ward Davies, who said yesterday that any member of the Loyal Order of Moose is eligible to membership in the organization soon to be formed.

PROTESTS TO BOARD.

Harbor People Want All Their Teachers to Live There.

Declaring that the Los Angeles Harbor district is suffering a genuine loss from a civic, social and political standpoint because seventy-nine teachers engaged in work in the public schools of the harbor district live and have their homes elsewhere, the Harbor Chamber of Commerce has filed a formal protest with the Board of Education.

The protest points out that teachers of public schools are the custodians of civilization and that the harbor district has many social and welfare problems peculiar to the district. The resolution petitions the teachers "to come unto us and dwell among us as soon as they can conveniently do so, that we may as citizens enjoy their association and have the advantage of the valuable contribution they unmeasurably make to this community."

A survey, the Chamber of Commerce points out, shows that of eighty-nine grade-school teachers, fifty-nine reside outside of the harbor district, and that of forty high-school teachers, twenty reside elsewhere.

The Times' fund for the relief of the starving Molokans of Russia passed the $900 mark yesterday when $8 was contributed as follows: Miss Mimi Pryds, 1944 South Figueroa street, $5, and "J. C. C.," Los Angeles, $3. The total amount collected to date is $905.71.

Supplies of clothing and non-perishable foods are being collected for distribution in Russia at the warehouse of the Los Angeles Russian Molokan Relief Society, 172 South Utah street, telephone—Boyle 4184.

WARDE IS CLUB SPEAKER.

Fredrick Warde of the "Mission Play" was the chief speaker at the luncheon of the Optimists' Club, at 741 South Broadway yesterday. J. Dabney Day, vice-president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, was chairman. Hugo Kirchhoffer, community sing leader, put the Optimists through their paces with old-time songs.

NEW LIFE FOR CHAIN OF STORES.

Thomas H. Bell Proposes Reorganization for League Now Asking Receiver.

Thomas H. Bell, formerly of the Pacific Co-operative League store at Phoenix, announced yesterday his willingness to act as temporary secretary for members of the league desiring to organize with a view of eventually exercising control. The management of the league at San Francisco has petitioned for a receiver.

Mr. Bell says he has received indorsement from the Co-operative League of America, and he proposes to hold a meeting soon of representatives from the forty-three branches in the West. Mr. Bell lives at 313 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles. He was one of the founders and at different times the vice-president, acting president and secretary of the Phoenix store.

The history of the Phoenix project was related yesterday by Mr. Bell. He said a group of men organized to establish a store on the Rochdale plan, when agents of the Pacific Co-operative League persuaded them to accept the league's supervision.

He says the European plan was not adherred to by the league, that the control was not democratic and that the local group had no word in the finances of the store. The last he heard from Phoenix, the league still owed the local group $5600 of approximately $7000 credited to them.

The Phoenix group named an investigating committee to get in touch with the other branches, and the answers did not encourage them, Mr. Bell said. He declares his belief that the head of the league and many others in it are honest men, but others as idealists and he says the "instructors" sent to the Phoenix men often "lectured, not on the co-operative theory, but on the theories of Karl Marx."

Mr. Bell says he has not lost faith in the co-operative plan if properly handled.

Retains Wife's "Payment" for Decree Consent

Because Louise Mason gave Robert E. Mason a house in Glendale and $8000 provided he would not contest her divorce suit, Judge Burnell yesterday awarded a decision in favor of Mr. Mason in a quiet title suit brought by the wife. The court held that the property and money were given for a definite thing and could not be recovered.

Starting as an ordinary suit such as fill the courts every day, the Mason case rapidly gained headway until it became warmly contested. Both principals made charges against the other that livened the proceedings.

It developed that Mrs. Mason sued for divorce in Detroit and in payment to her husband for his neglect to contest the suit which, it is said, promised to be racey, she gave him title to the Glendale house and the $8000. Then she sued to recover. Mr. Mason is a traveling salesman. Mrs. Mason is buyer in the fur department of a local store.

OLD RESIDENTS ELOPE.

Man Aged Fifty-seven Marries Woman of Seventy Years.

A romance which blossomed in a La Rambla jitney bus and which proves again that love knows no age limit, culminated Wednesday in the marriage at Santa Ana of Annie M. Decker, 70 years old, and George H. Harris, 57, both old-time residents of Los Angeles Harbor.

According to friends of the couple, they left the harbor Wednesday morning after saying they were going to Long Beach for "a little outing." No one in the neighborhood suspected an "elopement." Consequently, publication of the marriage license created no little surprise among their friends.

Yesterday residents of North Grand avenue, Los Angeles Harbor, were preparing a rousing welcome for Mr. and Mrs. Harris on their return to the bride's home, where she has been living with her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Carter.

Marriage is not new to either of the parties to the elopment. Mrs. Decker, friends say, has engaged in her third matrimonial venture, and on her marriage to Mr. Harris, became his third bride.

WOMAN REARRESTED.

Asserted Forger Once Released Is Again Held to Answer.

Geraldine Crable was released yesterday by Justice Baird on a charge of forging a fictitious name to a check for $15, but she had no sooner left the courtroom than she was rearrested by Dep. Sheriffs Sweesy and Allen. The charge was dismissed upon the motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello, when it was learned that the check had not been presented for payment at the bank. A new complaint was issued late in the day by Mr. Costello and signed by Justice Hinshaw, charging the defendant with passing a fictitious check, with issuing a check without sufficient funds and with forgery. It is charged that a check for $10, signed with the name of Mrs. C. M. Seeley, figured in all the last three charges.

IN COCOANUT GROVE.

A night in the Orient next Tuesday at the Cocoanut Grove is expected to be one of the most interesting of the series of special nights arranged by the Ambassador management for this season. The stellar attraction will be Freddric KoVert, who will be seen in his famous Chinese bronze idol dance, wearing one of his most spectacular costumes and solid gold make-up. Mlle. Bessee, the KoVert premiere danseuse, and the KoVert dance trio, will appear in a picturesque Chinese dance.

ANOTHER ARMY CUT PLANNED.

To Save $50,000,000 is Prediction Made.

Effective Fighting Force to Total 105,000.

Military is Perturbed by Latest Act.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—At least $50,000,000 and possibly $80,000,000 will be slashed from the budget estimate for the War Department by the House appropriations subcommittee which is framing the Army appropriation bill for the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, members of the subcommittee predicted tonight. The measure, they added, not only will provide that the enlisted strength of the Army be reduced from its present strength of 127,000 to 115,000 men on July 1, but that the number of officers be limited to 11,000, as compared with the present strength of 13,000 on the active list.

ESTIMATES REVISED.

War Department estimates were revised and pared down by the budget bureau to approximately $313,000,000 for the coming fiscal year, of this amount $293,000,000 being requested for the Army and the rest for nonmilitary work, such as improvements to rivers and harbors. The draft of the bill, it was said tonight, practically had been completed, but must be reported by the full committee. Chairman Anthony has said the measure would be reported next week.

As drawn by the subcommittee, the bill, it was said, does not provide for lump sum appropriations as requested by War Department officials, such as enjoyment would have permitted department officials to expend funds under general headings as they saw fit, if the total expenditure authorized was not exceeded. The bill, as it will be reported to the full committee, however, it was emphasized, will specify for what purposes each allowance is to be used.

ARMY CONCERNED.

Concern was expressed in Army circles tonight over the prospective forced reduction of the regular army establishment to 115,000 men and 11,000 officers. Both Secretary Weeks and Gen. Pershing, in appearing recently before the subcommittee, urged that provision be made for an Army of 150,000 men and the subcommittee in deciding upon 11,000 as the maximum number of officers has disregarded the recommendation of Gen. Pershing, who outlined plans for weeding out inefficient officers to bring the force down to 12,000 in the organization of then increasing officer personnel to 14,000 by commissioning officers in the junior grades.

A reduction in the Army to 115,000 of enlisted strength, department officials said, would mean an actual effective force of little more than 105,000 men due to expiring enlistments, recruit training and other conditions.

NEW RADIO RECORD SET BY AMATEUR

Wireless Station in the Hawaiian Islands Gets Message Sent Out Here.

Radio station 6ZK, situated on the roof of Hamburger's, received acknowledgment by mail yesterday of a message sent to 6ZAC, Wailuku, Maui, Hawaii, last month by the local station. Cliff Gow, who operates the latter amateur station on the island 2100 miles away, picked up the following radiogram shortly after 8 p.m. February 16 last:

"Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Babcock, Honolulu:

"You will no doubt be grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Edward Heller Thursday at 1 a.m.

"BERTRAM HELLER."

Mrs. Heller was the aunt of the owner of the message, and as Mr. Gow knew the Babcocks he at once got in touch with them and delivered the sad message.

"The incident demonstrates how the amateur can make good even at a distance," said Oliver Garner, who sent the message for C. Heller, who is in charge of the wireless department at Hamburger's. "It is too bad that the message had to be a sad one, but a new record in amateur communication has been established."

C. P. Clements of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, who was formerly a resident of Honolulu, will deliver an address before the Chamber of Commerce of that city today at 9 p.m. Mr. Clements will speak from the broadcasting room of the Kinema Theater station and his friends at Honolulu will listen in on a set specially installed for the annual banquet of the chamber there.

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS ALMOST COMPLETED.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE EXPECTS TO CLOSE SUBSCRIPTIONS SOON.

That the campaign to raise the sum of $544,000 for the purchase of a site for the proposed new Chamber of Commerce building will be brought to a successful conclusion early next week was indicated by reports received yesterday by W. T. Bishop, chairman of the campaign committee, from the forty team captains who are now in the field obtaining subscriptions to the $100 certificates which are being sold to business men of the city.

The campaign has now reached the point, said Mr. Bishop, where those who wish to subscribe, but have not yet done so, will have to mail their checks immediately in order to get them in the hands of the committee in time. It is the intention of the committee to close the campaign when the funds necessary for the purchase of the site on Twelfth street, between Hill street and Broadway, has been received and there will be no oversubscription.

It is understood that several additional subscriptions of $10,000 each were received yesterday, although these subscriptions have not been officially reported in. Mr. Bishop also urged that those who have not yet received a personal call from committee members to mail their subscriptions directly to the Chamber of Commerce, since the teams are having some difficulty in making personal calls on the entire membership of the organization.

BISHOP TO CONDUCT MASS FOR LATE NUN.

Deeply impressive will be the mass to be said for the repose of the soul of Sister Mary Josephine (Lalanne) at St. Mary's Academy Sunday at 9 a.m. Bishop Glass of Salt Lake City, formerly of Los Angeles, is to arrive here today for the special purpose of conducting this mass, which will be attended by the alumni and past pupils of the academy. Sister Mary Josephine was a graduate of the academy, and became a sister there. At the time of her death a few months ago, Bishop Glass hastened from Tucson, Ariz., to administer final sacrament to her.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR WELL-KNOWN DENTIST

DR. WILLIAM D. FLORY WAS ACTIVE IN LODGE AND CLUB AFFAIRS.

Funeral services for Dr. William D. Flory, who died last Wednesday at his home 2226½ Fifth avenue, will be conducted at 1 p.m. today at the Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Cemetery. Cremation will follow the ceremonies.

Dr. Flory, who was born at South Bend, Ind., in 1879, was one of the best known dentists in Los Angeles, having established a large practice since he came here, sixteen years ago. He was a prominent member of the Westlake Lodge, F. and A. M., and of the Jinnistan Grotto, Veiled Prophets, and belonged to the City Club.

Besides his widow, Dr. Flory leaves one son, Jackson T. Flory, and one sister, Miss Lillian Flory of Los Angeles, and a brother, Orville H. Flory of Nebraska.

Rich Woman Stole Husband, Declares Wife.

Miss Anna D. Van Knuth, a wealthy woman residing in Sixty-first street, is charged, in a suit for $10,000 damages, filed in the Superior Court yesterday, with alienating the love of Ora Pankake, a real estate operator. The suit, brought by his wife, Mrs. Bonnie E. Pankake, declares that while Miss Van Knuth visited at the Pankake home and professed a pretended friendship for Mrs. Pankake, she did so for the purpose of gaining the affection of Mr. Pankake.

Mr. Pankake, she says, constantly sought the society of Miss Van Knuth. They visited various places and Miss Van Knuth made protestations of love and affection for Mr. Pankake. She is charged with making gifts of jewelry and automobiles to Mr. Pankake and did "wickedly and maliciously" steal him away from his wife, says the charge. The suit was filed yesterday through Attorney J. P. Leonard.

ELECT IMPROVEMENT COUNCIL OFFICERS.

The Greater Improvement Council of Los Angeles held its monthly meeting yesterday at noon in the Union League clubrooms. Election of officers resulted as follows: C. L. Welch, president; H. M. Bruce, first vice-president; Tom Coughlin, second vice-president; Mrs. M. E. Eylward, secretary; H. C. High, assistant secretary; A. L. Colby, treasurer. The organization, which is composed of members of the various improvement associations in the city, decided to send a committee of three to the meeting of the Board of Public Utilities next Monday to look into municipal ownership of motor-bus transportation in the city. The following were appointed to represent the council: C. W. Horn, H. M. Bruce and Mrs. M. E. Eylward.

At the next meeting of the Greater Improvement Council, which is scheduled for the 16th inst., Van Griffith, of the Park Commission, is expected to speak.

GRIFFIN TO DISCUSS CIVIC CENTER PLANS.

A discussion of his plan for building a civic center around the Plaza will be conducted today by City Engineer Griffin at the park conference in progress at Normal Hill Center Auditorium.

Marshall Stimson will speak on "Preserving the Hills." George W. Eldridge will talk on "The Civic Breathing Place."

Other speakers at today's sessions will be Porter C. Blackburn and L. E. Behymer.

SLASHED THROAT FATAL.

Maurice Moriarity, aged 56 years, a carpenter, who attempted to end his life by slashing his throat with a razor in his room at 242½ East Fifth street February 25, last, died at the County Hospital last night from the effects of the wound, according to a report from the Coroner's office. The body was removed to the W. A. Brown undertaking establishment. Moriarity a few minutes after he had cut his throat was taken to the Receiving Hospital and given emergency treatment. He was then transferred to the County Hospital.

PAN-AMERICAN UNION HEAD COMING HERE.

DIRECTOR L. S. ROWE WILL ATTEND INAUGURAL AT U.S.C.

Director L. S. Rowe of the Pan-American Union, is to attend the inaugural ceremonies at the University of Southern California in April. Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, the president, who is to be formally inducted into office, is a close personal friend of Director Rowe and the dispatch which was received yesterday stated that the Pan-American Union official, who is now in Washington, intends to bring the matter of the inaugural before the Latin-American embassies in order to interest a number of those who recently met Dr. Von KleinSmid during his visit to South America. This dispatch was forwarded to Dr. Bogardus, who is handling the arrangements for the affair.

It is proposed to make the three days' conference, April 27, 28 and 29, an affair in which much time will be spent on plans for a closer relationship between the countries of South America and the United States and especially Los Angles and Southern California.

Salesmen!

This is an opportunity for you to increase your sales and "cover" your territory quicker, more efficiently with a car to travel in. Your increased business will pay for the car.

Teachers, Farmers, Agents, Doctors, Clerks, Laborers! —no matter what you make, you can afford to buy a car at these ridiculously low prices.

Begins Friday Morning
Ends Sunday Night

Our entire stock of used cars at special reduced prices these three days

FRANKLY, we believe this sale offers unprecedented opportunity for the people of Los Angeles. It is not a collection of "junk" and useless cars, but a splendid collection of USED and USEFUL cars in first-class condition. We've spent a lot of time overhauling, rebuilding and renewing them, and feel no hesitancy in advertising them as the GREATEST VALUES in USED CARS ever presented to you.

Buy Now
Don't Wait Until Summertime!
Prices of used cars usually take a jump in summer when the demand is lively.

Used cars—think of that! Just as soon as a car is driven 'round the block it's used. Of course the sale value depreciates, and if you want to sell it, you can't get as much as you paid for it.
The depreciation has been TAKEN OFF of EVERY CAR IN THIS SALE—that's worth considering!

You Can Trade It In After Six Months
Buy it today, use it six months or a year, sell it, or trade it in for another car —and you'll lose very little on it.

Easy Terms!

Here's an inducement—and an argument for the salaried man or woman to BUY NOW! You do not have to pay the whole amount unless you wish to. A small cash payment down and the balance in convenient weekly or monthly payments as is most agreeable to you.

Satisfaction
Drive the car 6 days—if you are not entirely satisfied with it at the end of that time
Bring It Back
we will gladly allow you every dollar you have paid on it to apply on the purchase of any other renewed car in stock.

Don't Delay!

Naturally, those who "know cars" are going to seize the BEST "BUYS" the first day, so we suggest that you come early. Every car IS "as represented"—and you have our word that whatever car you do pick, whatever price you pay, it's an unmatchable BARGAIN you're getting.

WE TEACH YOU TO DRIVE!

Teach you—your wife or daughter—how to handle the car and to care for it. A competent instructor will be provided. Imagine the fun and frolic—the fresh air and enjoyment you'll derive from owning a car of your own. Don't miss all the joy, the convenience and the hundred-and-one advantages of owning a car.

A Treat to the Family! A Big Help in Your Business—that's what a USED CAR will prove. And, remember, when you pay the first cash deposit, you can drive the car away, and enjoy it while paying.

Nine Million People In America Are Driving Cars

FIRMER FEELING IN UNION MARKET.

APPLES AND POTATOES SHOW LITTLE CHANGE DURING PRODUCE TRADING.

More strength was evident in the onion market yesterday, although prices did not advance. The improved feeling is due to reports of frost damage to the Bermuda onion section in Texas.

Apples and potatoes showed very little change, the market being steady on both products and the demand moderate to good. Oranges were a trifle stronger and supplies of culls, although still liberal, are not quite so heavy as last week. Tangerines are scarce and high, fancy tangerines selling at 9@10c per pound.

Standard vegetables, cauliflower and lettuce were all firm, local lettuce advancing about 25c per field crate. There is a slow but steady improvement in the quality of the offerings from local sources.

The sweet potato market continued dull and was liberally supplied both with local stock and with Nancy Halls from the islands. Considerable local offerings are of poor quality.

Rhubarb continues to drop in price, selling mostly at $1.50 for large crates, a small amount of asparagus is arriving from the south and sold this morning very readily at prices from $1.00@1.60 per pound, which is roughly $80.00@$45.00 per crate. The quality of this stock was considered very good.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

These are the actual prices obtained yesterday by Los Angeles wholesalers from their sales to retailers, peddlers, hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, etc., as compiled by the United States Bureau of Markets. Terms—Cash on the wharf. Supplies of oranges, grapefruit, oranges, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.

Doomsday Looms in Near Future; Income Tax Requirements Give Pause to Business.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

The day of reckoning is approaching. Doomsday is fixed for March 15 and there is a mighty scurrying of auditors, book-keepers and accountants throughout the length and breadth of the land preparing for the doleful function in the performance of which to Caesar are rendered the things which are Caesar's. In a word, the first installment of income taxes are due and payable on that date, and further delay means severe penalization.

Already the offices of the Collector of Internal Revenue are being swamped with mail and the corridors of the Federal Building are jammed with people who are seeking solutions to their multifold tax problems or who want to pay their assessments to the government directly. To avoid penalty, the return, accompanied, by at least one-quarter of the tax, must be in the hands of the Collector of Internal Revenue or a deputy collector on or before midnight of March 15.

To date, the taxpaying public has shown an even greater reluctance to do its return filing early than it did last year. Only 10 per cent of the estimated number of returns have been filed at the collector's office, leaving the other 90 per cent to be made during the few remaining days. Up to this time last year 15,000 fully-paid returns and 8000 partly-paid returns were filed. However, only 11,300 fully-paid and 1100 partly-paid 1921 tax returns had been turned in up to noon yesterday. Last year a total of 139,000 taxable returns were filed.

In citing these figures, H. C. Westley, acting chief of the income-tax division, pointed out the smaller number of taxpayers who were taking advantage of the installment payment privilege this year. The fact that so many are willing to pay their taxes outright is a healthy sign and indicates that the public in the Sixth California District has more available cash funds than last year.

LESS MONEY COMING IN.

Cash receipts to date were not available yesterday, but it was estimated at the revenue offices that the government is taking in a good deal less money this year than it did last. This is due in part to the more liberal features of the 1921 Revenue Act, but it is also caused by the fact that incomes, along with the general price level, have been sharply deflated during the past twelve months. Bankers and others who handle a large part of the public's income-tax business report that many sizable incomes which were taxed in 1921 have fallen to a level where even a nontaxable return is unnecessary this year.

One of the important changes effected by the 1921 Revenue Act is the great increase in the number of nontaxable returns which are being filed this year. Because the new regulations which increase the exemption of married persons from $2000 to $2500, allow $400 instead of $200 deduction for each dependent and requires all gross incomes over $5000 to be reported, the number of returns filed on which no taxes are paid has grown approximately 50 per cent. All net incomes of single persons over $1000, and of married persons over $2000 must be reported to the government.

Some simplification has been attempted in the new income tax forms. The forms for incomes under $5000 have been relieved of a good deal of their complexity and the blanks for the larger incomes have also been amended. The lateness of the passage of the act has caused some confusion in the printing of the forms and in certain cases the blanks were received here two weeks later than they were last year. Partly on account of this delay, the government recently extended the date for corporation returns to April 15. Illustrative of the delay this year is the fact that the first copy of the new official regulations was only received in Los Angeles yesterday, up to which time the local office was forced to put its own interpretation on the rules.

GREAT FOR THE EXPERTS.

Trust companies, lawyers and others setting themselves up as tax experts are doing a land office business, for the average individual, even though his income be comparatively small, soon becomes lost in the morass of red tape and technicalities which surround the preparation of his statement and usually ends by dumping his burdens and such data as he may have accumulated during the year on the desk of the "expert" with instructions to do his worst.

As a matter of fact, such confidence, if ordinary precaution is exercised in choosing the "expert" results in a saving for there are many places where exemptions and allowances may legally be claimed and of which the average citizen wots little or at all. Just the same some of the fees charged are little short of staggering.

In all governmental experience there has never been anything so completely and unanimously unsatisfactory in its unfolding and handling as the present system of levying and collecting income taxes. No one really knows what it is all about, and least of all the government. The Treasury Department is constantly issuing new books of decisions, and interpretations of the law change over night. Some times during the luncheon hour. There is a man in Los Angeles who vowed that he would keep up with all the decisions. Starting with a modest pamphlet his office is now piled high with formidable volumes, treatises, tracts, court decisions, appeals and repeals. This expert retains his sanity only because he long since abandoned his original intention.

The government throws an element of doubt over the whole system. It assumes that all taxpayers are dishonest and changes its regulations frequently in accordance with this implication. A new volume of regulations containing 500 or more pages has just been issued. The burden of proof is always upon the taxpayer. He files his return. The government says that it is wrong in such, and such items. It is then up to the taxpayer to prove that the government is in error, often at heavy expense to himself, for which there is no reimbursement. If the government is wrong the taxpayer must still pay his lawyers and other expenses, besides losing the use of the full amount claimed by the government which must be deposited before issue can be taken.

A HORRIBLE EXAMPLE.

Here is an example in the case of a small corporation cited by the Philadelphia Public Ledger: The government sent two agents to examine the books. They claimed $105,000 additional tax was due. When they departed, the president of the corporation had to engage experts and lawyers to disprove their charge. They did, but they had to wade through a mountain of papers. After that there was voluminous correspondence. The government confessed it was in error, but it cost the corporation $35,000 to prove it didn't owe the $105,000. There are thousands of cases like this each year. The cost should be on the government when it makes the error, but the cost is put on the taxpayer.

Taxation can never be made popular, but it does seem as though something could be done to straighten the many inequalities which make our income tax law a nightmare to big and little business. However, there is no escaping the inevitable. Returns must be filed, and at least partial payment made by March 15. Any attempt to evade the law will result in disaster to the evader. The officials charged with the task of collection are not responsible for the law. They are doing the best they can in a situation that will be little short of chaotic during the next two weeks. File early and avoid at least a part of the rush.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Credit Men's Conference Next Week; National Secretary Coming; Day in Review.

On March 10 and 11, the Los Angeles Association of Credit Men will act as host for a State conference to be held in the Music-Art Studio Building, conducted by J. H. Tregoe, secretary of the national association, who is making a special trip from the East for the occasion. Large delegations from San Francisco and San Diego are expected to attend. Meetings will be open to the public.

Speaking of the forthcoming conference and Mr. Tregoe's visit, a local credit man said yesterday that "just as the credit manager of any establishment has his hands on the purse strings of that concern, so the National Association of Credit Men has its hands on the purse strings of the nation." Through its legislative department this association has made possible the enactment of bankruptcy, bulk sales, false statement in writing, and fictitious name laws and various other measures that react to the protection of business in general.

A. F. Stepan has charge of arrangements for the State conferences and is being assisted by the following committee heads: Advisory, F. B. McComas; councillor, H. J. Bremner; reception, J. A. Cattell; banquet and entertainment, W. W. Grether; hotel, E. L. Ide; automobiles, A. D. Kinne; finance, J. Spence; hall, Miss C. M. Harrison; publicity, Miss F. E. Banks. R. N. Carson is in charge of the San Francisco delegation, and Alexander Reynolds is looking after San Diego's interests.

BARKER BROTHERS.

Corporate earnings of Barker Brothers, Inc., before Federal taxes, were $878,448.77 during 1921, according to the annual financial statement issued yesterday. Current assets are placed at $4,913,769.75, and current liabilities are $1,476,696.97. The surplus, before taxes, was $1,684,593.08. There is $1,950,000 par value of common stock outstanding, and $850,000 of preferred.

During the year the company retired $150,000 of its preferred stock through its 1920 earnings. The preferred stock outstanding in the hands of investors is quoted by Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, at 99 bid and 101 asked. The floating supply is said to be limited. The preferred issue bears 8 per cent cumulative interest.

SOUTH AMERICAN ISSUES.

That the American investing public is turning more and more to the bond issues of our South American neighbors for the placement of its funds, was evidenced this week in the advance in two leading Brazilian and Argentine issues. The $4 000,000 City of Sao Paulo, thirty-year, 8 per cent, external secured sinking fund, gold bonds, that were offered early this week by Blair & Co., were quickly oversubscribed and advanced yesterday from par to 101 5-8 on the New York curb. The Argentine three-year 7s also moved up yesterday from 98 5-8 to 99 1-8, according to advice from the East.

POWERS MAKES STATEMENT.

E. F. Powers of Denver, Colo., who spoke in opposition of the Union Oil holding company plan at the annual stockholders' meeting last Tuesday, made public the following statement yesterday: "Since addressing the meeting my attention has been drawn to most startling and remarkable information, which has led me to sign the agreement for the formation of the new holding company of Union Oil stockholders. I consider the situation so critical that I am now asking all stockholders who have hesitated up to the moment, as I have in this matter, to at once sign."

MOODY COMING.

John Moody, nationally known economic statistician and financial writer, is coming to the Pacific Coast and will be in Los Angeles on April 14, it was learned from the local offices of the Moody Investment Service yesterday. Mr. Moody is expected to spend a week in this city, investigating Southern California conditions.

TICKER TICKS.

Pierce Arrow for the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, shows a net loss after charges, taxes and inventory losses of $8,763,712, against a net profit in 1920 of $1,769,914.

Car loadings for the week ended February 18 totaled 780,924, against 788,413 previous week, but 88,917 more than year ago.

Tobacco Products Corporation for the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, reports net income after charges, but before Federal taxes, of $8.46 earned on common, against $7.79 in 1920.

Net income of ninety-eight railroads in January $16,321,426, against a deficit of $1,753,533 year ago, according to the bureau of railway economics. Gross $210,577,244, against $250,016,796 last year, and operating expenses $150,339,122, against $236,240,799.

Montgomery Ward's sales for February $5,784,685, an increase of $322,836.

For the use of the public

PUBLIC UTILITIES provide necessities, such as water, light, power, heat and transportation. Service given by public utilities is so vital to public welfare that the people take over their regulation.

PUBLIC UTILITIES also are of such stable character that insurance companies and savings banks invest in their bonds.

A striking example of a strong Public Utility is the San Joaquin Light & Power Corporation. It is regulated by the Railroad Commission of the State of California; it is well managed as shown by growth of earnings; free from competition in a rich territory 200 miles long by 50 miles wide; and its product is necessary to the progress of the San Joaquin Valley

Prior Preferred Cumulative 7% Stock of this California Public Utility at $98.50 for each $100 share, yields 7.10%. This stock is non-callable. Buy it, 1 share or 1,000 shares.

Buy Near the Bottom—Not At the Top!

Industry and commerce have suffered during the past year, prices have declined, inventories decreased in value.

The present would seem an ideal time to purchase good industrial bonds, for only a well grounded successful business, showing steady production and a record of earnings, can obtain credit.

In the field of sound industrial bonds the investor may still purchase, in some measure, at least, the liberal income no longer available in most classes of sound bonds.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, March 3.—The stock market rose and fell in listless fashion during the greater part of today's session, but became active and strong in the last hour under the stimulus of demand for steels, motors, equipments, oils, sugar and rails.

Final prices showed gains of 1 to 3 points in Gulf States Steel, United States Steel, Lima Locomotive, Chandler, Pierce-Arrow Pfd., Mexican Petroleum, American Sugar, Cuban Cane Sugar Pfd., United States Cast Iron Pipe, U. S. Rubber, Missouri Pacific Pfd., and Western Pacific.

The belated rebound was made in the face of another dividend suspension, directors of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel Company ordering the omission of the disbursement on that stock, which made a precipitate decline of six points.

An unusual assortment of inconspicuous specialties changed hands during the duller trading period, mostly at sharp recessions. These embraced British Empire Steel preferred, Steel and Tube Pfd., American Safety Razor, American Chicle, Remington Typewriter, Pierce Oil Pfd., and United Drug at advances and reactions of 1 to 6 points.

Sales amounted to $605,000 shares.

The very light inquiry for money was reflected in the call loan market, where the rate gradually eased from 4½ to 4 per cent, the lower quotation being posted just before the close of the market. Purchases of mercantile paper for short dates were reported at slight concessions from the recent 4½ per cent rate.

All foreign exchanges with one or two unimportant exceptions were reactionary. Demand sterling fell two cents, French, Italian and Belgian rates were lower by eight to ten points and German marks were acutely weak, falling to 4 1-100. Heaviness was shown by Central European remittances notably Austrian and Polish exchanges.

REPORT HEAVY CATCH.

SAN DIEGO, March 2.—Large receipts of fish at this port in January were reported by A. L. Mahan, Fish Commissioner, today.

The total catch last month was more than 589,000 pounds, of which were sardines, of which 150,000 pounds were caught in, all from local waters. The catch brought here from Mexican waters amounted to 400,000 pounds, largely in lobsters.

HEAR TROUBLES OF PHONE USERS.

Company Insists Service is Up to Standard.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, March 2.—At a hearing on the subject of telephone service conducted by the city of Pasadena today, officials of the Home Telephone Company, the local unit of the Bell system, declared that good service was being maintained in Pasadena. Torrey Everett of Arden Road, who spoke as an individual citizen, declared that the service was not good.

City Manager C. W. Kotner told officials of the telephone company that the chief complaint against the company here was not poor service on existing lines, but were those of "unreasonable delays" in telephone installation.

N. R. Powley, commercial superintendent, said the company was powerless to prevent these delays, because of the inability to get sufficient equipment. He said this situation would be obviated in the next few months.

ACQUITTED OF VAGRANCY.

After deliberating seven minutes, a jury in Judge Kenneth Newell's Justice Court this afternoon acquitted Walter Techow of a charge of vagrancy. While this was the formal charge, Techow was arrested on charges that he obtained various sums of money from wealthy men here by misrepresentation.

The jury was composed chiefly of members of the Kiwanis Club, because of the difficulty in securing jurors for Justice Court trials. Justice Newell supplied the bailiff with the names of members of the Kiwanis Club, which was holding its weekly luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. After luncheon those drawn were summoned to court.

Techow was said to have been the associate of George Schiller, recently fined $250 in Judge Newell's court on the same charges. Other complaints against Techow remain.

NEW PASTOR COMING.

Rev. John Murdock, formerly of Edinburgh, Scotland, will be the new pastor of the Neighborhood Congregational Church. He will take the place of Dr. John R. Crosser of Chicago, who has been filling the pulpit there for two years. Dr. Crosser preferred not to remain permanently.

Dr. Murdock will come to the church in April. He is an old friend of Dr. Robert Freeman, pastor of Pasadena Presbyterian Church, and of President Remsen D. Bird of Occidental College.

PROMINENT PASTOR DIES.

Rev. James R. Pratt, pastor of the Lincoln Avenue Presbyterian Church and widely known in the Presbyterian denomination as a preacher, theologian and Bible scholar, died at a local hospital today following a major operation for intestinal trouble. He was 66 years old.

He had been pastor of the Lincoln avenue church eleven years and prior to that was a traveling evangelist.

Surviving him are the widow and two children, Miss Jessie Pratt of this city and Alonzo Pratt, a missionary in China. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

School furniture destroyed by the burning of the McKinley School is being replaced by furniture manufactured in the carpenter and paint shops of the Pasadena district.

For a year the school district's own shops have been supplying additional desks and seats required in the local system by reason of the extraordinary increases in enrollment.

This equipment, consisting of desks of the table type and chairs instead of the old-fashioned desks, met with such favor that the educational authorities ordered the shops to supply the furniture for the new classrooms at the McKinley.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, March 2.—A. D. Ketterlin of Santa Rosa, Grand Master of Odd Fellows of the State of California, visited Redlands lodge last night. There were many guests here from the San Bernardino, Riverside, Hemet, Colton, Beaumont and other lodges in this section.

The local lodge conferred the first degree upon a class of candidates following which supper was served in honor of Mr. Ketterlin and District Deputy Junod of Colton.

Mr. Ketterlin made a talk in which he told of the work being done by fraternal orders in the establishment of a world peace. He also spoke of the humanitarian work of the Odd Fellows in this State in the Old People's Home at Saratoga, and the Children's Home at Gilroy.

FESTIVAL SURE TO BE SUCCESS.

Fresno Puts Joy at Head of San Joaquin's Annual Fun Fest.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, March 2.—Al C. Joy, publicity director of the Sun Maid Raisin Growers, was named president of the California Raisin Festival Association and April 27 decided as the date, when Raisin Day boosters gathered today to outline plans.

As 1922 marks the fiftieth anniversary of Fresno, a pageant depicting the growth of the San Joaquin Valley and Fresno will be presented under the direction of Emory Ratcliffe of the State College of Fresno, it was decided.

A parade and automobile race will be other features of the program.

QUAKER COLLEGE PROSPERS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, March 2. — The financial goal of Whittier College has been reached, according to a statement given out today by Albert N. Chamness, campaign manager, when he said that the committee had just closed the campaign after securing $155,000 to meet the offer made by the Rockefeller Foundation, which was that the Foundation would give one-third of $300,000 contingent upon the College raising the other two-thirds.

This offer was made some months ago and the committee has been untiring in its efforts to secure the necessary two-thirds of the amount. A whirlwind campaign of the city during the past week brought in the final $30,000. With this all the college debt will be paid, and the total endowment raised to $375,000.

An air of optimism prevails at the Quaker school. The largest enrollment in the institution has ever known registered this year. For the first time in its history Whittier football team won the conference championship.

A few years ago a campaign was successfully promoted to raise $250,000 for new buildings, and then the war came on and not all the money pledged was available. However, one of the chemistry buildings, which is one of a proposed new group, has been built. It was built at a cost of $60,000.

The college is planning an era of expansion, and among the urgent needs of the school and one which will probably receive first attention is that of dormitory accommodations for men. At present the third story and attic of the present administration building are used for sleeping quarters for male students.

BUSINESS MEN HOSTS TO COLLEGE STUDENTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, March 2. — The men of Whittier College were guests of the Forum Club of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon served in the K. of P. hall here today, each member of the club inviting a student from the college.

Dr. W. Carlton Wood, professor of biblical literature and philosophy at the college, presided and short talks were given by President Harry Noble Wright, Dr. George H. Flanders, B. G. Martin of the Community Bank and Arthur Corey of the college.

Albert Chamness, who has been campaign manager for the college for the last six months, also spoke. Music was furnished by the Misses Brubaker, students at the college and members of the Whittier College Girls' Glee Club.

BEAR VALLEY HAS ITS COLDEST WINTER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, March 2.—For the first time in many years Big Bear Lake has been frozen solid from one end to the other. Charles Stone and Guy Daniels have just returned from a trip to the valley and they were told that a few days ago it was possible to walk from one end of the lake to the other on ice and to step from the ice to the top of the dam.

It has been the coldest winter in many years in Bear Valley, which is but twenty-eight miles from Redlands. The mercury there has been as low as 18 below zero this winter. The water of the lake is now within a few yards of the Big Bear Tavern.

MONROVIA CITIZEN CALLED BY DEATH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, March 2. — Long Beach Commandery Knights Templar will be in charge of the funeral services for J. William Jones, to be held at Reynold's funeral chapel tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Jones, who was one of the city's best-known business men, died at a Long Beach sanatorium of a complication of diseases. He was a native of Ohio, aged 59 years, and has lived in Monrovia since 1914.

Aside from large business interests, Mr. Jones was well known among members of the Masonic fraternity, being both a York and Scottish Rite Mason. Members of Monrovia Blue Lodge will attend the funeral services in a body.

MAKE EFFORT TO CONTROL WELL.

Five Traps Installed on New Long Beach Gasser.

Work All Night to Prevent Big Blowout.

More Trouble Anticipated by Signal Hill Drillers.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, March 2.—Five big gas traps are today being installed at the Lekas No. 1 well of the Henderson Petroleum Company at Cherry Boulevard and Burnett street, which came in yesterday afternoon a huge combination gasser and oil gusher.

The well roared all night, but was kept under control, and this morning the big control head was closed and gas fittings were applied. The hole will be opened again Friday afternoon, when the five gas traps are in place.

It was estimated today that during the night gas at the rate of 75,000,000 cubic feet per day and oil at the rate of 1000 barrels a day escaped from the hole. Shortly after the well came in, r gas pressure of 960 pounds to the square inch developed, and to relieve the fittings, valves were opened and the well permitted to flow until this morning.

During the night the great pressure of gas, which carried sand with the oil, cut holes through the six-inch casing and showered the country to the northwest of the well for a distance o 300 feet, repeating in miniature the performance of the General Petroleum Corporation's Black and Drake No. 1 well six weeks ago.

Roaring all night the well kept dozens of persons awake and was the center of an auto pilgrimage that continued from 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon throughout the night, and even after the well was closed in this morning.

The well is 2692 feet deep and stands with 622 feet of perforated casing, the longest string in the field.

Proceeding with the utmost caution, cleaning out of the General Petroleum's Black and Drake No. 1 is now at the 1300-foot level. The company is using virtually every means known to oil development to prevent a repetition of the well's actions six weeks ago, when it broke loose after the cement had been drilled out at the 2300-foot level and covered the surrounding country with a carpet of oil.

Whether or not the casing collapsed when the well finally stopped flowing of its own accord after thirty-six hours of activity is unknown and can be determined only by cleaning out of the well.

Mud, so heavy that the pumps will hardly handle it, is being used in the operations.

A second blowout is probable at the Ellis No. 1 of the Petroleum-Midway, according to some of the local operators. The well is being bailed for production. It stands within 400 feet of the first and second gassers of the field, the Shell Company's Mess No. 1 and Martin No. 1.

GRAND JURY REPORTS

Fresno Body Favors Many County Improvements.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, March 2.—Recommendations for the remodeling of the Courthouse and the construction of a new building are contained in the report of the 1921 grand jury, which was delivered to Judge S. L. Strother this afternoon.

The report recommends that a tax be lieved for the completion of the county highway system and urges that Mayor Truman G. Hart complete the appointment of the Social Service Board, in accordance with the new Fresno charter.

An industrial school for delinquents is pointed out in the report as one of the needs of the city and county, while changes in the hospital are also urged, in accordance with the recommendations of S. Herbert Collins, the director.

The District Attorney's office is commended for its handling of the prosecution of the Chinese tong cases.

ROAD WORKERS HURT WHEN BOULDER FALLS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OXNARD, March 2. — Thomas and John Griffin, two brothers working on construction work on the new State highway at Point Magu, were seriously injured late this afternoon when they were pushed down an embankment by a large boulder which hit them when a quantity of gravel and rock formed a landslide. They are now in St. John's Hospital here.

The men were drillers working on blasting work. Yesterday a portion of a cliff had not fallen when a charge was set off and while the men were busy drilling today for another blast the earth gave way. When the workmen were struck by the boulder they were carried down a 100-foot bank. Both men are in a serious condition.

OLD VETERAN IS ACCIDENT VICTIM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, March 2.—Suffering from crushed ribs and apparently a ruptured spleen, C. M. McLough, a soldier 71 years old, who conducted a dairy at Clearwater, died today at a local hospital, as the result of an accident that occurred this morning about 9 o'clock on the Long Beach Boulaerd near the residence of Special Officer E. F. Baggott at Sanbern avenue in Compton.

His body was taken to the parlors of Holton & Son in this city. The old dairyman realized that he was going to die and asked that the hospital authorities notify T. H. Brice, president of the Dairymen's Association, living at 12505 Main street, Los Angeles. Mr. McLough, a former member of the old soldiers' colony at Sawtelle, was driving a light truck when he crashed into a truck loaded with bricks that was standing on the edge of the boulevard.

HARBOR SURVEY PLANS DECIDED.

Efficiency Commissioners Outline Their Work.

Thorough Investigation of Department Proposed.

Six Months Will be Needed for Board's Inquiry.

The Efficiency Commission, of which Mayor Cryer, George I. Cochran and William Lacy are members, yesterday afternoon filed with the Board of Harbor Commissioners, an outline of the survey of the harbor department to be followed by the Efficiency Commission. The examination of the department to ascertain if it is being conducted in a business-like, efficient manner was requested by the Harbor Commissioners.

The Efficiency Commission in its program for the survey proposes to examine into the duties and powers of the Mayor, City Council and harbor board in exercising control of Los Angeles Harbor, then to study the organization of the harbor department itself including the nature of the work done by the principal employees, their salaries and duties and to whom each is immediately responsible for efficiently carrying out the work assigned him. Next the efficiency board proposes to ascertain the exact extent of the land and water area under the control of Los Angeles Harbor, including the lands now developed in city control and under private management.

The construction work to date by the city at Los Angeles Harbor, the plans toward which the city is aiming in harbor development, estimates of ultimate cost, projects now under way, inventory and value of harbor assets and resources now available for development work are some of the matters which will be inquired into. The contracts, leases, agreements and franchises issued by the city for harbor property and rights will be examined by the commission to ascertain if these contracts give a fair return to the city for the property leased. In addition the commission will examine into the revenues of the harbor department as well as expenses, including the auditing methods in use. The commission's report will also include a comparison of Los Angeles Harbor administration, with other harbors in all phases of administration.

Efficiency Director Eldridge will be in actual charge of the work of the survey under the direction of Commissioners Cochran and Lacy. The survey will be thorough and will take at least six months to complete.

Harbor Traffic Shows Increase During January

Showing an increase of almost 100 per cent over the same month of the preceding year, the report covering total revenues from all municipal wharves at Los Angeles Harbor for January has just been filed with the Harbor Commission by Traffic Manager Pederson. Practically every dock in the harbor showed an increase in water traffic as compared with January, a year ago. The month's revenue was one of the greatest on record.

Vessels docked at all municipal wharves in January totaled 217, as compared with 184 for January, 1921. Revenues increased from $21,885.35 for that month, to $20,257.87 for January, 1922. At Pier A twenty-two large freighters were docked during January, compared with four vessels a year ago.

TO MAINTAIN SERVICE.

The withdrawal by the United States Shipping Board of the liners Buckeye State and Hawkeye State from the service of the Matson Navigation Company will in no wise affect the company's operations in the Los Angeles Harbor field. This was the announcement made yesterday by J. B. Banning, Jr., in charge of the company's Los Angeles offices. The offices in the Merchants' National Bank Building will be continued indefinitely and the Los Angeles Harbor service to the Hawaiian Islands will be carried on with the big steamer Hyades, now operating on a thirty-five-day schedule, it was announced.

FRIGHTENS BURGLAR.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, March 2.—A Mexican burglar drove his car up to Sam Sutton's grocery store about 3 o'clock this morning, got the store door open and was preparing to carry out sundry boxes when Sutton, who lives next door, was awakened. The proprietor fired twice at the man, who succeeded, in spite of the shots, in making his escape in a car.

NEW PLANT IS PLANNED AT HARBOR.

Southern Pacific to Have Creosoting Works to Treat Ties for This District.

In line with its policy of creosoting cross ties instead of "burnettising" or treating with a zinc chloride solution, the Southern Pacific announced yesterday that it is planning two new creosoting plants, one to be constructed at Wilmington and the other at West Oakland.

The Wilmington plant is adjacent to Canal street and it is expected to be completed and in operation about April 1. This plant is to handle the creosoting of ties by the Rueping process, the most modern and efficient process for creosoting timber, which does not come in contact with the marine borer. The location of the plant is within 600 feet of deep water, which will permit not only handling boatloads of ties directly to the plant, but will also permit purchase of creosote oil in tankers, unloading directly at the wharf at the foot of Canal street. Rail connection is had by the San Pedro branch.

The plant will consist of four retorts, six feet in diameter, two of which are 132 feet in length and two 117 feet. The equalization tanks and boilers are to be insulated so as to bring about economical operation through conservation of steam.

It is expected that this plant will treat a minimum of 600,000 cross ties a year and will supply the company's southern district with the required number of mainline ties.

Every effort is being made to make the plant as fireproof as possible. The tanks are to have water sealed roofs. Storage tanks are to be surrounded by levees, and the operating tanks are to be surrounded by a concrete wall so that any breakage in tanks will not endanger the balance of the plant.

A 30,000-barrel storage tank for creosote oil is to be erected.

PORT NOTES.

H. C. Cantelow, Pacific Coast manager for the Luckenbach Line, was at the harbor yesterday looking over the situation. Mr. Cantelow is known here as a striking example of the self-made man, a number of longshoremen who worked on the old Oregon dock at the foot of Spear street, San Francisco, twenty-five years ago, remembering the time when he went into the office as an ordinary freight clerk.

The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company then operated the business in connection with what is now known as the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation Company, the steamers State of California and Columbia alternating to Portland every five days, with the steamers Oregon and George W. Elder serving as relief steamers. All of the vessels except the George W. Elder have since been lost.

Cantelow had steadily climbed to the top of the ladder by careful attention to details, serving continuously in some branch of the business of the Pacific Steamship Company (Admiral Line,) resigning his position as assistant general manager a few weeks ago to accept his present position with the Luckenbach Line. His fellow-workers in the Admiral Line gave him a handsome present when he retired and their regret was universal when he left the general office in Seattle.

Announcement was made by the local yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation yesterday that the No. 5 floating dry dock, now in service at the company's Oakland yard, will arrive at Los Angeles Harbor sometime within the next three weeks. The big dock will be dismantled and towed in sections by tugs to this port, where it will be set up at the local plant. The dry dock is said to be one of the largest on the Coast, and has a lifting capacity of 12,000 tons.

The Shipping Board freighter Arapahoe has been purchased outright by the Alaska Packers' Association. The vessel, which is of 2061 net tons, is at present on the east coast and will be brought to the Pacific. Association officials expressed the belief that she would arrive too late to go north with the rest of the fishing fleet, scheduled to leave next month. The Arapahoe was built at Glasgow in 1902.

The Admiral Line steamer President has been chartered to take a large party of Shriners to Honolulu, following the Shriners' convention to be held at San Francisco in June, according to word reaching the local port yesterday. More than 4000 persons will be booked for the Honolulu excursion, tourist agencies declare. Several other ships will be assigned to the trip.

Threatened disruption of the Pacific Westbound Conference, pending for several weeks, has been eliminated, according to word received by local shipping men at the harbor yesterday. Lines represented in the conference met at San Francisco Tuesday and an agreement on standard rates was finally reached, the advices state. A feature of the meeting was the joining of the conference by two lines not members heretofore. They were Swayne & Hoyt, general agents for the Furness-Withey interests, joining the body on behalf of the latter; and the Osaka Shoshen Kaisa. The latter became members through McCormick, McPherson & Lapham, their Pacific Coast agents. The Robert Dollar Company declined to join the conference, but agreed to abide by whatever rates were decided upon. Among the new rates decided upon at the conference were the following: Bichromite of potash, $10; new commodity of talc, $8; textiles, $12.

News of Ships and Sailings in Pacific Ports.

TACOMA, March 2.—It is thought by stevedores that the Siberian Prince, loading for Japan, and the Walter Luckenbach, loading for New York, will sail Saturday. Both ships are of the "Prince" fruit, loading. The Siberian Prince is taking over a million feet of lumber from Tacoma.

After going to Seattle to discharge freight, the Santa Cruz of the W. R. Grace Line arrived here this morning and went into the smelter to finish unloading inbound freight.

The California joins the Admiral Line steamer Admiral Schley is due at the commercial dock Friday. The vessel had a large amount of outbound cargo to load here.

The steel Navigator returned here Thursday morning from down sound ports to complete loading for New York. The vessel went to the terminal docks to load some freight and from there will go to the Puget Sound Lumber Company dock. The steamer may sail Saturday evening.

The Willdale of the Williams line, which has been loading at Tacoma for several days, is due to sail Friday morning for East Coast ports. Outbound the vessel has lumber and copper.

East Coast business via the vessels of the American-Hawaiian line out of Tacoma is showing a fine increase, according to a check made on cargo arriving and departing via the vessels of this line. As an instance freight in and outbound by the Iowan is twice that of the Virginian, due here Monday to load. The Virginian will go to the smelter Monday and the baker dock. Tacoma agents of the line, said Tuesday, the vessel has a large amount of both in and outbound freight to handle.

The Derbiay of the General Steamship Corporation line arrived at Terminal dock last Thursday evening and is loading for Peru and Chile.

The Yusuri Maru was expected at the port dock some time Thursday night to load lumber for Japan. This vessel is handled by Gillespie & Co.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) March 2.—The Japanese steamer Meiwa Maru is at the elevator to load 170,000 bushels of bulk wheat for the Orient.

The steamer Melville Dollar will arrive March 11 to load 65,000 bushels. On the same day the Blue Funnel liner Ixion will dock to load 30,000 bushels.

Capt. S. Soddy has been appointed a member of the Vancouver Pilotage Association. He was formerly master of the steamer Anyox and performed splendid work with her last summer, when he saved the passengers and crew of the sinking steamer Alaska off San Francisco.

VICTORIA (B. C.) March 2.—The cable ship Restorer, which has just returned from Midway, where she repaired the break in the Orient cable, will take in awaiting orders from the owners, the Commercial Cable Company. It is said that the cable ship may return to her former base at Esquimalt.

COOS BAY (Or.) March 2.—Word came here today from Reedsport that the barge Washtenona will be loaded at the Winchester Bay Lumber Company plant by Saturday and will be towed to sea for Los Angeles, by the tug Samson, due at the Umpqua River tomorrow or Saturday with the empty Washougal.

The depth of water on the Coos Bay bar today was placed at twenty-four feet by Capt. N. W. Dixon, of the steamer C. A. Smith. Capt. Olson, who is the best-posted skipper on local channel and bar conditions, says that there are several places where the channel has shifted and correction is needed. The steamer C. A. Smith arrived this morning from San Francisco. She is loading lumber.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—The Board of Harbor Commissioners has appointed L. M. Gluer, commercial agent, to direct the work of soliciting business for this port as part of a campaign to attract shipping trade here.

Immense fields of volcanic ash were encountered by the steamer Hollywood 240 miles northeast of New Caledonia from January 5 to 7, according to a message received today by the local branch of the hydrographic office from Capt. A. Ahman of the Hollywood. The heavy fields of ash, at some places extended several feet below the surface, and so dense as to give the water a sludgy consistency, the message said. The ash fields, following which gave the ocean the appearance of shoal water with a sandy bottom.

This week the steamer Great Northern will be opened in Washington tomorrow, according to word received by the Pacific Steamship Company. The Pacific Mail announced today that the steamers Colombia, Santa Ana and Venezuela are booked full for their next voyages from here to New York.

The Swedish steamer Anton sailed for Eureka today to pick up 1,500,000 feet of lumber.

The steamer Northwestern American sailed for Seattle today to discharge and take on cargo for the return trip east.

ASTORIA (Or.) March 2.—The steamer Boston Goodfellow arrived from New York today, via San Francisco, en route to Portland.

Bringing freight and passengers for Astoria and Portland, the steamer Admiral Evans arrived today from San Pedro and San Francisco.

The steamer Admiral Rodman arrived today from San Francisco, via Eureka and Coos Bay, bringing freight and passengers for Astoria and Portland.

URGES MEXICO BE RECOGNIZED.

Chamber of Commerce Adopts Resolution.

Petition Sent to President Lauds Obregon.

Friendly Relations With Latins Are Asked.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday adopted a resolution urging the President and the Department of State to recognize the Obregon government of Mexico. The resolution reads:

"The people of Southern California and of other territory adjacent to the Mexican border realize fully the necessity and desirability for friendly and intimate trade, industrial and social relations with the people of the Mexican republic; and

"Whereas, President Obregon has demonstrated by his acts, both personal and administrative, his friendliness to the government and people of the United States; and

"Whereas, the present Mexican government has restored order in the Mexican states formerly torn by revolution, has maintained it for nearly two years, has shown a sincere desire and intent to protect the lives and property of citizens of other countries residing in Mexico and has expressed a willingness to give all the assurances for the continuation of that policy; and

"Whereas, we believe recognition by the United States will have a tendency to bring a closer commercial, industrial and agricultural co-operation between the citizens of the two republics, to their mutual advantage;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has confidence in the wisdom, ability and patriotism of the President of the United States and our State Department in the premises; and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce further believes that the time is now opportune for the earnest and effective consideration of the question involving the relations between these two governments, to the end that a situation may be created which will eventually and speedily bring about the recognition of the Republic of Mexico by our government."

MEETING POSTPONED.

The meeting of the Brenner Club that was scheduled for tonight at the Canterbury Inn has been postponed to the 17th inst., because of the death of Dr. John C. Branner, president emeritus of Stanford University.

AUTO CLUB RE-ELECTS PRESIDENT.

Many Projects to Benefit Motorists Planned This Year, Says Valentine.

W. L. Valentine of Los Angeles has been chosen by the Automobile Club of Southern California as its president, it was announced yesterday. Mr. Valentine was re-elected, having served as president last year, following Fred L. Baker in the position. J. F. Sartori was elected director to fill the vacancy caused by retirement of E. T. Off. Standish L. Mitchell was again elected secretary with Ralph Reynolds and Sidney H. Ellis, Jr., as assistants.

W.L.Valentine

In a statement issued by Mr. Valentine it was asserted that the automobile club is about to enter into a year of unusual activity, in keeping with its record of the past. Great signposting project throughout the United States which will tend to lead motorists to this section of the west have been scheduled.

The automobile club now has a membership of more than 65,000 automobile owners throughout Southern California, with offices in every county. It is the largest motoring organization in the world exceeding in numbers the automobile club of France and the Royal Automobile Club of Great Britain.

Among its activities are the signposting of highways in and leading to Southern California, touring information, recovering of stolen cars and capturing of automobile thieves, legislative activities in behalf of motorists, safety work, map preparing, insurance at cost, and several others.

CORPS PLANS BALL.

The social activities at Lincoln High School this term will be ushered in by the Reserve Officers' Training Corps ball, which will be given the 11th inst., in the new Lincoln gymnasium. Each member of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps will bring a girl friend and the evening's program will consist of dancing, games and refreshments.

MAYOR TO TRY TO OUST BOARD.

Statement Issued About the Harbor Commission.

Says All Three Should Go; Harmony is Lacking.

Loomis, Cochran and Lacy Cryer's Selections.

Preparatory to an effort to remove the entire Board of Harbor Commissioners, Mayor Cryer last evening issued a statement declaring that President McKee and Commissioners Kibele and Richards, because of "lack of harmony and co-operation" and their failure to adopt methods "of adjusting their differences," should go. Mayor Cryer announced his intention to appoint Commander Frederick J Loomis U.S.N. (retired), George I Cochran and William Lacy, the latter two being at present members of the City Efficiency Commission, as a new harbor commissioners.

Five votes are required in the City Council to confirm the Mayor's removal of the commissioners and to confirm the new appointees. As the Council lined up yesterday, though the situation may change, there are more than sufficient votes to confirm the removal of Mr. McKee and to confirm the appointment of Commander Loomis to succeed him as president of the board, but the Council is not inclined to approve the removal of Commissioners Kibele and Richards. Such action, the councilmen say, would in no way be prejudicial to Messrs. Cochran and Lacy, who under any other circumstances would be immediately confirmed. Thus far, the Council has stood behind Mr. Kibele and Mr. Richards and there was no indication yesterday that this support had been withdrawn.

Mayor Cryer's statement on the situation is as follows:

MAYOR'S STATEMENT.

"For some time conditions in the Harbor Department have been anything but satisfactory. There has been an entire lack of harmony and co-operation among the members of the commission.

"Without entering into a discussion of the merits of this matter it is sufficient to say that the differences among the members of the board have progressed to the stage that legal proceedings are actually under way to settle the controversy over the effect of certain resignations signed by one member and held by another.

"This condition is highly detrimental to the interests of the city and to the progress of an enterprise which means so much to our commercial and industrial growth.

"The apparent failure of the members of the present board to realize this condition, and their failure to avail themselves of perfectly obvious methods of adjusting their differences, indicates to me that an entire change in the personnel of the board is necessary.

REQUEST FOR SURVEY.

"I have made but a single request of them since they took office, and that was, that they cause a complete survey to be made of the harbor enterprise. Weeks passed without any survey being commenced, and it was only after much delay and discussion that they consented to request the Efficiency Commission to make such a survey. Then came the Kibele resignation episode with its charges and counter-charges.

"Under the circumstances I feel that there should be a change in the management of the harbor, and for the last three weeks I have been working to that end.

"I wish to place upon the commission, Commander Frederick J. Loomis, U.S.N., retired, and Messrs. George I. Cochran and William Lacy. I am satisfied that, as thus constituted, the new commission would work in complete harmony and would command the respect and confidence of the entire community.

"If the harbor is to be developed along the lines now contemplated, we shall require much assistance from the United States government.

"In order that our quest for government appropriation may be successful, it is highly important that the development of our harbor should be in charge of men who would command the confidence of government officials.

"In my opinion, Messrs. Loomis, Lacy and Cochran would command that confidence. Each is a highly successful business man.

"Mr. Loomis is a graduate of Annapolis and attained the rank of commander in the Navy, before retiring, to take up a business career. He appears to be well-equipped by training, temperament and experience for the position of executive head of the commission.

"Messrs. Cochran and Lacy are so well known that it would seem unnecessary to state their qualifications. As members of the Efficiency Commission they have shown themselves to be in entire sympathy with the plan of making a complete survey of the harbor enterprise.

"Not one of these gentlemen seeks appointment to the Harbor Commission. In fact, but one of them has thus far given his consent to accept appointment, and my concern now is, to secure the consent of the others to act.

"When it became evident that a change in the personnel of the commission would be necessary, I cast about for the best available material—for men of the highest standing in the community.

"Believing that in Messrs. Loomis, Lacy and Cochran, I have found such men, I am endeavoring to draft them for the work. If they will consent to serve, and if the members of the City Council will co-operate to place them on the commission, I am sure that a real service will have been accomplished for the city.

"As already stated in the press I have conferred with the Harbor Committee of the Council. Apprised the members fully of my plan, and have asked their co-operation in its accomplishment."

HAZELTINE NEW "DRY" OFFICIAL.

Swift "Extermination" of Blind Pigs is Aim.

Avery Resigns Because of Handicaps, He Says.

Successor is Pioneer in Arid Activities.

Robert C. Avery, agent in charge of prohibition enforcement in Southern California with headquarters here, has resigned and will be succeeded by F. A. Haseltine, formerly supervisor of prohibition agents in the State of Washington, Y.M.C.A. worker and prominently identified with the prohibition movement before the war. This was made known last night when Mr. Avery said his resignation, tendered several days ago, had been accepted by Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes at Washington.

"My resignation has nothing to do with methods or with any friction with Mr. Haynes," Mr. Avery said last night. "I resigned because of the handicaps in the work and the confused situation. I refer to my lack of office facilities, one small room and delay in getting equipment and help. Mr. Haseltine is getting the matter in hand and I shall turn over the office to him in a day or two."

HASELTINE PIONEER "DRY."

Mr. Haseltine has been a member of Commissioner Haynes's "flying squadron" and has been here about two weeks.

"I have no friends, political or social, in Southern California," Mr. Haseltine said last night at the Hotel Northern, where he is staying. "I will do all possible to stop the operations of blind pigs, to help put this country dry just as quickly as possible so that I can resign and go home."

Mr. Haseltine is editor and owner of the South Bend (Wash.) Journal and owns much timber land in the Northwest. He was a college mate at Oberlin College, O., of Dr. H. H. Russell, founder of the Antisaloon League. He spent a year as newspaper correspondent in South America, writing a book, "A Year of South American Travel." While in Peru in 1895 he was the leading figure in a movement for a civil marriage law and such a law was passed before he could marry a missionary he met there. Mrs. Haseltine remains at South Bend to look after her husband's newspaper and other interests.

WAS Y.M.C.A. WORKER.

Mr. Haseltine was named by Gov. Hart of Washington to found a Normal School at Centralia, but his interest in prohibition enforcement work prevented acceptance of the offer. Mr. Haseltine is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He formerly was city treasurer and then county treasurer at South Bend. He took the chairmanship of the Republican Central Committee of Pacific county, and when he refused to spend any of the campaign money with the saloon men, they attempted to defeat the ticket, which, however, was elected with increased majorities. For sixteen years Mr. Haseltine served as regent of the State University of Washington and two years as chairman of the board. He was a Young Men's Christian Association worker in Camp Lewis and then went overseas with the Sixth Division in the war.

Death Arrives Before Lapse of War Policy

Stretching across the span of his life by a few short hours, war risk insurance proved its value in the case of George C. Kafer of Hollywood, whose funeral was conducted yesterday afternoon in Glendale.

Mr. Kafer, who was a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kafer of 4619 North Melbourne avenue died from the after-effects of influenza. He was in training at Camp Kearny when the armistice was signed, and it was there that he contracted the disease.

His $10,000 war-risk insurance policy was paid up to midnight of February 28. He died the forenoon of that day. His beneficiaries will receive $57.50 per month for the next twenty years, according to officers of Victory Post, of which he was a member.

PREFERS .. CAREER .. TO .. HUSBAND.

Roberta Arnold.

Lost Husband's Return Will Cost His Wife Ten Thousand Dollars.

By regaining her husband, whom she believed dead, Mrs. Harold E. Roy, of 3171½ South Olive street, loses $10,000.

The husband's recovery of his memory, after what he declared was a year of wandering about the country, a victim of amnesia, will enrich the Bankers' Life Insurance Company to that extent, according to dispatches from Des Moines, the home office, last night.

Dr. Roy, New York dentist and alumnus of Swathmore College, where he was a noted athlete twelve years ago, recently rejoined his supposed widow here. He declared he had recovered his memory in Kansas City, and, tracing his wife to her present address came at once to her.

After his disappearance, Mrs. Roy collected his life insurance of $10,000. The canoe in which he was last seen was found crushed in the Hudson River, and with his failure to return home, it was believed he had been run down by a vessel and drowned.

Now that he has been found to be very much alive, negotiations are under way for the refunding of the money, it was stated at the home office of the company.

Upon learning of Dr. Roy's resurrection, the Bankers' Life Insurance Company sought to attach New York property, which, it was thought, belonged to him. Gerard Nollen, one of the officials, is authority for the assertion that the company has reason to believe a settlement will be reached within a few days.

Following the canoe accident, which occurred last March, Dr. Roy was missing until recently. The class of 1909 of Swathmore passed resolutions of condolence and forwarded them to Mrs. Roy.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy were reported "not in" at their apartments last night, and their version of the life insurance negotiations has not been made public.

ROBERTA ARNOLD, who several months ago made a decided hit as star of "Upstairs and Down" and went from Morosco's Theater here to New York's Broadway, now is playing the principal feminine lead in a local divorce court drama of domestic ups and downs, it became known yesterday.

Her husband, Herbert Rawlinson, known throughout filmdom as a Universal headliner, has filed suit here, charging desertion.

The oft-repeated story of a former actress trying to choose between husband and career apparently is the basis of the difficulties which eventually wrecked the Rawlinson happiness.

Divorce action was started more than a month ago, but secrecy concerning the identity of the couple was not penetrated until yesterday. An affidavit was filed then setting forth the fact that Mrs. Rawlinson is an actress under the name of Roberta Arnold and living now in New York.

In the complaint are few enlightening details as to what occurred to disrupt the couple's relations. It is set forth that they were married on New Year's Day, 1911, and separated Nov. 1, 1919. Desertion by Mrs. Rawlinson is the ground on which the Universal star seeks his freedom.

But behind the scenes, or rather in the whispering gossip of Hollywood, are reports that the separation occurred when the wife decided to bask again in the glare of the footlights.

She had cherished memories of her success as star of "The First Year" and other New York plays before her marriage, the gossip says and the lure of the stage constantly grew stronger as the years of wedded life rolled by. She formerly was with the first "Peg O' My Heart" company and retired when she married Mr. Rawlinson.

The couple apparently were greatly attached to each other, friends declare, but the clash came over the question of her returning to the stage. She was offered a role with Morosco's "Upstairs and Down" and made a hit here. She went to New York and her success spread rapidly. During part of her stay in New York her husband was there in pictures. But he returned to Los Angeles and a year and a half ago went to Universal.

For the past several weeks he has been making a personal appearance tour throughout the West, now being at Denver with his film, "The Scrapper." He will return to Los Angeles next week at the close of his present trip, which has included San Francisco and Salt Lake City.

AMBASSADOR COMING.

Sir Auckland Geddes to Arrive Here Within Week.

Sir Auckland Geddes, K.C.B., Ambassador from Great Britain, will visit this section of the State within a week, according to a telegram received from the United States Chamber of Commerce yesterday by the Los Angeles chamber. Ambassador Geddes will be a guest of the chamber and other organizations of the city during his brief sojourn. Mayor Cryer and other prominent residents of the city will receive him.

He is to be a guest and the principal speaker at the University of California on Charter Day, March 23, and hopes to visit Yosemite and the Grand Canyon.

SEALSKIN COAT STOLEN.

Passkey burglars last night stole a sealskin coat valued at $450 from the home of Mrs. Laura Meyers, 2911 West Fifteenth street, according to a report to Wilshire police. The thieves overlooked silverware worth several hundred dollars.

HARBOR SURVEY FUND APPROVED.

Continuance of Projects is Authorized.

Bill Now Carries Osborne's Recommendations.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Los Angeles is now in line for an even greater harbor. Today the House Rivers and Harbors Committee reported a bill authorizing continuance of many projects and providing among other things for a survey of Los Angeles Harbor to determine the necessity and desirability for the extension of a breakwater from the end of the present breakwater to a point on shore near the center of Long Beach. The survey is also to determine the necessity and cost for widening the present inner channel and straightening its lines up to the inner turning basin. This is the initial step to government construction which will result eventually in the doubling of the capacity of the harbor and the creation of an outer harbor in which all the ships of war of this country may ride with safety and comfort without interfering with the ever-increasing commerce both oceanwise and coastwise now attracted to the harbor of Los Angeles.

That this item is included in the bill is due to the activities and hard work of Congressman Osborne, who is the second ranking member on the Rivers and Harbors Committee and who was made chairman of the subcommittee on new projects and surveys. He has conducted many of the hearings of the full committee as well as presiding over the subcommittee and in all of the sessions he has been alive to the necessity of Los Angeles for an increased harbor and a wider and straighter channel to the inner harbor. This provision for a survey of Los Angeles is one of the very few new projects included in the bill. President John D. Fredericks of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, when here a few days ago urged the new survey for the benefit of Los Angeles' growing importance as a harbor.

In addition to the provision for a survey of Los Angeles Harbor, Congressman Osborne succeeded in getting authority included in the bill for a survey of Newport harbor in Orange county.

All of the important existing projects for dredging and improving harbors on the West Coast were retained in the bill by Congressman Osborne, who is the sole representative of the Pacific Coast, and who cared for all of the harbor matters from San Diego to the Canadian line. In speaking of the accomplishments of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, Congressman Osborne said tonight:

"I feel quite gratified with the result, which is really a good deal of importance to the various interests of the Coast, and particularly ours in Los Angeles."

DISCIPLINE HELD NEED OF SOCIETY.

"The great danger to democracy lies in the words and acts of self-indulgent, undisciplined individuals and organizations who consider only their own desires and interests, without regard to the welfare of the majority," declared Rev. Robert B. Gooden, headmaster of the Harvard School, speaking yesterday at the Morosco Theater at the first of the noon-day Lenten services.

Rev. Robert B. Gooden.

These meetings, which are under the auspices of the Episcopal churches, but to which all citizens are invited, will be conducted every day, except Sundays, from now to Good Friday. The speaker for the rest of this week will be Rev. Mr. Gooden. The sermonettes for next week will be by Bishop M. S. Thomas of Wyoming.

Following a brief song and prayer service, led by Dean MacCormack of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, Rev. Mr. Gooden spoke on "Discipline," taking his text from St. Paul's Epistle to St. Titus: "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously and godly in this present world."

Mr. Gooden pointed to the fact that the great meaning of Lent is self-discipline and said that the Master, Jesus, came to earth, disciplined himself, denied himself the pleasures of the senses and suffered and died in order that men might attain to the pure joy that comes through self-government and through love of their fellow-beings.

"The great need of today is discipline, in individual and in social life," said Mr. Gooden. "It is obviously the duty of adults to practice self-restraint and to teach that important lesson to the growing youth of the land. Criticism is all too easy and all too often it is not constructive. It is easy to 'knock' the boys and girls of today, to point to them and say, 'they have no sense of responsibility, no conception of duty, no idea of discipline.' But whose fault is it? It is plainly our business to teach these young people, to discipline them and help them to discipline themselves, to show them that all the good things which God has given us are meant for our legitimate use and joy and not for self-indulgence.

"I deal with boys and I know them. The average American boy is splendid, physically, mentally and morally. However, he is in danger and the danger is that he will be led astray by self-indulgence, unless the hand and mind of maturity go out to guide.

MY LITTLE FRIENDS.

Junior, aged 6, had been given a baseball and bat on his birthday anniversary. The theory was that he would share them with his brother Gordon, aged 7. Going into the back yard the next morning, however, the mother of the two boys was surprised to see Junior batting his ball in the center of the yard with all the spectacular energy of a star player, while his brother, seated on the rear steps of the house, gloomily regarded his gyrations.

"Why aren't you playing, too, Gordon?" asked the mother.

Gordon's lips trembled.

"Junior won't let me," he explained. "He says he is the game and that I've got to be the crowd watching him."

Betty, 6-year-old daughter of a convivial western financier whose cellar is not yet quite empty, was privileged to go to church the other day and see her mother receive communion. At the luncheon table Betty gave the family the benefit of her impressions of the service.

"Mama went right up in front," she said, "and a man in a night gown came and gave her a cocktail."

Little Harriet, 5, awakened in the middle of the night and called loudly for a glass of water. Her mother, in the next room, got up, poured the water into a glass and hurried with it to her infant's side.

"It's so dark I can't see you, Harriet," she remarked as she groped her way across the dim nursery.

"Can you see my nightie?" asked Harriet.

"Yes, I think I can see your night gown."

"Well, I'm in it," explained little Harriet, with a sigh of relief.

Little Josephine was deeply impressed by the sacrifices her mother and aunt were making during Lent. Her mother was giving up all desserts, and her aunt, who also had a "sweet tooth," was giving up candy.

"What will you give up, Josephine?" asked her mother jokingly.

Josephine reflected.

"I fink," she said at last, "I will div up taster oil!"

As castor oil was the child's greatest abomination, her mother and aunt laughed heartlessly. The daughter hurt the infant's feelings. Her small mouth set.

"You know," she coldly reminded them, "you said it was doin' me dood!"

Jamie, 7, assured that an angel had brought a baby sister to the house, went into his mother's bedroom with radiant anticipation, to see the newcomer. The tiny, wriggly, red-faced squirming mass on his mother's arm wholly failed, in his judgment, to come up to specifications. For several moments he studied it blankly. Then his face cleared.

"Send it right straight back, mother," he earnestly advised. "Send it right straight back and have God do it over. I'm perfectly sure He could make a better job of it!"

Little Harry, 5, led into the nursery to see a new baby brother, was moved to give the new member of the family a valuable tip. Leaning over the crib, he whispered loudly,

More Klondike Dope.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] While you may not care to give space to any prolonged controversy on a subject of little interest to a majority of your readers I trust, however, you will permit me to correct an erroneous statement I made in a former communication, and to give due credit to Mr. T. H. Long for having in The Times of the 17th inst. convinced me of my mistake. The statement read as follows: "Of course every Klondiker knows there is no such creek as Lower Eldorado Creek." I now wish to correct and amend this so as to read: "Of course every Klondiker, except Mr. Long, knows there is no such stream as Lower Eldorado Creek and every Klondiker, except Mr. Long, knows there is no discovery claim in Eldorado Creek,' Mr. Long to the contrary.

Mr. Long's explanation of the method of locating mining ground in the Yukon territory applies to main creeks only, but not to their tributaries, or what is known locally as pups, except very few instances. Eldorado Creek, being a tributary of Bonanza Creek, is no exception to this. Eldorado claims are staked and numbered from where it joins Bonanza Creek, No. 1 being the first claim, No. 2 next, and so on upstream to its head, Mr. Long to the contrary.

While Mr. Long arrived in the Klondike considerably later and left several years before I did, he was there long enough to have known the facts about locations, especially on a creek where he says he was milling. I do not doubt that Mr. Long is or was a member of the Alaska pioneers, as I have a faint recollection of having voted for his admission, but I do not recollect of doing so in either the "Klondike Pioneers" or the Yukon order of Pioneers, much older organizations than the Alaska Pioneers.

My objection to Alexander Donald McEvoy's (not McElroy) statements as they appeared in the Examiner of the 8th inst. was not his calling a certain stream by a wrong name, but because he made malicious and slanderous statements and which he must have known were false. Since Mr. Long appears as sponsor for McEvoy's veracity, he should now inform us who the notorious outlaw was that was executed on Lower Eldorado Creek in 1900 by the outraged miners, information which led to this supposed hanging McEvoy informs us was furnished the miners by the late William Desmond Taylor. Mr. Long seems to think that my memory has failed me; undoubtedly his must be quite clear on such important occurrences as a lynching, especially when it is supposed to have occurred in the particular locality and identical time when Mr. Long mined there. Mr. Long is entitled to be known as the champion musher (traveler) of Alaska, as he says he has traveled over most of its streams and all its trails, a feat that no other person ever has or ever will accomplish. In my seventeen years' residence in the Northland I traveled a great deal, but not over one-tenth part of its trails and only over a few of its thousands of streams, hence my admiration for Mr. Long, the champion of Alaska.

PASADENA, Feb. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have followed with interest the editorials which have appeared in The Times occasionally upon the subjects of traffic violations and traffic regulation.

May I take the liberty of suggesting that if the people could be induced to seriously direct their thoughts to the problem of traffic regulation, much good might come of it, for there surely is a right solution of these difficulties.

The Times has always been generous in the matter of prizes and it occurs to me that if a prize could be offered for the best idea for solving the traffic question it might prove highly beneficial to us all, for out of the many foolish and impractical ideas that would undoubtedly be submitted, something truly valuable might be obtained, and, incidentally, would offer opportunity for a feature of great interest. (Please be advised that I am not seeking an opportunity to win a prize, for my own time is completely taken up, but am sincerely anxious to see something worked out which will be helpful.)

In presenting this to your attention I refer not merely to rules which a traffic officer might use to advantage, but to engineering features, such as congested corners, grade crossings or road building.

It is claimed that a boy 15 years old told experienced engineers how to build the railroad through a certain locality in the Mt. Shasta region. Might not a good plan be evolved for the traffic problems from a source equally unexpected?

Echo Answers, Why!

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Speaking for myself and at least a million other patrons of the photodrama, I must say that Miss Kingsley's article of last Monday, criticizing the plays in which the three stars, Katherine MacDonald, Anita Stewart and Norma Talmadge are appearing, certainly expresses our opinion. What are the producers thinking of? We ask. Who are these silly persons who select such poor stories when surely there are plenty of good stories? Keep up your good work.

I have often wondered why plays written for the screen by real playwrights are not used, instead of those hand-made, machine-made affairs turned out by some director or studio writer. Also, I wonder why we do not have plays dealing with problems, hopes, ideals, of the returned soldier; in other words, of the real men of today and tomorrow—plays dealing with America.

Question: What is the term for the practice some people have when puzzled of opening the Bible at random, reading a verse, and allowing it to determine the person's course of action?

J. C. B.

Answer: Divination by means of the Bible is called bibliomancy. Use of poetic verses, fixed on by chance, was common in Rome. Virgil was often used for this purpose. As the Bible spread through Europe, devout people naturally turned to it for direction. The custom still persists, although church dignitaries have frowned upon it.

Q.: Was basketball ever called by any other name?

D. V. H.

A.: Dr. Naismith, who invented the game, says he gave it the name indoor rugby. One of the players on one of the first teams suggested the name basketball, and it was promptly adopted. The fundamental principles of playing the game have never been changed.

A.: Black Thursday was the name given to Feb. 8, 1851, in the colony of Victoria, Australia. On that day the most terrible bush fire in the annals of the colony occurred.

Q.: What is the estimated worth of the Rothschilds?

G. H. M.

A.: At the time of Nathan Rothschild's death, in 1915, the family holdings were estimated at $2,000,000,000.

Q.: Please advise if there are any mints in the United States except that at Washington, D. C.

M. C. C.

A.: There is no mint in Washington, D. C. The three mints, being operated as such, are located at San Francisco, Cal.; Denver, Colo., and Philadelphia.

Q.: Which port ships more cotton, Galveston or New O

A.: The Department of Commerce says Galveston, Tex., ships twice as much cotton as New Orleans for the year 1920.

RACE SUICIDE, DIVORCE PLEA.

Charges Wife Refused to Have Any Children.

Wealthy Shoe and Cigar Man Blames Mother-in-Law.

Charges that his wife was an exponent of race suicide and refused to have any children won Max C. Chotiner, wealthy shoe and cigar man of Los Angeles, a divorce yesterday in Las Vegas, Nev., according to a message received from there. The case was heard by District Judge Orr of Las Vegas. Mr. Chotiner also asserted that his wife's dresses, that she wanted to spend $4500 in sixty days for her wife's dresses, that she wanted to spend all night in cabarets, that she never cooked a meal and when he brought meat home for dinner she threw it in the garbage can. There were several other charges.

Mr. Chotiner is 31 years old and his wife, Mrs. Lulu May Chotiner, is 28. A pepperty settlement, it was announced, was made out of court. Mr. Chotiner is associated with his brother, Harry W. Chotiner, in the ownership of Chotiner's Shoe Store, 551 South Broadway. He is also reputed to be part owner with his brother in the St. Elmo Cigar Company of this city. Mr. Chotiner's home is on the corner of Gramercy and Country Club Drive, and his wife now resides at 703 Ashland avenue, Ocean Park.

Through his attorney, Frank A. Stevens, of Stevens & Henderson of Las Vegas, Chotiner made many sensational charges in his divorce complaint. Mrs. Chotiner's case was handled by Dist.-Atty. Harlee A. Harmon of Las Vegas.

The Chotiners were married May 7, 1921, in San Francisco.

Two weeks after the marriage, Mr. Chotiner charges that his wife began to abuse him by constant "nagging, scolding, fault-finding, complaining, by extravagance, by interference with plaintiff's business, by simulating illness, and by trying to force plaintiff in various ways to permit the defendant's mother, Mrs. Florence Gallagher, to live with plaintiff and defendant and by conspiring with and co-operating with her said mother and defendant's sister to dictate to plaintiff how he should conduct his home affairs."

Mr. Chotiner further charged that his wife "would neglect and refuse to perform her household duties; and also persisted in a course to prevent the conception of a child, well knowing that plaintiff desired children."

All of which, Mr. Chotiner said, caused him "great physical pain and mental anguish, destroyed his happiness, rendered his life miserable and unendurable, and seriously affected his physical health, and plaintiff verily believes that further cohabitation between plaintiff and defendant would endanger his physical health and life."

PRISONERS TO GET NEW GRILLING.

Police Find Trail of the Seventh Suspect in Taylor Death Case.

Coincident with preparations last night to subject the six suspects held in connection with the Taylor murder investigation to a new grilling, it was learned that police are in possession of facts concerning the asserted leader of the gang and expect to have him in custody shortly.

This man is the same individual being sought by the Sheriff's office on information which points to him as holding the possible solution to the slaying mystery. Both the city and county agencies believe that through the seventh man, said to be an associate of criminals, they can, locate the guilty persons.

His capture, it is said, will either mean a strong chain of circumstantial evidence against two of the men now in custody or entrenches all six of them from the case. The six suspects held in City Jail were arrested on information given by Mrs. John Rupp, 1216½ West Washington street, several days ago, to the effect that they quarreled with Mr. Taylor over his refusal to pay for a consignment of liquor, and threatened "to get" him.

Captain of Detectives David Adams admitted yesterday that the six suspects staunchly denied any knowledge of the case.

"The theory concerning the men now held does not loog tenable to me on the surface," said Capt. Adams. "I do not think we will be able to connect them with the murder.

"I must admit that up to the present time we have nothing that promises the true solution of the crime."

The six men now in custody on suspicion of robbery are: George Stewart, alias Rodney, 28; Walter Ross, 28; William East, 38; John Ross, 38; Ray Lynch, 28; and Harry Amorheim, 27.

EXPECT HOOVER TO ARRIVE SOON

Secretary of Commerce Hoover will arrive in Los Angeles about two weeks, according to a telegram received from Washington at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Secretary Hoover will leave Washington on the 11th inst. for Phoenix, Ariz., where he will remain until the middle of March. It is indicated that he will come directly to this city after conferring on Colorado River matters.

INTERESTING

Humpty Dumpty sat on the Wall—but he couldn't possibly have sat on any Bullock walls lately, for there's been such a hammering and a banging that the most cheerful of eggs would have been thrown right off his balance.

"One o'Clock Saturdays"

All the Girls' Sections have moved right upstairs to the Fifth Floor where toys used to be, and my, but their new home is beautiful.

"One o'Clock Saturdays"

Girls—this is "a invite." Come right on up and see these wonderful new Sections where your Spring Hats and your Summer Hats, your Spring and Summer Dresses and Coats, are just waiting for you. You will enjoy looking around.

"Bullock's for Laces"

Do Your Dresses Look Right? Girls often feel that they want to look "different, or something," and just as likely as not the whole difficulty would be solved by a little corset, which might be nothing more than a bit of elastic, properly placed.

"Bullock's for Linens"

Spend a Half-Hour looking through the Junior Corsets and Hip Confiners in the Junior Corset Section on the Fourth Floor—at Bullock's. Why, you would scarcely believe there are so many charming little things just for girls. Seventh Street Building.

"Bullock's for Laces"

Girls at School may find it hard to keep their best dresses properly, and for this purpose, a Cedar Bag is the very thing. Perhaps the clever contrivance known as the Closgard may also solve many problems. These hold several dresses, and keep out moths very effectively. Find them both in Bullock's Luggage Store—Bullock's Hill Street Building.

"Bullock's for Linens"

Gay Little Feather Dusters, ready boxed, make charming gifts to the girl at School. These are finished in rose or French blue, wrapped with gold galloon and with a black knobbed handle, priced $1.75 in Bullock's Art Needlework and Gift Store. Bullock's Hill Street Building.

SOME CORSET PERILS.

There have been two deaths in Switzerland of women who have fallen amid ice or snow and pierced themselves with their corset bones. Possibly it is the fear of thus spearing themselves that impels the Los Angeles girls to check their corsets in the lobby.

IN FLY TIME.

In six months the progeny of a single fly may reach 4,000,000,000. Swatting a single fly doesn't seem very heroic, but if it will head off one of these families it will count bulkily. It is well that the death rate among flies is heavy. If they all lived to maturity there wouldn't be anything but flies in the world by this time.

CASH AND THE BONUS.

If Congress cuts out the cash feature in the bonus legislation there wouldn't be much left to fight over. But there would be a roar from those who are directing the agitation. Most of those who are imperious in their demands for a bonus would insist on taking it in its cash form. Possibly it would be cash or nothing with them.

MIRACLES AND THE LAW.

Attorneys for both prosecution and defense quoted scripture in the trial of the local "miracle man" who was acquitted by a jury evenly balanced between the sexes. There was no miracle in the verdict and it was accepted as a commonplace by those who had followed the case. But if the mix-up brought the lawyers to a search of the scriptures it achieved something.

DREAM STUFF.

Psychoanalysts are trying to find out why dreams repeat. A man will frequently fall over the same precipice five or six nights in succession. It doesn't seem to make any difference whether he has eaten mince pie or oatmeal crackers. The dream comes with the same harrowing trimmings. What does it mean? What are dreams made of and what do they portend? These are a few of the matters that are worrying the psychophiends. Why don't they dig up one of the old-fashioned dream books and live happily ever after?

THE MOORS OF VENICE.

During the war a Berlin writer was claiming that Shakespeare was a German. Now the Germans are preparing a vast film production of "Othello" and it will be seen here presently. Looks as if there might be a chance here for another alliance of Uncle Sam and John Bull against the Germans. If they are going to adopt Bill Shakespeare and make him into pictures for the invasion of Hollywood it is time to start a fight. "Othello" should be made at Culver City. There are several Moores at Venice who could jump right into the piece.

TRICKS OF FATE.

The acting Governor of Colorado pardoned a prisoner whom he defended in former years. He said that the man was convicted because he had unskilled and incompetent counsel. The acting Governor was a green and inadequate lawyer at the time and he declared that his own blundering was responsible for the conviction and sentence of the prisoner. When the time came that he served as acting Governor for a few days he made amends by pardoning his former client. This sounds like old stuff in the movies, but is vouched for as a fact.

MARRYING MEN.

A Boston woman who has recently taken her fourth husband admits that she has had more than fifty marriage proposals in the last three years. On the other hand, there are hundreds of Massachusetts maidens who never even had a sniff at one. They feel that fate is not just. They are in favor of the square deal which would give them a proposal each. Even if a woman has had four husbands, she can never hope to achieve fifty. A charmer who turns down a fresh wedding ring every ten days is having more than her share of life's adventures.

THE MISSING LINK.

One of our intellectual friends bluntly inquires what progress we are making in evolving a capable process for the disintegration of the atom. If we cannot disintegrate an atom, what profits it to be able to juggle a tray in a cafeteria or drive a Ford with one hand? In the field of radium the disintegration of the atom has been attained, but that is about all. Why explore the mysteries of home brewing while the atom stands undisintegrated? If our intelligentsia would solve this for us we would know whether or not we are all made of blue mud.

SCHOOL DAYS.

The National Education Association is having a meeting in Chicago. Will C. Wood of California is in direction of the division of superintendents. The association is doing a bit of research work. It is trying to find out whether the public schools of today are "delivering the goods." Are they fulfilling their mission? Are they producing results commensurate with their cost? The educators will find plenty of argument on that score. The little country schoolhouse with its thirty-dollar teacher wasn't much to look at when measured up against a modern palace of learning, but these backwoods colleges and prairie universities delivered some notable graduates to the hall of fame. Are the million-dollar temples of instruction doing as much? The Chicago gathering will do wonders if it can settle this question.

MORE BROKEN PLEDGES.

Breaking their solemn pledges and disregarding the admonitions of their own international president, the printing pressmen's union of New York City recently refused to abide by the findings of a committee of arbitration and went on strike. The committee was selected by mutual agreement between the publishers and the union. Before it began its sessions the following was signed by both parties to the controversy:

> That the decision shall be final; and that both parties agree to abide by and carry out the terms as arrived at by the board of arbitration.

The board was composed of three representatives; one selected by the union, the second by the publishers and the third by these two. They agreed upon Judge Martin T. Manton of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. At the request of the union, the duration of the contract was to extend from March 1, 1922, to Sept. 1, 1923.

Under these conditions the board of arbitration conducted an investigation and made its report. It was a compromise decision. The request of the publishers for a reduction in wages in consonance with the lowered cost of living was denied. In fact, a few increases in pay were ordered. But the board found that the publishers possess and should be permitted to exercise the right of conducting their own business; that the publisher should be the judge of how many men should be employed on a press and whether the services of any employee were necessary.

This part of the decision aroused the ire of the radicals in the union, who were intent on the sovietization of the printing industry and not greatly concerned about wages and working conditions. The so-called business agents started a propaganda against accepting the findings of the board of arbitration. They used the Macchiavellian argument that "a bad bargain is better broken than kept;" and persuaded a majority of the members to agree to repudiate their pledges. Their chief argument was that no decision which is contrary to the desire of the majority of the membership should be binding, regardless of what pledges might have been given. They used the Bolshevik dictum that "Honor is only a bourgeois superstition."

President Berry of the international pressmen's union wired them a formal protest against breaking faith. He told them that:

> It is my opinion that the decision is academic and impractical; but the guarantee of the organization has been given that whatever conclusions arrived at would be adhered to. It is my judgment, therefore, that for the union to precipitate a strike or any form of concerted action would be a very great mistake and an indictment of the union's integrity.

Disregarding this admonition, the union pressmen walked out in a body on Monday night, leaving the publishers and the employees in all other departments in the lurch. They regarded a contract as the Hohenzollerns regarded a treaty—as only a scrap of paper. They imagined they are strong enough and well enough organized to force the management to suspend publication. With them might makes right. They were but partially successful. The members of the other departments remained loyal and the publishers reduced the size of their newspapers to eight pages.

The act of the strikers aroused such a storm of protest, alike from the public and from the employees of other departments, that most of them slunk back to their jobs on Tuesday night. They have announced, however, that their return is only temporary; that, if the publishers insist on enforcing the Manton award, they will again go on strike.

As one views the situation from this distance he naturally wonders what the strikers expect to win by such a dishonorable course. The argument for the formation of unions is that it permits collective bargaining. But how can any bargaining be conducted when one party to the agreement refuses to keep faith? How can honorable men continue to arbitrate with those who prove by their actions that they are without honor? The courts have consistently held that any agreement which is binding upon but one party is without force.

To seek the hidden cause of such a palpable breach of faith one must consider the history and the record of the labor-union movement in this country. The labor-union leaders, from Gompers down, have made a virtue of disregard for the law. They have counseled the membership to disregard court injunctions and have condoned, if not encouraged, the resort to violence in labor disputes. The men are counseled not to break their agreements; but there is hardly a case on record, unless it was a dispute between two unions, in which they have disciplined those who broke faith. Nothing has been heard of any movement to expel from the international union these striking pressmen.

No secure structure can be erected on a false foundation. Who condones violence encourages violence. No law which does not impose a penalty for its infraction can be enforced. If the international union permits its members to break contracts with impunity it becomes a menace to industry and should be suppressed. How can the people of the country expect a free press if the publishers are to be compelled to submit to such tyranny?

The labor-union movement in this country must be judged by results. The unions decline to incorporate in order to evade financial responsibility for such acts as that committed by the pressmen's union of New York. If it was their purpose and intent to be law abiding they would not seek to escape this responsibility. State and Federal regulation of the labor unions seems to be the only defense of the public against such outlawry.

LADIES AND NICOTINE.

If the Massachusetts Legislature passes the bill now before it which would forbid women smoking in hotels, restaurants and public places a lot of enangered females will mark the old Bay State off their visiting list. Why do they call it equal suffrage when the women have to begin a new battle for the right to smoke their pipes in the lobby? Isn't the torch of Liberty a cigarette? If Massachusetts denies women the right to blow a cheroot with their hotel dinner it will be a step in the general direction of the dark ages. It is possible that Bunker Hill will have to be fought over again. This time scratching, biting and pulling hair will be part of the curriculum of battle.

Now What?

ONE OF NATURE'S WONDERS.

It is impossible, of course, for any sane person to become enraged at the antics of a doodlebug. All you can do is to watch him doodling around and marvel at the strange creatures whom God has sent to help inhabit the earth.

Just so, no one could manage to work up any real excitement over the queer journalistic antics of William Randolph Hearst.

At the same time, some of his performances inspire the observer of life in its strangest phases with wonderment and curiosity.

In the terse and expressive language of the streets and the town, you can't help wondering how he got that way.

As, for instance, the extraordinary journalistic gymnastics of the local Hearst paper in the attempted secret sale of the power bonds by which transaction the city narrowly escaped the loss of about $2,000,000.

When the matter was first brought to the attention of the public the attitude of the Hearst paper was to scream with rage and indignation against the officials and the newspaper who exposed the secret deal. With his customary fury Mr. Hearst worked himself into a lather of venomous emotion in defense of the sale.

In due time the attempted sale of the bonds was stopped by the court; a new, public and legitimate sale took place and the bonds were sold at a sound profit instead of the loss that the secret sale would have occasioned.

Consider the amazement of the reading public when the quiet buzz of satisfaction over a good deed well done was interrupted by a screech of triumph. It was Hearst congratulating himself; claiming to have saved the city $2,000,000 by stopping the secret sale! The very sale he had applauded!

There were many guileless persons who foolishly thought that the limits of human cheek and effrontery had been reached years ago when Hearst put a sign, "W. R. Hearst Relief Train," on a train sent by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to San Francisco at the time of the earthquake and fire. But those who thought this to be the limit lacked imagination.

In the words of the vaudeville sketch, Mr. Hearst could have said to these persons: "Boy, if you think that was nerve, wait!" You ain't seen nothin' yet."

The temptation now comes upon us again to repeat the assertion made at that time: that the limit of human gall and impudence has now been attained and that Hearst wears the permanent crown.

But, knowing Mr. Hearst, we dare not say that the ultimate has been attained. We can only wait with wonderment and anticipation. What next?

WHAT WOULD THE SPHINX SAY?

Egypt is free!

On the surface this fine phrase has an inspiring sound. To the subjugated fellaheen have been restored their long-lost liberties. It is to sing.

"The people that in darkness sat a glorious light have seen"—"Sound the loud timbrel o'er Egypt's dark sea!" These and other peans of jubilation appear to be in order. Lloyd George has announced the withdrawal of the modern protectorate of the constitutional Windsors from the ancient land of the tyrannical Pharaohs.

Enthusiasts with only a vague idea of freedom in the abstract and no knowledge of economics in the concrete will doubtlessly thrill pleasantly at the release of another victim of the old Lion of the North Sea from the steel cage of dependency to sniff the open air of self-determination.

After these liberty bell ringers have rung all the changes on Egypt's new victory they might look back over history's pages for the last fifty years and acquaint themselves with the brand of bondage that has oppressed the people of the Nile under British control.

They might even go so far as to compare it with the hand of oppression the natives of the Nile country once meted out to a nobler and finer race than themselves, in the days when a real Moses appeared as a real liberator in the land of the Pharaohs.

Did the modern Egyptian suffer as his ancestors made the children of Israel suffer? How cruel were the British shackles which the modern Egyptian has at last seen stricken off?

Will the masses of Egypt, apart from the educated wire-pullers in Cairo, benefit to any noticeable degree by their change of masters? Will the native political adventurers do as much for them in the next fifty years as British statesmen have done in the last?

Would native inefficiency and oriental intrigue have ever given Egypt the mighty irrigation works at Assouan, have made millions of cotton bolls grow where nothing grew before, have lifted the fellaheen from the dirt and misery of Turkish misrule to some of the decencies and comforts of western people, have filled the Egyptian banks with money and enriched the professional and business classes so that they could educate their sons in western universities and so teach them how to throw off the oppression that made all these things possible?

Could fiery, nationalized, but incompetent orientals have produced a Kitchener to make the borders of Egypt safe from Arab inroads or built railroads or wharves or docks or developed trade and commerce and education? These, indeed, are some of the shackles from which Egypt has been freed.

Therefore, let the sentimentalists sing together "Sound the loud timbrel o'er Egypt's dark sea." Nor let them worry themselves over economics or finance, things that they do not understand. For John Bull, in spite of his sudden burst of magnanimity, probably will not altogether overlook the investments he has made in Egyptian progress and improvements.

IRISH NEWS.

There is a famous little store in town at which all sorts of foreign newspapers and magazines can be purchased. And across its front windows it impartially exhibits copies of all the Irish newspapers, published either here or in Ireland, setting forth passionately their views on the present situation in Ireland, their aspirations, their furies and exactly what they think of each other in engaging Irish frankness.

One has only to pause and glance over these various publications to realize how peculiarly hopeless is the outlook for peace in Ireland. Irishmen of all faiths line up to read those papers, free of charge, and there almost ought to be a constable stationed on the scene to keep the peace.

A little story which illuminates the present condition is told of an Irishman in France who had been shell-shocked. When he was convalescent his nurse was told to take him for a walk, but to keep his mind off the war, to chat with him reminiscently about the charms of Erin. But everywhere all around was the devastation of war, ruins, chaos.

"But where am I?" asked Pat anxiously. "What place is this?"

"Just a bit of dear old Ireland," said the nurse. "Don't you recognize it?"

"Is that so?" said Pat, brightening. "And how long have they had home rule?"

CLINICAL THERMOMETERS.

"There ought to be some person in every place of employment who understands the use of the clinical thermometer"—this is a good rule laid down the other day by Health Commissioner Copeland. And he might well have said homes, as well as stores and factories, need clinical thermometers and persons who know how to use them. There is nothing mysterious about the taking of temperatures. A thermometer in every home and each grown-up his own fever-detective—here is an excellent slogan for the health insurance companies.

A fever is a much more subtle thing, subjectively, than a stomachache—it is easy for an ordinary healthy and optimistic person to persuade himself that he hasn't one when he has. But a suspicion that something is wrong will lead him to consult a clinical thermometer if there's one in the house, and the thermometer puts the case in plain black and white. If his suspicion proves groundless his nerves are quieted and no harm is done. If it turns out to be well founded he can go to bed or call the doctor—or, if need be, can do both.

Most healthy persons will run a ten-to-one risk of illness rather than a one-to-ten risk of being called health-coddlers. All wrong. In health matters one should have the courage of one's fears.—[New York Tribune.

BRYCE AND HIS FOREBEARS.

BY JAMES MAIN DIXON.

Brought up in the same locality as the dead statesman and writer, Viscount Bryce, and knowing his people and his early teachers and friends, I have some pleasure in reverting to the past, especially as it may make his personality easier to interpret. Bryce's "The American Commonwealth" was so sane and lucid a book, that the man who wrote it must have been brought up among men who knew at first hand the foundations of democratic life and institution. Perhaps there is no American type which has contributed man for man so much to our national policy as the Scotch-Irish or Ulster-Scotch. So thought Theodore Roosevelt, and has recorded the conviction in his book, "The Winning of the West." They crossed from Scotland, mostly from the Southwest—Alexander Hamilton's native home—and found in Ireland often only a temporary resting place. For Dublin Castle bore down on their sturdy convictions often as heavily as on their Catholic neighbors. The man who succeeded to Bryce's chair of civil law at Oxford, Prof. Harry Goudy —a fellow-townsman of my own, and educated in the same Ayr Academy—came, as it happened, of the same Ulster-Scotch stock as Bryce, and had a grandfather, a Presbyterian minister, who was actually hanged as a rebel. Bryce's own grandfather, who crossed from Scotland to Londonderry as an original seceder in order to find more room for his activities, refused the government oath that was imposed at the Union on Presbyterians who wished to enjoy the increase in the regium donum—a subsidy given to Protestant preachers—and "came out" of his denomination. He founded a new Associate Presbytery, and died at the age of 90 when the future Viscount was a boy of 19. The Sunday—he would have called it "Sabbath"—before he died he was in his pulpit as usual, preaching the Word.

This sturdy veteran was the first of three James Bryces to be educated at Glasgow University. He was the eldest son of covenanting parents, John Bryce and Barbara Allan, who lived near Airdrie in Lanarkshire, at Dechmont Hill, the place from which the Viscount later took his title of Viscount Bryce of Dechmont. In this century Glasgow University was the home of two eminent teachers and thinkers, Francis Hutcheson, an eminent Ulster scholar, who founded the Scotch "moral sense" school of philosophy, and whose successor in this philosophy was Adam Smith, author of the epoch-making book, "The Wealth of Nations." It must be remembered that Glasgow was the natural school of higher learning for Ulster men, and the connection was very close between this port and Londonderry and Belfast. Adam Smith was a Fifeshire man from the same county as Bryce's excellent grandmother, Catherine Annan. There remained in Glasgow a solid and sound philosophy which at any time was likely to produce books of international fame like the "Wealth of Nations." One of its legitimate successors has been "The American Commonwealth."

James Bryce the second crossed from the Associate Presbyterian manse of Killaig to take a course at Glasgow University, where he highly distinguished himself as a classical scholar. Unable to proceed to Oxford because of limited funds—he aimed to enter the English bar as his son afterwards did—he became master in Belfast Academy. When his boy James was 8 years old, the family moved to Glasgow, where the father became master in the High School, teaching mathematics and geography. But his chosen field was geology and the natural sciences, and he did much to promote their introduction into school curricula in and around Glasgow.

The summers of the Bryce family were spent in the romantic island of Arran, in the Frith of Clyde, a four or five hours' sail in those days from Glasgow. There were swift paddle steamers that made the trip, the Jupiter and the Juno, which were bought up early in the sixties to "run the blockade" during our Civil War. They passed the historic town of Largs, scene of the great battle of the year 1263, when the Norwegian King Hacco and his vikings were repulsed for good and driven from Scottish soil. The terminus in Arran was Lamlash, sheltered by the Holy Isle, and lying close to King's Cross, which owes its name to an event which decided the fate of Scotland. Here Robert the Bruce embarked in the vessel that carried him across the strait to his own castle of Turnberry on the Ayrshire coast; and so began the campaign that ended victoriously at Bannockburn. "Bruce" is a variant of the proper name "Bryce," both being derived from the Norman "Bruys," the family name of the admiral who commanded the French fleet at the Battle of the Nile. It was among the lovely glens of Arran and climbing its steep braes that James Bryce spent his summers. He was a bit of a botanist, and the island happens to have varieties that are not found elsewhere in Scotland; indeed, one has to go as far south as the English Channel to meet with the same species. His first publication was a small book on "The Flora of the Island of Arran," which appeared in 1859. His father meanwhile was giving particular attention to the geology of the islands in the Frith of Clyde, and published a valuable treatise on the subject. He was one of the most valued contributors to the Transactions of the Royal Society of Edinburgh, of which I am a life Fellow, and to which I have also been a contributor. In the year 1877, while geologizing in the Highlands of Scotland, he met with a tragic death from the fall of some stones which he had loosened.

James Bryce, the third in succession to enter the walls of Glasgow University, was singularly fortunate in the professors under whom he had to study. The professor of Latin, or of "Humanity," as the class was termed, was the famous Ramsay, a great scholar and teacher. The Greek chair was filled by Tennyson's brother-in-law, the E. L. L. of "In Memoriam," whom his students simply reverenced. My elder brother, Rt. Rev. William Gray Dixon of New Zealand, entered the university some twelve years after Bryce had left, and was under the same instructors. By this time, however, the institution had moved from the old buildings near the Cathedral—they are now a goods station—to the palatial quarters at Kelvinside. It was in the ancient classrooms that Bryce listened to the cultured tones of Edmund Law Lushington, whom Tennyson has not flattered in the quatrain addressed to him in the epilogue to "In Memoriam":

> "And thou art worthy; full of power;
> As gentle; liberal-minded, great,
> Consistent; wearing all that weight
> Of learning lightly like a flower."

The holder of the natural philosophy chair was Edward Caird, later called to Balliol College, Oxford, to succeed Benjamin Jowett, by all odds the ablest philosophical teacher in the northern kingdom, and a man of power.

Most ambitious and capable Glasgow students took advantage of the Snell Exhibition, a scholarship of considerable value that carried the successful competitor up to Balliol College, Oxford. Among Snell Exhibitioners were Adam Smith, Archbishop Tait, Principal Shairp, Lewis Campbell and other noted writers and personages. But James Bryce chose Trinity College, Oxford, where he gained a scholarship, taking his bachelor of arts degree in 1862. This very year an Arnold History prize was offered to the students of this university for the best essay on "The Holy Roman Empire," and the successful competitor was the Glaswegian scholar of Trinity. Trinity has been a nursery for historians, among them E. A. Freeman and Bishop Stubbs; the trio, Freeman-Stubbs-Bryce, are not an unworthy contribution for one college to make to this department of learning. The same year Bryce was elected a Fellow of Oriel College, forever associated with the name of John Henry Newman. The excellence of the prize essay was at once recognized, and two years later it was enlarged and published in book form. It is now a classic. A quarter of a century more and his masterpiece, "The American Commonwealth," appeared.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM.

BY HERMAN J. STICH.

Every Man a Menagerie.

In France recently they were trying a "Bluebeard" for having murdered a dozen or two of his sweethearts and wives.

Bluebeard's counsel made an elaborate defense which included the theory that their client had "two souls"—one wicked, the other good.

A similar plea was set up in this country not long ago by a criminal who so tried to excuse his murderous acts; both of his souls were locked up together for the rest of his life.

In a cosy, little grated cell the good soul will have plenty of time to lecture the other, and that one will have to get along without killing in the future.

Yet, in reality, not "two souls" live together in the crazy mind of the French Bluebeard and his American comrade in murder, but savage atavisms of hyenas, rattlesnakes and other animal ancestors.

Something of this same idea was recognized by the ancients, one of whom, Epictetus, wrote, "A bear is in every man."

Another ancient observer remarked, "All men are full of dogs. Temper is a snarly cur. Destructiveness is a bulldog. Combativeness is a hound that runs and barks and bites. We are full of dogs."

And Zola commented, "A hog is asleep in all of us."

It has been supposed that we sprang from monkeys; there has been an inquisition to see if there has not been a caudal appendage rubbed off; and nations have been explored to find a man who had a tail as a monkey has or some evidence of one.

As a matter of fact, these people are looking in the wrong place, are traveling much too far and wide.

All they need do is to look inside most any single one of us humans and they will find a pretty completely stocked menagerie—they will see traces of the monkey, the bear, the hog, the dog and a good many others.

Probably all the animals are in us—at any rate, we know human naturp is fairly full of the animal.

And man, thinking, reasoning, self-controlled man, the most recently developed animal, retains his kingship and freedom only as he rules with wisdom and strength enough to keep down the others.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

DOING GOOD.

I joy ride, joy ride every day and superficial thinkers say I'm wasting time and cash; but, oh, the lasting good I do! If they would hold that fact in view, they'd see their talk is trash. A thousand men have better fare because I choo-choo everywhere, they bless me as I pass; and worthy men like Henry Ford accumulate a humble hoard because I burn the gas. John D. is able to uphold Research Foundations, amply filled with scientists severe, who find the germ that causes mumps and make the blamed thing bump the bumps, wink out and disappear. And skilled mechanics in their homes spend happy evenings reading pomes and playing dominoes, because my wagon knows no rest, but journeys north and east and west, where'er the long road goes. And towns like Akron shed the blues and figure daily in the news upon the throbbing wires, because I soak my Sunday hat and fountain pen and Maltese cat to buy some rubber tires. I burn up all the country roads, and people look from their abodes and say I am a crank; I'm always wasting gas and oil when I should tackle honest toil and boost the savings bank. But, oh, my friends, the good I do! The world should bless me as I choo and chug along my way; a hundred industries succeed because you see my auto speed, the merry livelong day! WALT MASON.

WINNER PAVES WAY FOR BATTLE WITH DEMPSEY.

New Orleans Heavyweight Sends Other Darkey to Canvas in New York Ring.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, March 2. Harry Wills proved conclusively tonight in Madison Square Garden that he is entitled to a chance at Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the world. In two short rounds, Wills knocked out Kid Norfolk, another sturdy colored scrapper, kicking in with a well-directed right-hand uppercut which landed on Norfolk's chin, while the two men were engaged in a mixup in the center of the ring.

So suddenly did the end come that the spectators sat dumbfounded when they saw Norfolk spread out on the canvass with Referee Kid McPartland, and Artie McGovern, one of the judges, swinging the counter over the rugged little colored boxer. When Wills brought his right hand up to Norfolk's chin, the Kid seemed to stand rigid for at least a second, before he crumpled and fell to the floor.

ROUND ONE.

Norfolk was the first to lead, but Wills slashed him on the back with his right and then the two men went right into a clinch. Then Wills hit Norfolk on the ear with a right swing. Wills chased Norfolk to the ropes without serious injury. Norfolk sneaked over a right to Wills's jaw and followed with a left hook to Harry's ear. Wills replied by driving home a shower of left and right punches to Norfolk's head and body, almost forcing the squat negro through the ropes. Wills staggered Norfolk with a left to the chin, but the latter rushed back at the tall Harry, trying desperately to get over a left swing, but missed. Bell.

ROUND TWO.

The men rushed into a clinch. Before Norfolk could free himself from the long arms of Wills, the latter ripped a right-hand uppercut to the kid's chin, dropping him as if he had been shot. Norfolk lay prone on his back while the referee and Artie McGovern counted over him. As Norfolk tried to rise he fell back again until McGovern had counted the fatal ten. Then they carried Norfolk to his corner. He didn't appear very much hurt from the giant negro's wallop to the chin.

The next bout of eight rounds showed Farmer Lodge of St. Paul, 136 1-2 pounds against Paul Simpson of New York, 133 pounds. It was a scream of a bout and resembled a trick act in a burlesque show.

MILTON IS LUCKIEST OF PILOTS.

Tommy Plays Golf While Other Eleven Auto Drivers Work on Their Mounts.

While Tommy Milton has been playing golf the other eleven drivers entered for the 250-mile speed meet scheduled for the Beverly Bowl Sunday afternoon have been having their troubles. Milton will start the race Sunday with his car just as it was when he was given the checkered flag at the end of ninety-three laps, seven laps from pay day, but all the other drivers have done some work on their mounts.

Jimmy Murphy went out to the speedway to do a little practice spin and he broke a piston. The damage cost Jimmy two days of hard work and it was past midnight last night before he was ready to call it a day.

Ralph Snoddy has qualified, but he is a post-entry for Sunday's event and he now has to get all the drivers to sign a waiver to allow him to start.

The race last week was free from the "crocks" that usually muss up a race course and the race fans were well pleased. Usually there are a few old wrecks running around about twenty laps behind and doing no good but endangering the other drivers. The race management was highly complimented on the elimination of all "junk" last Sunday.

The new Nash "Four" has every attribute of much higher priced automobiles except size and weight, two factors that militate against gasoline and tire economy.

Because of its light weight and short turning radius, the Nash "Four" already has won a high place in Southern California automobile circles. Its economy in "gas" and tires means much where a car is used continuously, and yet it looks and rides as well as the majority of big cars.

It is the type of car that appeals to the average motor car user.

All Nash models, both open and closed, have cord tires as standard equipment.

But Joe traveled in some rapid company in the amateur ranks and on the sandlots. He played with and against such men as Walter Johnson, George Ellis and Ted Easterly before they turned professional. He also played a few games with the writer. Not quite such fast company, and then some.

Joe was a second baseman, and at times he displayed a habit of catching tall flies close to his body. Rabbit Maranville later made this play famous as the "stomach catch" and still uses it. Burk, however, is the first player I ever saw employ it with anything like surety.

DEL MONTE IS AN EASY VICTOR.

Drury Accoladed "Autocrat of Polo Field."

BY ED O'MALLEY.

Foregone conclusion—Del Monte 6, San Mateo 3. All this in the big Midwick Country Club polo tournament yesterday afternoon before a large and enthusiastic crowd. The San Mateo malleters started in like a whirlwind and looked for a spell as if they were going to do things, but after the fifth chukker they veered into the doldrums and when last seen were beating for home under jury rigging.

Master Pedley, as was to be expected, was on the crest of attention during most of the periods. He shone with a peculiar luster in the sixth when it was a case of Pedley first, and the rest nowhere. In the early part of this chukker he had the ball fed to him out of a jam near the Del Monte goal. He got a half-hearted crack at the pill for a drive well down the field; then coming on, very much Fast Flying Virginian, he leaned on the spherical lumber for a whale of a sixty-yard loft that soared triumphantly through the enemy's conservatory.

Oh, how Del Monte sirens did bleat! But Peddy wasn't through—not by a jugfull. Wishing to rub it in, he scurried down the field just in time to be in the midst of a general scramble wherein the San Mateo boys were moving heaven and earth to keep the apricot from being rifled between their posts. Like the Artful Dodger that he is—Ped snuck under several of the enemy's ponies wiggling around the goal—brought his mallet down hard and executed one of the prettiest masse shots ever seen at the course.

The ball curved out for a few feet and then tore to the right for a goal with English enough on it to make Jake Schaefer and Willie Hoppe paw the air with envy. But enough of Pedley; there were others in the game and his name is Hugh Drury. Even though a spectator wore smoked glasses he would know that Drury was malleting up and down the field. Hughey might be accoladed—Autocrat of the Polo Field. As a polo-ist he is some great shakes.

The line-ups and goals were as follows:

Poor Scores Prevail in the Qualifying Round at San Gabriel Golf Doings.

Mediocre scores were prevelant in the medal round of San Gabriel Country Club's Invitational Golf tournament yesterday, H. B. Lamb and W. C. Davison, tying for low gross with a pair of 80's, while only twenty-seven of the 148 mashie swingers entered were able to negotiate the course under ninety. Davison and Lamb will play off their tie to decide who wins the trophy.

Dr. F. P. Young, playing with a handicap of 18, captured the hardware for low net score, turning in a gross 88, while Davison was two strokes behind. Fred Barber, the youthful expert of the Municipal links, made second low gross with an 81, and Toy, Behr, Kelly, Fertig, and Jacobs each turned in an 83 card.

TURF BOOM IN EMPIRE STATE.

ALBANY (N. Y.) March 2. New York State's racing association, in a report for 1921 submitted to the Legislature today, declared that racing of thoroughbred horses in the State continues to furnish the public "a recreation popular and wholesome."

The report said the encouragement by the public enabled racing associations to increase awards to horsemen and improve their tracks so that the State "now boasts of courses unequaled anywhere in the world."

LAME BRAIN BOYS IN SHOOT TODAY.

Members of the Lame Brain squad, an organization of some of the worst shots in Los Angeles, will compete today at the Los Angeles Gun Club traps for prizes put up by "Black Shells" Valleen. Fred Teeple, the club mogul, is donating a silver cup for the amateurs, excluding Fred Thatcher, Dad Skinner and Emil Valleen. The boys who will shoot are Cam Smith, Shorty Roesch, Fred Cady, Floyd Manges, Fane Norton, Fred Thatcher, Henry Haack, Dr. Fairfield and Dad Skinner. Bury your own dead, is their motto.

LOS ANGELES YACHT AND MOTORBOAT CLUBS MERGE

Long-Planned Consolidation of Two Organizations Becomes a Reality.

Voting on the ratification of the consolidation of the Los Angeles Yacht Club and the Los Angeles Motorboat Club unanimously, a merger in Southern California yachting activities, looked forward to for several years, was made an actual fact Wednesday night, when the officers and board of directors of the Los Angeles Yacht Club met at the City Club.

The announcement of this was made yesterday afternoon and when it became freely circulated among the members of both clubs and enthusiasts, it was received in a manner that indicates from the start that this will be another success in yachting circles in Southern Pacific waters.

The name of Los Angeles Yacht Club is to be retained by the consolidated organizations, but the headquarters will be at the splendid site of the motorboat club at Wilmington, a short distance from the new anchorage of the newly organized California Yacht Club.

Eugene Overton, commodore of the Los Angeles Yacht Club, presided over Wednesday night's meeting. Other seasoned veterans of the yachting game here that attended included Walter (Stutz) Brown, Dr. Albert Seiland, admiral of the Southern California Yachting Association, Charles Hubbell, Hubert Morrow, Dan Laubersheimer and A. Lester Best, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles Yacht Club and a real navigator. Best also is the chairman of the regatta committee of the yachting association.

Officers of the Los Angeles Yacht Club this year are Eugene Overton, commodore; Morgan Adams, vice-commodore; Howard Wright, rear-commodore, and A. L. Best, secretary.

The board of directors of the consolidated clubs will be increased, equalizing the representatives from both. This board when completed will appoint the officers for the 1922 season.

A splendid anchorage is afforded and can accommodate vessels from a half-dozen clubs. The hardship, the long climb down the rickety steps from the Yacht Club's headquarters on the San Pedro bluff, across the mud flats and thence to the anchorage at the foot of Miner Fill, will be done away with.

ELEVENS TO RESUME CUP PLAY.

Semifinals in the Spalding perpetual soccer trophy will be played at Maier Park, Vernon, Sunday afternoon. Starting at 1 p.m. Long Beach Unitedes and Overseas will fight it out for supremacy, while in the second game, timed for 3 p.m., L. A. Unitedes and Pasadena will clash.

That the entry to the finals is going to be hard to make is the general opinion among followers of the game. Dashing, thrilling soccer, with victory won by the narrowest of margins is the forecast.

Overseas, who drew a bye in the preliminary round, will enter the race Sunday against a team full of confidence by virtue of their victory over the Sons of St. George last week. The beach men, however, were robbed of some of the sweets of that victory, considering that they faced a greatly weakened team. Influenza had played havoc with the Sons line-up.

Sunday afternoon, barring the unexpected, the situation will be different. The veterans will take the field a fresh, eager and confident side. In line with the policy of other teams they have bolstered up their line, and it is no secret they intend to set the pace from the kick-off.

Youngsters Occupy Main Roost in Initial Workout.

KILLEFER ALLOWS VETS TO WATCH KIDS WORK.

Entire Crew Forced to Take Daily Hike Through Hills of Lake District.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ELSINORE, March 2.—Rookies occupied the main roost today in the first 1922 workout of the Los Angeles baseball team. Radiant Red Killefer, his brilliant dome resplendent in the new spring sun, allowed the veterans for the most part to dillydally around the edge of the diamond rather indolently, and they put on some of the best dillydallying ever seen in these parts. Some only dillied and others only dallied, but on the whole it was a well-balanced performance.

However, youth and age alike, were forced at the end of a two-hour workout in the morning to take the daily hike over Trouble Trail, or Bunion Boulevard, as it is sometimes known. The athletes flat-footed over the ridge in good time, and they are wild not to do it again.

YOUNGSTERS LOOK GOOD.

Killefer in the opening workout had Cook, the Honoluluan, at first base; Winterton and Church at second, Greene and Bush at third, Haas and Griffin in left, Caffey and Sliva in center and Mack in right. Not only did the Boy Scouts look well in action, but having two men in most of the positions, not much got away from them. If they will allow us to do this in the regular season, it would insure the pennant for Los Angeles. Sliva, who is a full-blooded Hawaiian, speared fly balls with as much ease and grace as though each ball had been a gob of poi hurtling through space.

Secretary Weber and Business Manager Lockhart witnessed the workout from a sunny spot in the bleachers. The gentle sun got in its deadly work, and both of them were sound asleep in ten minutes. On being rudely awakened they pronounced it the best workout that they had ever slept through, and are very optimistic over the Angel chances.

While all the broilers looked good, Red appeared to be particularly impressed with the actions of Greene and Beck.

BRING FAMILIES.

Lefty Thomas and Red Baldwin have adopted the bungalow philosophy of life. Having their families with them, they are bivouacked in a hillside cottage, from which they can slide down onto the diamond each morning. It is easier for them to leave their happy home than to get back again.

Mack, who practiced in right field, is a player of some experience. He was with the Cincinnati Reds two years ago, and while that is not necessarily a recommendation, he is regarded as a man of acumen and judgment for getting away from that town.

Not much has been heard concerning Herbert Hall, the new large right-hander. That is because the club stepped out and bought him without announcing the fact through a megaphone. Two years ago, Hall was leading pitcher of the Kansas City club. But in a moment of passion he hauled off and landed on the nose of the club secretary, and as a result has been out of baseball for two years. The echo of that whack on the beezer died out only a week ago, and with the echo no longer hanging accusingly in the air, he was reinstated. The blow really was a benefit to the Kansas City secretary, as his nose had top fine a point, and the punch flattened it out some, improving his appearance. But the secretary proved unappreciative, and Hall was suspended.

TAKES NO CHANCES.

He vows never to punch another club secretary, but Boots Weber, who is satisfied with the present lines of his beak, is taking no chances, and will wear a rubber nose guard about the office.

Speaking of beaks, the pelicans are again here in force. All day one large pelican circled around the lake alone, plaintively giving off a call which sounded like "Rollie, Rollie." It seemed lonesome, and apparently had lost its mate. Inhabitants of Elsinore say that never before have they heard a pelican give off a sound just like that. Its tones are almost human, and it presents an interesting case for those who believe in reincarnation, or use Carnation condensed milk.

Sliva, our Hawaiian, speaks perfect English, which is something a lot of us can't do. For a Hawaiian to order French fried Irish potatoes in perfect English is the highest degree of culture. Which reminds us that after the armistice went into effect, Belgian shopkeepers in the channel towns hung out a sign as follows, to-wit: "We speak Enelish, and can understand American." So much for the distinct language of this continent.

Things have changed greatly here since last spring. Malcolm P. Sutherland, restaurateur de luxe, has closed up his gilded grub garage, and for several months has been riding the hurricane deck of the town ice wagon. We will tell the world that Malcolm picked out the right time to go into the ice business. About midsummer we expect to find him trading his ice business for a coal yard. Mrs. McSwaine has disposed of her ice cream business. After her Coca-Cola tank blew up the fifth time she decided to take no more chances, and gracefully retired into Peck street.

PETRIFIES HIM.

Hank, the station agent, goes about clothed in the same austere dignity, a bearing which always makes one feel that the White House lost something when Hank didn't run for President. Time doesn't seem to mellow Hank much. Rather, it seems to petrify him.

Much local interest is being manifested in the hazard pocket billiard tournament at Leonard Hudson's poolroom, which is being put on by Frank Wilkins. For three weeks, Mr. Hudson did a large business. Nightly his palatial emporium was filled with choice trying to locate the corner pocket in their native tongue. They were members of a railroad construction gang. The railroad here has been putting in heavier rails. Recently the train brought down three passengers, instead of the customary two, and the company at once decided it must have heavier and stronger rails to handle the growing traffic. Sporting blood courses hotly through the pensive peon, and the gang gave Mr. Hudson's place a strong play every night. For three weeks the poolroom looked like a young Mexican revolution. Then the gang moved out of town, leaving Mr Hudson only a faint aroma of garlic and no business. Happily Mr. Wilkins happened along and launched this hazard tournament. Scores to date are: Holt, 75; Coleman, 77; Barber, 75; Nelson, 42 with the LePage boys tied at 55. They stick around like glue. In hazard pool you must keep one foot on the floor at all times, which, while leaving the other foot free for kicking field goals, prevents turning hand springs.

A NEW SHOW.

TIJUANA RESULTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, March 3. — Running the five furlongs in 1:06 2-5, the fastest time of the present meeting, Sunnyland from the Bronx stable and ridden by Jockey E. Fator, won the fifth and feature race of today's card at Tijuana. Sunnyland, an imported horse, ran in magnificent fashion, coming from fourth place at the three-quarters to catch the fleeing Sam Reh and win by one length. San Reh, running in his best form, hung on gamely for the place. Motor Cop, running four lengths in the rear of Sam Rah, managed to get the show.

The results:

First race, four furlongs—Faber, won; Dick Gavin, second; Miss Edna, third. Time, :48 4-5.

Second race, five and one-half furlongs—Jim Ingland, won; Sam Reh, second; McAtee Cop, third. Time, 1:08 2-5.

Third race, five furlongs—Walter Whittaker, won; J. D. Sugg, second; Little Jake, third. Time, 1:02 4-5.

Fourth race, five furlongs—Clear Lake, won; Lobella, second; Limerick, third. Time, 1:02 3-5.

Fifth race, five and one-half furlongs—Ingland, won; Sam Reh, second; McAtee Cop, third. Time, 1:08 2-5.

Sixth race, five furlongs—Sister Buda, won; May Merkley, second; Pirone Ward, third. Time, 1:01 2-5.

Seventh race, one mile and one-sixteenth—Bow Wing, won; Pendelton, second; Buckhand, third. Time, 1:50 1-5.

Eighth race—One mile and seventy yards—Rosenville, won; Weisland, second; Early Morn, third. Time, 1:47 2-5.

FARRELL MEETS BURNS TONIGHT AT HOLLYWOOD

Johnny Burns.

Marty Farrell and Johny Burns hook up tonight in the main event of the American Legion boxing festival at Hollywood in what is expected to develop into a torrid battle. Burns, who hails from Oakland, lays claim to the middleweight title of the Northwest, while Farrell is reputed to be the California champion. Tonight these high-powered mitt pushers will determine who should wear the Pacific Coast middleweight crown.

In the semi-wind-up, Jimmy Dunning and Kid (Skeeter) George will tangle for the second time. Last week these 115-pounders clashed and the former was awarded the hair-line decision after four rounds of terrific milling. Matchmaker Frank Crowley placed this duo on tonight's bill to please the many disgruntled fans who believed that a draw was the worst the Skeeter should have received.

Sailor Kramer and Sailor Constantine, two of the roughest young sea-faring battlers in the Pacific Fleet, are scheduled to battle in the feature preliminary event of the evening.

LEONARD TO KEEP DATE WITH CLINTON.

BOSTON, March 2.—The only bout that Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, has called off is the one with Charley White booked for March 17 at New York. Billy Gibson, his manager, said in a telegram received here today. Leonard is matched to meet Johnny Clinton here on March 20 at an Elks' carnival and Gibson's statement was in reply to a query whether that bout would be canceled. Leonard was reported last night from New York to be suffering from an injury to his right hand that might keep him out of the ring for six weeks.

KENWORTHY GIVEN PERMIT TO TRAIN.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—An order from Kenesaw M. Landis authorizing William Kenworthy to train with the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League pending a settlement of the question of Kenworthy's status was received today by President William H. McCarthy, of the Pacific Coast League.

Kenworthy recently was suspended from organized baseball because he had an agreement with the Portland team which Commissioner Landis held might contravene baseball law.

SEVENTEEN AUTOS STOLEN IN CITY.

Buick 1917 roadster, 386235, Hudson 1918 speedster 494188, Chandler 1920 dispatch 420824, Dodge 1921 touring 4309656, Ford 1917 touring 386718, Chandler 1921 dispatch 707837, Chandler 1921 touring 494409, Ford 1918 roadster 7640, Dodge 1916 touring 409019, Chevrolet 1922 touring 806600, Buick 1920 touring 305668, Oakland 1920 sport 428269, Chandler touring 402287, Overland 1916 touring 676540, Hudson 1919 touring 3307754, Buick 1920 roadster 420775, and Studebaker 1920 touring 973153.

Any one seeing any of these cars will please notify the auto theft bureau of the Auto Club of Southern California or police headquarters.

HOLLYWOOD MERMEN VANQUISH TOILERS.

In a water polo game at the Los Angeles Athletic Club yesterday afternoon, Hollywood High School defeated Manual, 8 to 1. The score at half-time was 5 to 1. After the downfall of the Artisans, L. A. High took a trimming at the hands of Pasadena High, the score being 6 to 0.

BABY GAR SETS A NEW RECORD.

MIAMI (Fla.) March 2.—G. A. Wood of Detroit, drove his express cruiser, Baby Gar, to a new world's record in the first fifty-mile heat of the Fisher-Allison trophy race today, tearing through the last lap at 46.3 miles an hour. This lowers his former record, made with the same craft at Detroit last year, of 44.6 miles an hour. The winner's time for the fifty-mile heat was 1h. 23m. 14s.

PREP TRACKMEN MINGLE TODAY.

Hollywood Gang Jaunts to Manual Arts.

Poly Team Invades Long Beach Oval.

The prep track season bursts forth in all its pristine splendor today with six teams of the City League mingling in mortal combat on various ovals. Lincoln entertains Los Angeles High up on the hill, Hollywood journeys to Manual Arts and Poly will enjoy the fresh air and the oil wells at Long Beach.

Lincoln is regarded as a cinch to mangle the Pioneers beyond hope of recognition by their own principal. Tommy Davis has just about as mean a bunch of cinder diggers as he had last year, and that's saying a whole lot. Stapler and Norman in the sprints, Sencerbox in the leaps and numerous other demons are on tap. Chief interest will center in the efforts of young Mr. Green of L. A., to nose out Lincoln's colored wonders in the short dashes. Green isn't quite as rapid as the dusky boys, but when he gets under way he stays with it, and is expected to give 'em a thrill in the furlong.

Young Mr. Thomas of Manual Arts is going to get a first-class workout when he tangles with Akroyd of Hollywood, in the distance runs. Thomas last year got down perilously close to two minutes in the half and paced off a mean mile. Akroyd is regarded as the most dangerous competitor Thomas has aside from Dad Skinner's long-winded experts from Polytechnic.

The Poly aggregation meets the mystery outfit of the south at Long Beach. Just what they have down under the shadow of the oil wells nobody knows, but they suspect a whole lot, as Long Beach doesn't turn out punk teams in any branch of sport.

PERSONALITIES OF THE SOUTHLAND GOLF LINKS.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Larry Semon, the comedian, is ill with the flu, but intends improving his more or less shining hours. He has bought a dozen fearsome works of literature on golf. He sent out an S.O.S. call for titles and bought everything anybody suggested. What won't he know about golf when he is well? And when he starts to apply his hard-culled knowledge we can only hope the cameraman will be on hand to record the masterly transition from theory to practice.

Thomas McCall has undertaken that mighty labor of love entailed in transforming the Brentwood course into an all-grass course and bringing it up to the modern California standard.

But not alone as a golfer is Thomas McCall famous. He has six daughters, and five of them are well and happily married. That is a record that few of the most efficient mamas could beat.

Should financial embarrassment ever beset Mr. McCall, he has a glamorful and prosperous career as a chaperone before him.

When the golf scribe becomes weary of recording the feats of the same old champions, the Macbeths and the Armstrongs, and the Hunters, et al., he is apt to dwell hopefully on the performances of young Mr. Frederick La Bloode. The quidnuncs who have seen him play at the Los Angeles Country Club between sessions at Berkeley, speak rapturously of his form, his style, his skill, his opportunities and possibilities. He is only 24, but he has all the appurtenances that go with golf eclat—wealth, leisure, grace, good sportsmanship and all-round ability. He is down to four handicap already, and the predictions are that this will be reduced to scratch o'er many moons have waned.

There is a rumor, too, that he "has cast a favorable eye" upon one of the most charming little lady champions—which promises a golf romance de luxe, always providing she reciprocates that favorable eye.

With Norman Macbeth at the Wilshire Country Club, with Charles E. Orr as manager, and with E. S. Armstrong playing there more frequently than anywhere else, Wilshire is maintaining her reputation for golf sanctity and exclusiveness. So many of the haughty "old guard" have migrated thither, so any club that wishes to be in on the laurels must start "raising its own." Hence most of the other clubs are paying particular attention to promising tyros just now and it is going to be a great season for the golf ingenues and the "juvenile leads."

L. A. HIGH SQUAD AFTER COASTERS.

Baseball negotiations between the Los Angeles High nine and the various coast practice teams have been begun by Coach Whittle of the Pioneers. He expects to see the season's program pretty well stacked up. One team to be played next week is from the U.S.S. Mercy. If this match is on, it will be one of the most memorable practice games of the season.

ELDER TO GIVE CUE EXHIBITION HERE.

Frank Elder, western pocket billiard expert, will give an exhibition of trick and fancy shooting at Mathes Brunswick pocket billiard parlor, 410½ South Spring street, starting on Monday afternoon. Elder is open to meet all local players in 125-point billiard games.

MERCURY QUINTET GOES EAST.

Los Angeles Athletic Club Basketball Team Off to National Tourney.

Members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball team were given a great send-off yesterday morning, when they pulled out of the Arcade depot aboard one of the S. P. rattlers, bound for Kansas City, where will be staged the national tournament next Monday.

Only six members of the Mercury squad went East, as three of the other stars, Slaughter, Olney and Carroll were unable to accompany the team. Wilson, Gold, Reynolds, Schaumer and Laswell are the wearers of the winged foot who will defend the honor of the local club in the Middlewest tournament.

Laswell, Gold and Schaumer will leave Kansas City in time to participate in the national handball tournament, which is scheduled to open in Milwaukee on March 20, according to announcement by Athletic Director Charley Keppen.

GEORGIA MARKS TO BATTLE ON MARCH 10.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—To precede the match between Tom Gibbons and Harry Greb Friday night, March 10, in Madison Square Garden, Matchmaker Flournoy has arranged a card of three eight-round bouts. Clonie Tait, the Canadian lightweight champion, is to face Joe Welling; George Marks, the California bantamweight, will meet Abe Goldstein, and Luke Tenner of Scranton, Pa., and Al Wagner of Philadelphia, two feathers, will wind up the show.

ZIMMER IS DEAD,

GLOVERSVILLE (N. Y.) March 2.—Francis B. Zimmer, 69, nationally known dog fancier and breeder of beagle hounds and for many years a judge at dog shows, died at his home here last night.

Redlands Team Here Tomorrow for Big Meet.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, March 2.—The University of Redlands will send about twenty-two men to Los Angeles Saturday for the track meet with the University of Southern California. Coach Daniels is planning to place two to three men in every event on the card.

He will probably use Bob Allen, Gordon Cram and Lloyd Yount in the 100-yard dash. Cram, Allen and E. Hyde will run the 220 for the Bulldogs, according to the present plans. Lloyd Yount, Kenny Knights and Ralph Simpson will be the Redlands entries in the 440-yard dash.

In the high hurdles Allen, Kubias and Strang will work while Kubias, Strang and K. Hyde will run the low hurdles. Redlands will enter Loper, Simpson, Kubias, Allen and Cram in the broad jump, while Simpson, Kubias and Huffman will high jump for Redlands.

In the weights the Bulldogs will have Cook, Cram, Allec and Penny, while Hyde and Bradstreet will pole vault.

—you'll see these snappy, comfortable, smart-looking shoes wherever you see live, alert young men—in offices, clubs, on the street, at parties, theaters, in the cafes.
These "Black Beauties" are enjoying a wonderful popularity. There are many reasons why—they are as soft and "comfy" as an old glove, are very swagger and are wonderful values at $6.50—most stores sell them for $8.50, and more.
We have 'em in two styles—plains and "punched" models, with toe-caps. The plain ones have flexible soles. Both styles may be had in either patent leather or "gunmetal" calfskin.

derived his political sagacity honestly, and whatever else has come to him is the result of study and hard work. No county convention, Republican, was complete without the striking figure of his father, Maj. Burk. Maj. Burk was as much of a delegate to all conventions as most of us living outside the city are commuters. And regular! He was regular enough to make such regulars as Walter Parker, Col. Woodruff, L. M. Baldwin and Luther Brown look like bolters and bull mice, or whatever is the plural of moose.

Joe has two ball-playing sons—one a simon-pure amateur and the other said to be slightly tainted with professionalism.

We find Brother Burk a successful attorney. Jess W. Orendorff, former Angel catcher, tackled something to which he was a stranger and tackled so surely that he is now a motion-picture producer of growing renown.

Charley Chech has made good in the insurance business, and Kitty Brashear, they tell me, after splitting profits with Bill Brennan in their corned-beef coliseum last year, counted five times as much change as he ever derived out of baseball in a single season, whether as player or umpire.

Charley Reilly, charter third baseman and captain of the Los Angeles club, is a big business man in this city, whether measured with a tape line or judged by the dollar mark. He is so well-to do that he now occupies three residences, and this makes it troublesome when trying to get him on the phone. So many times when you try to get him he is traveling between two of the three residences. It is the old baseball instinct of jumping from one place to another.

Jimmy Byrnes, former Sacramento and Vernon catcher, later was elected to the State Legislature. However, that can hardly be called making a success of life, although interesting and unusual for a ball player.

However, the cases cited are for the most part exceptions. Whatever success these men have attained was in spite of baseball. They had something under their bonnets. Professional baseball in itself equips a man for nothing. Too often it strips him of all initiative and leaves him largely improvident. This is because seldom is any use of value made of the large amount of spare time left to the individual. And only infrequently is any use made of the valuable opportunity for observation. Despite the fact that the professional player travels much and widely doing his career, too often the only map that he really knows is the base lines. I know athletes who have been traveling the big-league circuit for years who have never visited the field of Lexington, Independence Hall, Faneuil Hall, Washington's home in Georgetown, Boston Common (the place where lies the author of that immortalism, "Home Sweet Home,") Betsy Ross's bungalow or the spot where Mrs. O'Leary's cow emitted the fatal spark with its hoof, although to do so would have meant only a short sortie from their hotel.

Bill Goodman, successful manager of a department in a large store, owes his present good position mainly to the fact that during his professional days he always found useful employment in a certain line during the winter months. In this way he was able to master the business.

From time to time he has had occasion to employ ball players during the winter in this business, but, with one or two exceptions, has not found them adaptable.

"It's a pity," said Goodman, "and more pity there is no excuse for it, especially with the night schools which are now open. Except in rare cases, the professional ball player draws good money for only a few years. And as a rule most of their season's earnings are gone at the end of each winter. Then, when they quit the game, they have hardly anything and are qualified for nothing. Two or three evenings a week at a night school would find the ball player prepared for some trade or business at the end of his career."

Good advice, which will be accepted by no less than one out of sixteen. At least not enough will accept it to leave any shortage of umpires. There always will be ex-players fitted for nothing else, but which think they can umpire, with the accent on the think.

FLASHES.

MISS NORMAND WILL RESUME "SUZANNE" MONDAY.

By Grace Kingsley.

Rain or shine, Mabel Normand proposes to be on the Sennett lot at 9 o'clock Monday morning, all hand-painted and everything, and prepared to resume work in "Suzanne," according to announcement of the Sennett studio officials made yesterday.

Miss Normand has completely recovered from her recent cold and nervous breakdown, and came to town yesterday to transact some necessary business. She is feeling quite up to her usual state of pep.

Rumors were out to the effect that Miss Normand's condition was such that it was going to be found necessary to substitute a double for her in "Suzanne," but these were strenuously denied at the studio.

"Ridiculous!" said a Sennett official yesterday. "Why, Miss Normand wouldn't let anybody double for her on a bet.

"Besides there's no necessity for it. She is entirely well again. She will continue to stay at Altadena the remainder of this week, but expects to return to her Wilshire district home Sunday night. She will probably play golf on Sunday afternoon."

Miss Normand became a golf enthusiast a year and a half ago, during the summer that she spent on a milk farm in New York. This was following an attack of la grippe and the contracting of a cold which she could not shake off until she had taken a complete rest.

"There was nothing to do at night but go to bed," said Miss Normand. "I woke up bright and early every morning. One has to do something, so I learned to play golf. And once I had succeeded in hitting the ball, I was a goner. It is ever thus with one who tries golf!"

Helen's Narrow Escape.

An accident in which Helen Ferguson, film player, and heroine of Goldwyn's "Hungry Hearts," narrowly escaped death, occurred last Wednesday morning. The young actress was overcome by the fumes from a gas radiator. Only her mother's entrance into her sleeping room saved her life.

Miss Ferguson told her mother on retiring Tuesday night, that as she expected to be up late the next night, she would not rise early. But when it came to be 9 o'clock and she heard nothing of her daughter, Mrs. Ferguson went upstairs to Helen's room. The smell of gas fumes greeted her. She called her daughter, but received no answer. Then she raised a window, and Helen revived.

On examining into the cause of the accident, it was found that the gas tap in the floor radiator had accidentally been turned slightly on, and the gas had been leaking several hours.

Miss Ferguson was ill all day Wednesday, but had recovered yesterday. In fact, she was quite up to her usual form. At any rate her Irish wit was right on tap while she was being interviewed regarding an engagement.

"Surely," said Miss Ferguson, "I shall be glad to work. I was just thinking about matching up the cut-outs from some of my old pictures, pasting them together and making myself a starring vehicle!"

Bebe Daniels Writes.

Arizona may be all right for those who like it, says Bebe Daniels, but, as for her, she must admit she prefers Los Angeles. At least, such I gather to be the case from what she writes in a recent letter. Also she says that she isn't engaged to anybody.

"I think that as an American girl, I might be allowed to pick out my own husband, and not to have one wished on me like a Turkish lady," says Bebe.

"We are now in a little wayside hotel," writes the luxurious and exotic Bebe. "Across the street is Horse Mountain and at our back door is Fish Creek Mountain.

"The Lasky company has some forty people here. The only other human beings anywhere around here are the owners of this place. It is certainly a great location for 'Val of Paradise!'

"We had a camp at Norman Flats on the very spot where 107 Mormons were massacred only about forty years ago by the Apaches. Our company was alone there, too. We lived in tents. It was mother's and my first experience of the sort. I am afraid we wouldn't make very good Arabs.

"I am sitting in the hotel office. The company has just come in and everybody is talking at once, so think I had better add the old signature and let the stage driver take this."

Yvette Guilbert Interviewed.

The fame of Mme. Yvette Guilbert is not to be allowed to die out in this country if Palma Wayne, the writer of magazine articles, has anything to say about it. And she thinks she has, inasmuch as she has just sold a story concerning her acquaintance with the remarkable portrayer of French chansons to Harper's Bazar.

Pinkerton Protests.

There's one person who doesn't need any advertising besides Lydia Pinkham. At least, that's the inference from the fact that Allan Pinkerton, head of the detective agency, has applied for an injunction to restrain the Selznick Pictures Corporation from using the name Pinkerton in a recently-produced film back in New York.

According to Pinkerton's statement, one of the captions in the photoplay reads: "Get me a Pinkerton report on that." The statement is made by a leading character who learns that his wife is associating with questionable characters at Palm Beach.

Pinkerton sets forth that this use of his name is illegal and is in violation of the Civil Rights Act, which forbids the use of the same of an individual for trade advertising purposes. He says that the use of the name Pinkerton applies to him.

Selznick's counsel in his answer stated that the name used applied to the agency and to no individual. The judge in the case has so far reserved decision.

Lester Cuneo's New One.

Lester Cuneo has just selected as his next starring vehicle for a five-reel feature to be distributed by the Western Pictures Exploitation Company an original story by Lee Mehan and Harry McCarty to be called "Double Fisted." Actual shooting will be commenced as soon as the cast can be selected.

This will be Cuneo's second starring picture since returning from service during and following the World War in the intelligence department.

Echoes from Cocoanut Grove.

It was really a thrilling moment, the other night, when Colleen Moore and John McCormick met Virginia Fox and her escort face to face. There were no casualties, however.

So Jack Conway is transferring his affections from red hair to blonde! He was busily entertaining two of the most beautiful ones the other evening, both sincere blondes, too, not the mail-order variety, viz., Claire Windsor and Edna Purviance. Of course, Bob Hunter was somewhere about, though.

These beaus from the outside world are becoming all the fashion among our prettiest picture girls. They come in all sizes and shades. Now it's May Collins who affects one. He is a well-known young business man, besides being a looker.

Of course, John Davidson is an engaged man and all that, but still one can't expect him to be a monk. Anyway, he isn't. And he does love to dance with Ruth Renick.

Some couples are getting just too monotonously faithful for anything. For instance, Billy Russell and Helen Ferguson, May McAvoy and Eddie Sutherland, Marjorie Daw and Dana Todd, Marguerite Marsh and Will Morrissey, Charlie Chaplin and Lila Lee.

Even the married couples are faithful—and to each other! Really this suspense is killing us!

Hughes Receives Praise.

If Gareth Hughes can get his hat on today, it's because he's a very modest young man. He received a letter yesterday from Sir James M. Barrie, in which the author praised him highly for his work in "Sentimental Tommy."

The author even went so far as to express a desire to see the actor in "Peter Pan." Needless to say Mr. Hughes shares the latter enthusiasm.

ARTISTIC BALLET IS LIKED AT PANTAGES.

Composed, staged and enacted by purely local talent, "The Garden of Love," oriental ballet fantasy by George Smart, continues to be a headline attraction at Pantages Theater this week.

This novel ballet was written, produced and costumed by Mr. Smart, who is well known in Los Angeles as an instructor in the dance, and as founder of the Los Angeles Art Center. The cast of dancers is made up of pupils of the Smart studios, several of whom have never before appeared in public.

During the week, a number of minor improvements have been made in the presentation of "The Garden of Love," and the many beauties which it showed at first have been welded securely into artistic unity. The enthusiasm of local theatergoers for this production has been a good indication of what its fortune is likely to be, if, as is rumored, it is taken out on the road over the Pantages Circuit in the near future.

DIES FIVE MINUTES AFTER SHE'S MOTHER.

Five minutes after the birth of a son, Mrs. Dorothy Cole Starkey, aged 25 years, wife of R. J. Starkey, merchandise manager of Seymour's Broadway department store, died last Wednesday morning at her home, 7636 Emelta street, Hollywood. The baby, the first child born to Mr. and Mrs. Starkey, weighs eight pounds and is well and strong.

Funeral services for Mrs. Starkey will be conducted at the Pierce chapel at 2 p.m. today. The body will be laid in a vault in Hollywood Cemetery. At the funeral chapel Earl Houk, the blind soloist, will sing.

ORPHEUS CLUB SINGS OF THE WEST.

Red blood songs, like red blood drama of the screen, have their followers and their enthusiasts, and a good 2000 persons applauded with delight the program of virile entertainment provided by the Orpheus Club last night at Philharmonic Auditorium. The concerts was as full of vibrant color as a painting by Remington, and the general impression made by the singers under Joseph Dupuy's baton was thoroughly enjoyable.

The music of the West, the same West that one sees weekly in the film drama, was explored and exploited—and one might also say exploded—in the series of frontier scenes by Arthur Chapman, with the harmony supplied by Henry Watson Ruffner. The set was, I believe, new. Its most prominent characteristic was picturesqueness. The verses related of Cow-town, Dead Man's Knoll, Cactus land, and the festival of "The Great Swear Off." It is hard to tell about these things in music, but the music of Ruffner did its best, while still making a strenuous effort to remain music.

The chorus evidenced less assurance in some of these numbers than they did in such familiar selections as "On the Road to Mandalay," or the light numbers, like a "Mountain Lay."

Aside from this lack of certainty, especially evident in the attacks of the chorus, and the strength of the phrasing, the Orpheus continues to hold its place as a singing body of excellent worth. There is freshness and fiber to the majority of the voices. The tenor section only show a tendency to waver and grow weak under severer pressure. Mr. Dupuy pays very close attention to rhymical values in music, and holds his organization firmly in hand. They have limitations as to what they can accomplish musically, but what they do accomplish within these limitations is most creditable.

Solo emoluments were for a time somewhat divided last night between Tracy Cheatham, who sang an incidental solo in "The Road to Mandalay," and Marguerite Ringo, soprano, the featured soloist of the club. Mr. Cheatham's success was chiefly popular, although he exhibits an ingratiating quality of voice, and a strong personal appeal.

The musical background of Miss Ringo's presentation was very attractive. You felt, however, that the perspective was blurred by a lack of finish in vocal art. Miss Ringo's high tones, especially showed indeterminate character, a contradiction this to the native loveliness of her middle voice.

Let me say, however, that the "Crepuscule du Soir Mystique" by Poldowski, and "Amour d'Hiver," by Andre Messager, as she gave them, were numbers of intense charm and vitality. She is an interesting singer, although not an entirely dependable one in the achieving of the decisive effects.

The accompanist for the concert was Raymond McFeeters.

"ORPHEUS" AT CALIFORNIA.

Consisting of the well known and popular overture, "Orpheus In Hades," by Jacques Offenbach, a charming love song by Charles Wakefield Cadman, and a special syncopated arrangement by himself, Carli Elinor's musical program starting next Sunday at the California Theater contains the three different types of selections so necessary to be generally appealing. Cadman's "At Dawing" has been especially arranged to allow the viola, English horn and violin to handle the solo melody individually, featuring three popular members of the California Theater orchestra, as soloists. Responding to a desire to present something entirely new and original in syncopated offerings, Mr. Elinor has complied what he calls his "Impressions of Havana" which will include Spanish fox trot melodies and tangos, all intended to impart the jazzy spirit of Havana today.

RADIOS.

GOLDWYN COMPANY TO FILM "THE CHRISTIAN" ABROAD.

By Edwin Schallert.

Apparently the trick of going abroad for actual settings is to be supplemented with the idea of doing the same thing to locate the author, in the instance of Hall Caine's novel, "The Christian," which is to be filmed by Goldwyn. When "the mountain will not come to Mahomet, why—" Or some such like.

At least, the Goldwyn organization has on foot the novel project of traveling to England to film the Caine story. They are to leave in April, according to announcement made yesterday by Abraham Lehr, vice-president of the company.

Most of the staff and the cast will be engaged in America. One of the prominent directors will be obtained for the feature, J. J. Cohen, studio production manager, will go along as business manager.

It is a fact that Sir Hall Caine will personally assist in the production. What is more, he is going to give a great deal of his time to it. He himself made a scenario from the novel, though the actual continuity was done by J. G. Hawks.

The story lends itself to spectacular and dramatic treatment on the screen. The race course at Epsom Downs, mob scenes in London streets and places of historic interest will be photographed.

The studio officials believe that the time is particularly opportune for the filming of "The Christian," inasmuch as the World War aroused an intense interest in spiritual progress. The story tells of the struggle of a man to live the life of Christ under modern conditions. This idea is found in several recent notable literary works, showing the present interest in the theme.

"The Christian" was filmed in the early days of the cinema by Vitagraph, with Earl Williams and Edith Storey in the leading roles. With the tremendous advance that has been made in lighting, photography and direction, it is believed that much finer effects will be achieved.

HERBERT TO RETURN FOR PICTURE FROLIC.

Rearrangement of Victor Herbert's tour so that he will pay a flying visit to Los Angeles to attend the Wampas Frolic April 15 at the Ambassador Hotel, was announced yesterday by the Wampas organization. In a telegram to Harry Wilson, chairman of the entertainment committee for the affair, the composer announced that not only would he direct some of the music to which the film "celebs" are to dance, but that he will add another surprise.

"If sufficient rehearsals are possible in so short a time I will attempt to play my newest dance selection, as yet unnamed and never played in public," wired Mr. Herbert. "Suppose we call it the 'Wampas Wobble.'"

The Wampas is the abbreviation for the name of the Western Motion Picture Advertisers' organization. The purpose of the ball is a double one, to provide a nucleus for a building fund and to establish the "revue" as an institution in the film colony. It is hoped that this will become a permanent annual affair.

Philharmonic Today.

The regular afternoon symphony concert will be given today by the Philharmonic Orchestra, under the baton of Walter Henry Rothwell, at Philharmonic Auditorium. The program will offer as novelty Debussy's "Iberia," a work which is new to audiences here.

The symphony will be Schubert's "Unfinished," played as an anniversary tribute to the composer.

Sophie Braslau of the Metropolitan Opera, will be heard as soloist in song and opera numbers.

Symphony at Grauman's

Another symphonic presentation is to be given by the Grauman Theater Orchestra Sunday morning. The work which has been selected by Conductor Mischa Guterson is the "Eroica" symphony of Beethoven. This will be played by a somewhat enlarged ensemble.

At intervals during the past eight months the Grauman orchestra has departed from the routine of popular concerts by presenting a symphony. The move has met with much success, and has attracted, as a rule, a large musical attendance.

Theater Anniversary.

A special anniversary program will be presented next week at the Symphony Theater. The bill will feature the pictures of the "Borneo Jungle Adevtures of Martin Johnson, who has just returned from explorations in a difficult and virtually unknown region of the world, made in the interest of the films.

On the same program will show the comedy, "Bright Eyes," in which Ben Turpin has the star role.

Another installment of the Fox special, "Face to Face With Japan," will be screened.

No Merger.

An emphatic denial of a proposed merger of the Metro exchanges and those of Famous Players-Lasky was entered yesterday by B. F. Rosenberg, manager of the local exchange for Metro. He stated that arrangements which he had lately been authorized to make with reference to the future conduct of the local exchange, in addition to other information, are ample proof that the rumor is without foundation.

GETS MONEY AND MAN.

Dancer Kept Funds, Says Husband; She Loved Another.

It seemed from the testimony of Lloyd Adams in Judge McLucas's court yesterday that $1000 was no inducement for his wife, Ellen Adams, to return to him. He testified that after their separation, he sent her $1000 to induce her to return. She received the money, but did not come back. She is a dancer and both were traveling with a circus. A witness testified that Mrs. Adams declared she had found some one she liked better than her husband. The court granted Mr. Adams a decree of divorce.

Blouses for the New Spring Suit

WITH consummate cleverness, the new Blouse resigns its role of star, and adroitly cooperates with skirt and wrap in achieving complete costumes of unrivalled smartness.

Whether Crepe de Chine, Canton or Georgette, whether import Blouse, Overblouse or Middy Blouse style, it finds its best expression in carrying out the costume motif.

For the Large Woman

Coulter's have provided becomingly in the way of fashionable blouses that conform to every requirement of style, and in whose lines the figure becomes slenderized to a degree.

Overblouses of white crepe de chine have collarless neck and filet vestee; or long sleeves and bright embroidering.

Overblouses of Georgette

Combining Valenciennes and filet or Irish laces, are extremely new and fetching.

The Bramley collar of Irish, or the Dutch neck with deep roll collar, combines, frequently, laces and fine embroidery.

Such blouses are designed for the tailored suit, and may be had in white or beige, at

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman

SOME GOOD HOT BREADS.

Parker House rolls: "Begin at 7 o'clock in the morning and put 1 tablespoon of butter, 1 tablespoon of sugar and a pinch of salt into 1 pint of boiling sweet milk. Make a thin batter, like for griddle cakes, by adding flour. When lukewarm, add ½ cake of compressed yeast, which has been dissolved in a very little tepid water, and let rise until noon; then add as much flour as you can stir in and let it stand and rise until 4 o'clock. Then turn out on a breadboard, but do not mould. Simply roll out about one-half inch thick, spread with warm butter, cut out with a large cookie cutter and fold each disc over. After letting rise in a pan until high and light, bake fifteen minutes in a good oven."

Milk Rolls: "1 pint sweet milk, 3 tablespoons lard, 3 cups flour (heaping,) ½ cup sugar, a pinch of salt and ½ yeast cake dissolved in ½ cup of tepid milk. Scald the milk and let it cool. Now mix together flour, lard and salt. When the milk is lukewarm add the sugar and yeast to it, then turn it into the flour mixture. Wrap the bowl in a blanket and set it near the stove, unless the weather is very warm. If mixed between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning the rolls are ready to make up by 11:30. When light, work well and cover with a cloth, then a paper; wrap again in the blanket and set once more in a warm place. Now let the mixture rise this second time until one hour before mealtime. Then turn it out onto your bread board, roll with a rolling-pin, but in rounds, put a small piece of butter in the middle of each disc, and fold over. Let rise in the pan 30 minutes, then bake 30 minutes in a good oven."

Sweet French Rolls: "1 cup milk, 1-3 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1-4 cup butter; 1 yeast cake dissolved in 1-4 cup of tepid water, ground cinnamon and bread flour. Scald the milk; let cool, and when lukewarm add the yeast cake and one and one-half cups of flour, cover and let rise till light. Then add the egg well beaten, the sugar, salt, butter, and enough more flour to knead. Let rise again, then once more turn out onto board; roll to one-half inch in thickness, brush with melted butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon mixed, roll up like a jelly-roll, cut off the end pieces one inch in thickness, and lay these in a buttered pan. Cover the pan, let rise again and bake in a moderate oven about 25 minutes."

Raisin Buns: "Scald 1 cup of sweet milk, and add at once to it 1 tablespoon of sugar and ½ teaspoon salt. Let cool and when lukewarm add 1 yeast cake, dissolved in 1-4 cup of lukewarm water, and 2½ cups of bread flour; cover and let rise till light. When risen, add 2 more tablespoons of sugar, ½ cup of melted butter, 1-4 teaspoon lemon extract and enough more flour to knead. After kneading, let rise again, and when again light turn out once more on board and roll to three-fourths of an inch thick. Cut with small, round cutter, place in a buttered pan, let rise still again, then bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes."

BUSINESS MAN DIES.

Daniel C. Shaw's Funeral Will Be Conducted Today.

Funeral services for Daniel C. Shaw, one of the founders of the National Supply Company, will be conducted today at 8:30 a.m. at his home, 1737 Orange Drive, Hollywood. Mr. Shaw died Wednesday at his home. He was born in April, 1839, in Maine, and went to Chicago with his father in 1844, the trip being made by ox team and boat, a journey of thirty days. He went to work as a printer's devil in the composing-room of the Chicago Journal, which then was run off by hand at the the rate of 250 papers an hour. Mr. Shaw later went by ox team to Salt Lake City and thence overland to San Francisco. As a member of the Thirteenth Illinois Infantry, he participated in several battles of the Civil War. After the war he went to Toledo, and became a partner in the Shaw-Kendall Company, engaging in the manufacture of oil well supplies. Later the oil well supply department of that company was merged with the Buckeye Supply Company, afterward purchased by the National Supply Company of Toledo.

ALLURING COSTUMES REVIEWED.

Thousand Invited Guests Sartorially Regaled by the Unique Fashion Show.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

About 1000 invited guests were sartorially regaled at the style review, given by the Unique, last evening.

The spacious first floor formed the promenade where were exhibited upon beautiful mannequins, the latest creations of couturiers, both American and French.

Costumes for all occasions were presented, each carefully chosen to suit the type by which it was worn.

Accompanied by the strains of a stringed orchestra, the promenade was watched by members of the social world, by famous cinema folk and by these sojourning here from far-off cities who whisperingly acknowledged the supremacy of Los Angeles in discriminating dress.

Among the costumes most notable were: The Spirit of Seventy Six, a full-skirted gown of metallic Chinese brocade in Mandarin reds, greens and yellows, the skirt set round with roses formed from silver metallic lace and the girdle silver ribbon lilies hanging from long stems. A pastel tinted colonial, of taffeta, striped 'round and 'round, the bodice piped, with sex-tuple cording, from which the waist engridleture was formed. An afternoon dress featured the new dyed lace, a deep beige filet mesh, embroidered in heavy silken braid. The backless evening gown attracted breathless comment. There were capes of many materials, some clinging closely by the grace of their filmy fabrics, others flaring widely. A platinum gray crepe came fully to the skirt's hem and was wrought over with cut-steel beads and lined with self-colored chiffon. A hand-beaded evening dress of finest net blossomed in colors of the shaded iris; another might have robbed the orchid of its purple flame. Sportswear in the most approved of knitted weaves, walked shoulder to shoulder with that of crepe and other rough-surfaced silks.

To the initiated, the most striking fact of the entire exhibition was written on the price marks. The figures there showed startling reductions even in imported costumes. The fact is explainable by the lessening in the cost of materials and by the favorable exchange rate between America and France. Fully one-third, and in some instances one-half, less than in any year within remembrance are the price marks upon those lovely gowns. To few, if any, will this detract from their allure.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 123—To Fool a Smart Spectator.

Challenge a smart spectator to lay his hands flat on the table, while you stand a glass of water on the back of each hand. Tell him that he cannot do it without the water vibrating.

When the glasses are on his hands, leave him there, and go on with another trick. He cannot move his hands without tipping the glasses, which will wet the tablecloth. He will soon call for assistance, after which you remove the glasses from his hands, and everyone enjoys a good laugh.

The Daily Fun Hour.

BY HONOR WALSH.

Bonnie Blackbird.

This old dancing game may be traced back to the Jacobite wars. So many changes have been introduced that the only remaining trace of the vanished Stuarts is to be found in the romantic term "Blackbird"—(the secret name for the King-in-exile)—and in the first two lines of the version here given, which is chanted by the players dancing around the Blackbird player in the center:

Dutch William's not King James' son;
Choose the one you love best;
If he's not to take your part,
Choose another with all your heart!

Here all pause, while the Blackbird selects a partner from the circle. These two dance up to another two, who dance to meet them; all four swing into center, and dance eight slide-steps around to the following ancient and now rather meaningless chant, bending their knees at the first line:

Where the grass grows fresh and green,
Bottle of wine to make you shine,
I am yours, and you are mine.

Then the four skip to the ring-side, the first two joining the circle, while all raise hands and chant:

Open your gates as wide as high,
And let the Bonnie Blackbirds by;
One in a bush, two in a bush—Ee, Oh, I!

The second pair then dance up to another two, as described and leave them in center at end of dance. This two-by-two continues until all the players have been Bonnie Blackbirds.

GOES WILD, THEN HOWLS AND SHOOTS

Policeman is Dismissed After Arrest on Charge of Being Intoxicated.

"I'm a wild, wild man and it's my night to howl."

Thus spoke Emergency Patrolman James E. O'Neill early yesterday morning after he had crowded George Wilson of 1409 South Main street into a corner at Eighth and Spring streets.

"I feel like dancing and you are going to dance with me," shouted the police officer to Wilson.

"Well how does this make you feel?" demanded the police officer as he drew his service revolver and opened fire at Wilson's feet.

Wilson danced.

Next, Patrolman O'Neill encountered Police Sergeant Walter Barr and Police Lieutenant Ferns. The two officers couldn't see the joke and Patrolman O'Neill, following a struggle, landed in the City Jail, charged with intoxication.

Yesterday morning O'Neill was stripped of his badge and uniform by Assistant Chief Heath, and dismissed from the force.

Badly Burned in Explosion of Sewer Gas.

An explosion of sewer gas at Pico street and Gramercy Place yesterday sent a Mexican laborer to the Receiving Hospital suffering from severe burns.

Presidano Rodrero, 30 years of age, of 312 Anderson street, while working in a ditch at Pico street and Gramercy Place, dropped a lighted match into an open sewer. The sewer gas exploded and threw the man twenty feet. He was treated for burns on the face, arms and body.

Albert Balsz, 4 years of age, of 127 South Chicago street, was seriously burned when his clothing caught fire while the child was playing with matches. At the Receiving Hospital the little fellow was treated for burns on the body, neck and face.

Try to Settle Lost-Love Suit Out of Court.

When the $25,000 lost-love suit of Richard Ellis against Ray E. Duff was called for trial in Judge Toland's court yesterday, it was stated that there is a prospect of the case being settled out of court. The case thereupon was stricken from the calendar to be reset if the prospective settlement fails.

Mr. Ellis declared in his action that the defendant stole his bride in the spring of 1920. He asserts that Mr. Duff gave Mrs. Ellis gifts, took her on automobile rides and to cafes and the theater. Mr. Duff made a general denial of the charges. He denied that Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were living happily together or that any act of his own deprived Mr. Ellis of Mrs. Ellis's affections.

WAR RELIEF WORKER RETURNS TO FRANCE.

ANGELENO WILL RESUME LABORS IN DEVASTATED REGION OF EUROPE.

L. N. Brunswig left yesterday for an extended trip abroad, culminating in France, where he will resume his work of 1919 in the "Regions Liberees" (devastated regions of France)—in Flanders, the Somme, the Argonne, and other districts devastated by the war. Part of his work will be to collaborate with the American Memorial Hospital at Rheims, the only hospital actually functioning in that region.

While in Paris he plans to attend the international meeting of the directing factors of the Maisons Claires, or "Sunshine Houses," for French tubercular war orphans, of which Mr. Brunswig is the leader in the United States.

He will also represent this country at the annual assembly of the Fraternite Franco-Americaine, which takes care of the waifs of the war inherited from the Fatherless Children of France Society in the United States.

WOULD KILL EVIDENCE.

Obenchain Defense to Move Burch References Be Stricken Out.

Attorneys for Mrs. Madalyne C. Obenchain, accused of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, today will ask Judge Reeve that all evidence about the activities of Arthur C. Burch, co-defendant, be stricken from the court records of the case. Should the motion be granted, Mrs. Obenchain's freedom is virtually assured, it is said.

It is the contention of the defense that no collusion between Burch and Mrs. Obenchain has been shown.

The motion, of course, will be opposed by Dept. Dist.-Attys. Keyes and Fricke. They will present the State's case and endeavor to show that a perfect case has been constructed against the defendant.

There was no hearing in the case yesterday.

Here's a new kind of pie—

Maple pie—doesn't it make your mouth water just to think of it?

But try it—just as the recipe says—with Log Cabin Syrup.

For the choicest maple sugars from trees in Canada and Vermont are blended together for Log Cabin—the real sugars of maple in which the flavor is most intense. And this is combined with just enough pure sugar of cane—nothing else—to give Log Cabin the most delicate, most mellow maple flavor.

Log Cabin Maple Pie

Mix 2 tablespoons cornstarch with 3 tablespoons sugar and add 1 cup Log Cabin Syrup; heat to boiling and add 1 cup milk. Boil 2 minutes. Pour the mixture slowly over 2 slightly beaten egg yolks and continue cooking 1 minute. Fill a baked pie shell with the maple filling and cover with a meringue made by adding 2 tablespoons sugar to 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Brown quickly in a hot oven.

UNION EFFORTS ARE LAID BARE.

Brotherhood Officers Tell Old Campaign Plan.

Pacific Electric Men Were to be Corraled.

Proposed to Rush Into the Organization.

The case of the Pacific Electric against M. E. Montgomery, assistant chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; J. L. Farquarson, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and a number of others connected with these organizations, to make permanent the preliminary injunction issued by U. S. District Judge Bledsoe, restraining the defendants from conducting a strike among the employees of the road, is now in the throes of a legal argument before Judge Rudkin.

The high spot of yesterday's proceedings was the examination of Mr. Farquarson, who has been vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen since 1912. Mr. Farquarson admitted that great haste was employed by the organizers to get employees of the Pacific Electric to become members of the organizations represented by Mr. Montgomery and himself, even without a medical examination; that a dispensation by President W. G. Lee had brought this about; that Mr. Montgomery and himself had assisted in the preparation of the strike calls taken June 29, 1918, but he denied that the officers of his organization had never advised a strike unless all methods of settlement availed nothing.

Mr. Farquarson made the assertion that if President Paul Shoup of the Pacific Electric had been a bit more diplomatic, a strike might have been avoided. He declared that both Mr. Montgomery and himself had advised against a strike. He denied that there had been anybody admitted to the Burbank Hall meetings just previous to the strike, except members of the two organizations, and gave in some detail the action of the strike committee, which voted that the whole matter be presented to the War Labor Board by Montgomery and himself. The cross-examination was short, but searching.

SECOND VISIT HERE.

Mr. Farquarson testified that he was on his first visit to Los Angeles in May, 1911, to straighten out some of the troubles of the men on the Santa Fe and Salt Lake lines. In June, 1918, he stated, he was sent here by President W. G. Lee to assist the Pacific Electric employees who were objecting to wages and conditions.

Mr. Farquarson said the strike in 1918 had been called off about midnight July 2, and that the men presented themselves the next day for work to the Pacific Electric. They were told that their places had been filled, but later on, at the request of Judge Bledsoe, the men generally returned to work. On July 10, 1918, at a joint committee meeting held at the Rosslyn Hotel, the strike was declared off, the witness stated. He testified that the strike vote taken on June 29, 1918, resulted, for the strike, 692; against, 12, and all these ballots were cast by employees of the Pacific Electric.

DENIES STRIKE PLAN.

The cross-examination of Mr. Montgomery was short. He said he had come to Los Angeles in 1918 at the request of employees of the Pacific Electric, who were complaining of the alleged indiscriminate discharge of men and bad working conditions which they asserted ought to be investigated. Montgomery stated there was no intention to start another strike if the temporary restraining order was dissolved.

Oscar Lawler, counsel for the Pacific Electric, made a strong address, asserting that the organizing of the employees of the line meant the disorganization of the road, making its independent management impossible. Montgomery, Farquarson, Miller, Clark and others, he said, were engaged in trying to accomplish this. There could be no bargaining legally except by agreement of all parties, and the friendly relations that had always existed between the employees of the Pacific Electric and the management were of great benefit to both. For the employees to look after their own interests was one thing, to have outside workers come here without excuse and try to enforce their conditions of industrial peace was quite another.

The strike is still on, Mr. Lawler said, and if the pending injunction is dissolved, the work of unionizing the Pacific Electric will be resumed. He stated that one of the defendants, Montgomery, had been approached outside the door of the courtroom since the beginning of the hearing, and was asked what might happen if the injunction was dissolved, and the speaker said that Montgomery told the questioner that he must "wait and see."

FINISH ARGUMENTS.

Clifford Thomas addressed the court in behalf of the defendants. He asserted that the strike was favored only by the employees of the Pacific Electric, and not by Messrs. Montgomery, Farquarson and others. The visitors had come to Los Angeles to seek redress for asserted wrongs suffered at the hands of the management of the Pacific Electric.

The arguments will be completed today by Albert E. Sherman on the part of the defendants, and Robert C. Gertner for the plaintiffs. Judge Rudkin will not render an opinion for at least two weeks.

Depositions Taken in Case Against Missouri Man.

Mrs. Caroline M. Williams.

WITH the taking of depositions here yesterday in the $150,000 breach-of-promise suit instituted against James Lake, zinc-mine operator of Carthage, Mo., by Mrs. Caroline M. Williams of this city, the way was cleared for the legal battle which will open in the United States District Court at Joplin, Mo., June 13.

Mrs. Williams filed suit against Mr. Lake last April. She charges that he broke his promise to marry her and took as his wife a younger woman, according to her attorney, Lynden Bowring. Mr. Lake is more than 60 years of age. He married Miss Miriam Chapelle at Kansas City, June 11 last.

Working Agreement to End Next Tuesday.

State to Assert Authority, Letter Advises City.

The State Railroad Commission, in a letter received yesterday by the Board of Public Utilities, expressed the State board's willingness to terminate next Tuesday the working agreement between the two boards entered into in 1916 for the joint and co-operative regulation of public utilities service in Los Angeles. The letter states that the commission recognizes that the city has jurisdiction in some cases, but declares that the commission's jurisdiction includes the regulation of all service matters that "are directly connected with or related to the fixing of rates," and also in cases where the public utility under consideration renders service extending to the public both within and outside of the city. The State board suggests friendly suits that "all questions of jurisdiction may be definitely and authoritatively determined by the courts."

The letter from the State board came as a result of the determination of John P. Kennedy, the newly appointed public utilities commissioner, to test the jurisdictional matter between the two boards in the courts. The State commission calls attention to the fact that the working agreement between the city and the State entered into in 1916 was based upon the belief by both State and city officials at that time that "it was more important that the commission and the city both devote their energies to securing the best possible service conditions than to quarrel about whose duty it was to do the job." The letter adds that "this opinion is also shared by the present board."

The State commissioners say that they have no apology to make for the existence of the working agreement between the city and the State boards, which the rail commissioners say "has promoted the best interests of the citizens of Los Angeles, who are dependent for service." The State commissioners firmly point out in the concluding paragraph of their letter that "in the future we shall exercise to the fullest extent such jurisdiction as we possess under the law to secure the most efficient service for the people of Los Angeles."

The State board's letter is signed by Commissioners Brundige, Loveland, Martin, Rowell and Benedict, constituting the entire membership of the board.

LOS ANGELES BUYING OFFICE IS OPENED.

Richard W. Everett and George M. Swain, several years connected with A. Hamburger & Sons, have opened a resident buying office and sample rooms in the Delta Building in South Spring street. The agency will serve merchants who are placing business in this market and those merchants who have done but little buying in this market because of their lack of information concerning it.

"Los Angeles is the New York of the Pacific Coast," Mr. Swain says, "and with over 400 apparel manufacturers doing a volume of over $50,000,000 a year it will be to the interest of every merchant throughout the States to be represented in the Los Angeles market."

RELEASED FROM WIFE.

Too Good a Time for Marriage, Is Remark Laid to Husband.

Murray E. McEwen told his wife, Dorothy McEwen, she testified in Judge McLucas's court yesterday, where she was granted a divorce, that he was having too good a time to be tied to a woman. He had left her, she asserted, when she criticised his failure to obtain employment. She said that in two years he had held a position for only three months; furthermore, he spent her money freely.

MIXED ON MOON, BUT SEES STARS

Wife Says Husband Was Strenuous Teacher of Astronomy.

The married life of Rena R. Sitko and Edward C. Sitko was just one constellation after another, according to a divorce action filed yesterday by Mrs. Sitko. Trouble started with the moon and ended by Mrs. Sitko seeing stars.

According to the complaint, which was filed by Attorney James G. Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Sitko were visiting in a city with which they were not familiar. Mrs. Sitko casually remarked that the moon did not seem to rise in the same place that it did at home. This so angered Mr. Sitko, who resented having the habits of the moon reflected upon, that he caused his wife to see stars by striking her, the complaint recites.

The next evening, having returned to their home, Mr. Sitko demanded that his wife accompany him to the yard and see where the moon actually did come up. When she stated that it was really of no consequence, the complaint stated that Mr. Sitko threatened suicide if his wife did not agree with him on the location of the lunar body's rise. They were married in 1912 and separated last April.

PORT FORT PREPARES TO FIRE BIG GUNS.

On Friday, next, and for about one week thereafter, it will behoove residents of the Los Angeles Harbor district to look after their windows and their cut glass and bric-a-brac. The big guns and mortars at Fort MacArthur will unlimber on that date for their annual spring target practice and for six or seven days concussion is expected to play havoc with all fragile things which are not properly cared for in advance.

Both the giant 14-inch disappearing guns and the batteries of 12-inch mortars will fire at the big floating targets out at sea and every officer and man at the local coast defense station will be busy. The date for the beginning of the spring practice has been advanced, it was explained at the fort, in order that it may be directed to completion by Col. Henry J. Hatch, commander of the defenses, who is under orders to leave about April 1, next, for Fortress Monroe, Va., where he is to become the president of United States Army Artillery Board.

CITY SEWER NEEDS TOLD BY GRIFFIN.

Council Studies Plan to Call Special Election to Vote on Bond Issue.

Indications that the City Council may call a special election at once to vote on the issuance of $12,800,000 in bonds for the construction of a new outfall sewer to the sea and a screening plant at Hyperion, were given yesterday afternoon following a discussion of the sewage disposal situation. City Engineer Griffin told the Councilmen that immediate action is necessary to increase the sewage facilities, and the Board of Public Works has strongly indorsed the City Engineer's recommendation. The task of preparing a bond issue to be placed on the ballot was placed in the hands of the Health and Sanitation Committee, of which Councilman Mallard is chairman, and which will report next Monday.

City Engineer Griffin said that because of the tremendous growth of the city, it would be more economical for the city to build the entire new outfall sewer at once than to issue bonds amounting to $3,500,000, as he recently suggested, for the construction of additional sewers as well as two treatment plants, as the expenditure of another $3,500,000 would be required each year to meet the city's needs. The committee is considering whether or not to call a special election at once or to place the bond issue on the ballot at the State primaries next August.

A bond issue of $12,250,000 for a new outfall sewer was defeated last June, there being 30,608 votes in favor of the issuing of the bonds while the "No" votes numbered 50,094. A two-thirds vote is required to issue the bonds.

PIONEER IS FREED IN FIRE CASE.

Malibu Rancher Enters Guilty Pleas to Two Game Law Charges.

William Newell, pioneer settler of the Malibu Mountains, where he owns 500 acres of land, as well as considerable property in Santa Monica, yesterday was acquitted by a jury in Justice Rice's court at Sawtelle of being responsible for the 10,000-acre fire on the Malibu last December.

After the acquittal on the charge of having started the huge forest fire, Mr. Newell pleaded guilty to a charge of impounding a wild fantail pigeon and was sentenced to thirty days in the County Jail, the sentence being suspended. He also pleaded guilty to removing from deer hides all evidence of sex and was fined $25 on that charge.

When the jury in the fire case, after being out fifteen minutes, returned a not-guilty verdict for Mr. Newell, a similar charge against Dan Morales, a Yaqui Indian in the employ of Mr. Newell, was dismissed. Morales then pleaded guilty to a charge of mutilating deer hides and was fined $25.

The two defendants were represented by State Senator Lyon, and the prosecution was conducted by Atty. Hutton. The arrests on the fire charge were made last month at the direction of County Forester Flintham.

AVERS HUSBAND HAD FLIRTATION

Mrs. Blumenberg Charges Threats to Kill Her.

Wife Uses Water Pitcher in Self-Defense.

Mrs. Edna H. Blumenberg, member of a prominent and wealthy Chicago family, yesterday filed suit for divorce in the Superior Court from Henry Blumenberg, Jr., borax mine magnate of Southern California and Nevada.

The complaint, filed through Attorney Fairfax Cosby, charges mental and physical cruelty, and a "violent flirtation with a waitress," so far unnamed. All of which leads Mrs. Blumenberg to ask that the court grant her $500 a month alimony pending the determination of her action, plus $500 attorney's fee, and court costs.

The Blumenbergs, who were married in Santa Ana on the last day of 1916, weathered the matrimonial sea with some degree of success, until Jan. 2, 1921, according to the complaint. It was on that date, while Mr. and Mrs. Blumenberg were in Chicago, that Mr. Blumenberg is charged in the complaint with showing the first evidences of mental cruelty to Mrs. Blumenberg. On Sept. 10, 1921, according to the wife, Mr. Blumenberg "flew into a violent rage without any cause of provocation," called the plaintiff bad names and threatened to kill her.

PROMISED TO BE GOOD.

Mrs. Blumenberg, in self-defense, the complaint recites, grasped a water pitcher and was about to throw it at her husband's head, when he promised to be good. No sooner had Mrs. Blumenberg put the pitcher down and turned her back, her complaint says, than "the defendant kicked plaintiff in the back with such force and violence that he broke his foot and was confined to his bed for a number of weeks."

Mr. Blumenberg, his wife says, is still limping, and Mrs. Blumenberg is seeking her freedom.

Mr. Blumenberg had been connected with several chemical companies here and is at the present time interested in the American Borax Company of St. Thomas, Nev., and the Union Borax Company of Daggett.

WIFE'S CHARGES.

Among the things Mrs. Blumenberg says Mr. Blumenberg did were the following.

He carried on a violent flirtation with a waitress, who happened to be a married woman. The waitress was given a diamond ring and a wrist watch, to say nothing of seventeen love letters. These were later recovered by Mrs. Blumenberg.

He carried on other various and sundry flirtations, all accompanied by gifts.

That on one occasion he set fire to a box of matches and threw it under Mrs. Blumenberg's automobile, saying, "I'll blow you up."

Mrs. Blumenberg asks that her husband be restrained from disposing of any of his property until the case is decided and asks for her share of the community property.

Woman Tells Marital Woes; Asks Divorce.

Mrs. Mary Spencer.

MRS. MARY E. SPENCER, whose fourth child was born after she filed suit for divorce from Fred L. Spencer, will testify when Judge Summerfield hears the contested case today that anything she did caused her husbank to fly into a rage. She says he referred to her parents as "d — Englishmen."

Mildred Daugherty is named as co-respondent. In a cross-complaint, Mr. Spencer, a cabinet maker, charges his wife with intoxication. The contest promises to be a bitter one. Owing to a congested calendar yesterday, Judge Summerfield was forced to continue the trial until today.

Once Mr. Spencer struck his wife, she asserts, on the hip and leg with a pancake turner. When she fainted while hanging up clothes in the yard, he wanted to know "what the — is the matter with you?" she asserts. He brought his mother to his home to live with them, and Mrs. Spencer says he would permit his mother to address her in vile language. She declares that her husband refused to sleep in any clothes except his underclothes. When she would prepare dainties for him, he would ask:

She had dismissed a previous divorce suit in order to give her husband another chance. They became reconciled, but shortly thereafter Mr. Spencer began a course of abuse toward her, she says. She is represented by Attorney J. P. Sproul.

SOCIETY NEED IS DISCIPLINE.

and restrain him. Lent is the season of springtime, and spring is the season and symbol of hope. Our young people are our most precious possessions. Let us speak to them with hope and faith, showing them we believe in them and teaching them to guard their words and their very thoughts and to do the hard things with a smile.

"This country today needs social discipline. I was struck with the remark of Judge Bledsoe, recently, when in an address at San Bernardino, he declared that 'we have the spectacle of a country trying to govern itself and apparently unable to do it.' Why is this so? Because we have no sense of social discipline. Many men of today are crying out for light wine and beer and procuring it wherever and wherever they can, without regard to the constitutional amendment forbidding the sale of such beverages. These men consider only themselves, their club or their class. They forget, or else disregard society as a whole and those laws enacted by society and which make the state possible. Such men as these endanger our democracy and if our democracy should fail, they are the ones at whose doors the responsibility would lie."

EX-OFFICER DEMANDS DAMAGES FOR ARREST

The story of a line fence and the arrest of Stephen De Costa, an ex-Army officer, who was thrust into jail one Sunday morning, is now being told in Judge Walton J. Wood's court.

The suit was brought by Mr. De Costa for false arrest. He is asking $20,000 damages from Mrs. Gertrude Ruter of Hollywood. It was stated that the defendant put up a fence between their properties, the fence composed of wire and wood. The fence, it was stated, because of its construction scratched his child and then the row was on. Mrs. Ruter had him arrested on the charge of threats to kill her. Officers put him in jail and it being Sunday, he stayed there until he could get word to members of the American Legion to have him bailed out.

Judge Wood, during the trial, criticised the wisdom of officers of the law, thrusting a man into jail on a Sunday, as the result of a neighborhood row. The trial will be resumed today.

The records show that Mr. De Costa was sued for divorce by his wife, Carolyn M. De Costa, recently.
